NEW $1.5 MILLION PLANT!

22-Acre Site Is Acquired

Weber Marking Systems Inc. has acquired 22 acres south of Arlington Heights and plans to build a $1.5 plant there.

The acreage is part of a larger parcel for which annexation and rezoning is being sought. It is between Algonquin Road and the Illinois Toll Road, south of the Golf-Algonquin intersection. Industrial development in the area has boomed in recent months.

Board Chairman Joseph Weber said his firm plans to develop the land with a structure of approximately 120,000 square feet, including 17,500 square feet of office space. Completion is expected by fall, 1966. Groundbreaking is planned in spring.

THE FIRM produces a wide variety of stenciling and marking equipment. It currently has 225 employes.

Weber Pres. C. E. Ritter said current plant and site at 215-225 E. Prospect Ave., Mount Prospect, has not proved feasible for expansion and other industrial locations in that community were not suitable for Weber's use.

"Our decision to locate in Arlington Heights was based upon our evaluation of the advantages offered. We were impressed with the respective community climate, an excellent location, protection by proper zoning, the quality labor market and excellent transportation network which is essential to industry.

"Other valuable factors, include ample desirable housing as well as educational, cultural, religious and recreational advantages for executives and employes."

VILLAGE PRES. John G. Woods welcomed Weber "to the growing list of firms who realize that locating in Arlington Heights is a wise investment. This is an encouraging response to the efforts of the village board, village manager and Arlington Heights Progress Inc. (a non-profit corporation for encouraging industries to locate in the village)."

Ritter said architectural plans are being drafted by Carl Teutsch & Associates, the same firm which designed the Littelfuse Inc. plant in Des Plaines, the new Lattof Chevrolet showroom and Jewel-Osco store, both in Arlington Heights. The Littlefuse design was cited among the top 10 industrial plants in 1964.

Functional layout of the structure will be drafted by Vince Eitzen, industrial plant planning engineer who designed the Littelfuse building.

A HEARING to annex a total of 34 acres and rezoning of the entire parcel from residential to M-1 (limited manufacturing) will be conducted by the plan commission at 8 p.m. Nov. 3. Village Mgr. L. A. Hanson said another firm is negotiating for the remaining acreage and plans to locate a plant there.

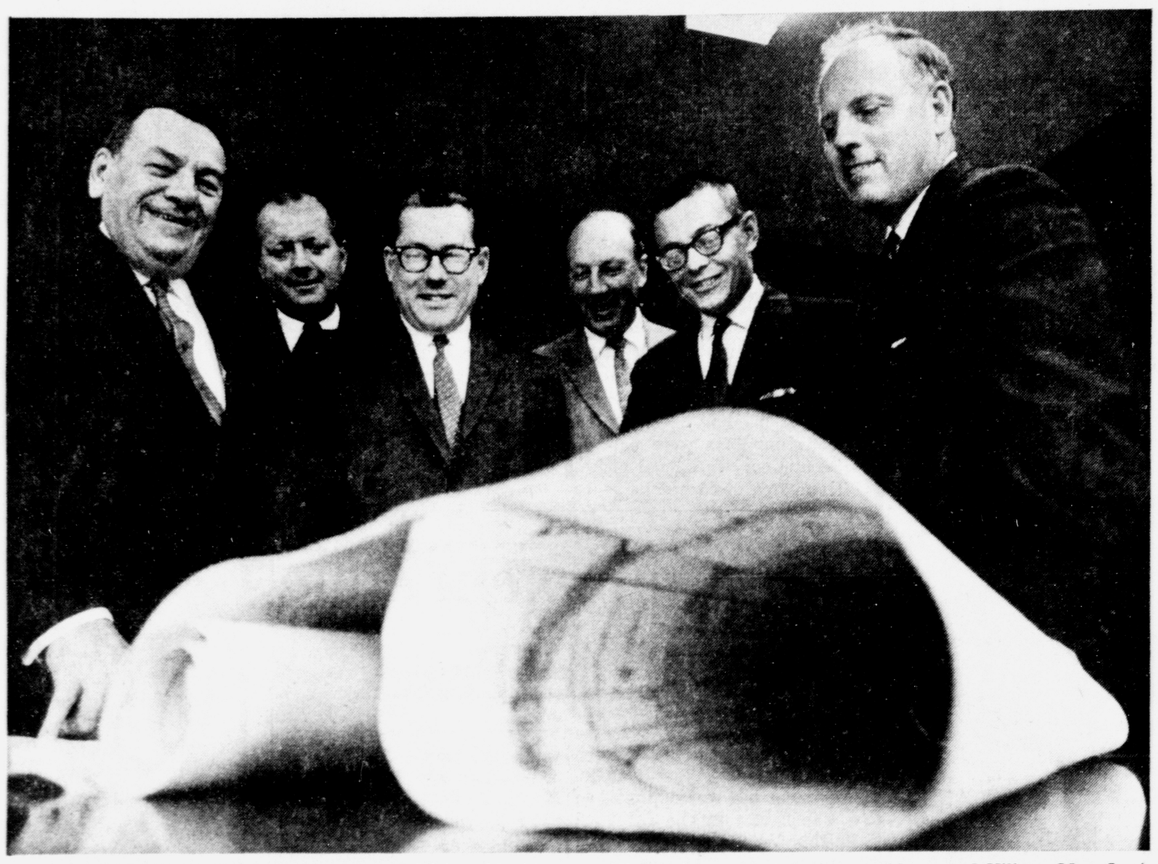
Officials have long sought light industrial, research and office facilites to bolster the village tax base. The new industrial plants, in Elk Grove Elementary School District 59, will improve the tax situation in that district as well.

—The Algonquin Road strip west of Arlington Heights Road contains the A. O. Smith Harvestore Products building, a 23,000 square foot structure housing the firm's administrative, sales and engineering-research facilities. It was built in 1962.

—Currently under construction next door is Ginn & Company's new midwest sales office, a 20,000 square foot structure. Ginn expects to move its office from Chicago to the new site around Thanksgiving. The firm manufactures textbooks.

—South of those facilities and west of the Weber site, a new plant and office building is under construction for Buhrke Tool & Engineering Co. Burhke plans to move from its Mount Prospect site to the new 25,000 square foot building in spring.

—East of Arlington Heights Road, owners of the Clearbrook Industrial Park have petitioned for approval of the planned development layout for the first portion of the 27-acre park.



PLANS FOR NEW $1.5 million home of Weber Marking Systems are examined by, from left: Joseph Weber Sr., chairman of the board; Trustee John J. Walsh Jr.; Village Pres. John G. Woods; C. E. Ritter, Weber president; Joseph Weber Jr., executive vice president, and Village Mgr. L. A. Hanson. Weber will move its Mount Prospect based operation to Arlington Heights site between Algonquin Road and Illinois Toll Road. (Staff photo)

Company Not Newcomer To Suburbs

Arlington Heights' newest industrial resident was founded in Chicago 35 years ago by Joseph Weber, now chairman of the board. It has been located in Mount Prospect for 18 years.

Originally started to service addressing and duplicating equipment, Weber has become the leading manufacturer of industrial addressing, labeling and marking equipment.

It produces marking devices, addressing equipment, label and tag printing machines, stencil cutting machines, 200 different stencil styles, equipment for dispensing stencils in roll form and for tabbing stencils onto continuous forms, 60 types of label roll forms, printing inks, laundry label printing machines, library catalog card printers and shipping room supplies.

The company has sales and service offices in 80 cities in the U. S. and Canada. It supplies firms abroad through its plants at Mount Prospect and London, England.

Compromise Found On Park Manor Plans

"Key" to settlement of the long-disputed Park Manor subdivision development has been found, Trustee John White told the Arlington Heights Village Board Monday.

White said he, Village Atty. Jack Seigel and Building Com. H. C. Best met with developer George Wallach and other Wallach representatives last Thursday and "found an acceptable compromise" on development of the single family and multiple family areas of Park Manor.

After several years of negotiations, the village and Wallach signed an agreement for development of Park Manor last January. However, subsequent disagreements have arisen over development procedures under the general agreement.

BY SUMMER'S END, Wallach threatened to cancel the agreement and sent a formal notice of cancellation to the village. Village Atty. Jack Seigel, however, indicated the cancellation had no effect on the agreement. The village board was preparing to approve a planned development for the single family portion of Park Manor, despite the cancellation, when last Thursday's meeting took place.

White said a compromise could now be reached on the whole development, including multiple family areas.

Park Manor originally was developed under county zoning and lot sizes do not meet village standards. Most of the area has never been built.

PURPOSE OF THE agreement was to stimulate a developer to acquire a number of parcels to consolidate lots into larger units. As it was being negotiated, streets and underground improvements were installed under a massive special assessment program.

Major outstanding disagreement on the multiple family area, according to White, was the lot consolidation formula to be applied if Wallach decides to develop it for single family use. White said it likely will be developed single family.

The village apparently thought it had agreed to one formula, suggested by its land planner. Developers insisted the formula they had agreed to, somewhat more liberal, was one drafted by their attorneys.

WHITE SAID village and Wallach spokesmen went over the multiple area "block by block" last Thursday to work ou an agreement on parcels Wallach does not own but conceivably might acquire. He recommended the board hold back on the single family development and "bring up this whole thing as a package."

After White's report, Trustee Roy A. Bressler, member of a special committee appointed to work out the dispute, protested "I had no previous knowledge of the meeting you're discussing."

White, head of the committee, apologized that other committee members had not been informed. He seconded Trustee Carl Mees' motion deferring action until the full committee reported.

Toys for Viets

Unwanted plastic toys are being collected for the children of South Viet Nam by the Wheeling Township Republican organizations, in response to a letter from an Arlington Heights serviceman. The letter was printed in last week's Fencepost. A story on the collection is inside today's Herald.

Crime Checklist

What can you do about crime in Arlington Heights? A 10-point citizens' checklist, called recommended reading by Police Chief L. W. Calderwood, is printed inside this week's Herald.

Bike Rider, 7, Hurt in Crash

A seven-year-old Arlington Heights boy suffered a broken leg when the bike he was riding collided with a car at 1 p.m. last Wednesday.

Paul Wickstrom, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry L. Wickstrom, 527 S. Dryden Ave., was treated at Lutheran General Hospital, Des Plaines. Police said he was leaving the driveway of his home when the collision occurred. Driver of the car was William R. Scherb, 29, 418 S. Dryden Ave.

Decline in Stolen Bikes Is Reported

Arlington Heights youngsters apparently are keeping a closer watch over their bicycles. The latest monthly statistical report of police activities indicates a continuing decline in the number of stolen bikes this year.

Twenty bikes were stolen in the four week period from Aug. 29 to Sept. 25. In a similar period last year, 36 were taken.

BIKE THEFTS to date this year total 236, a sharp drop from the 284 reported stolen at the same time last year.

Police also reported a reduction for the period in the incidents of criminal damage to property; while 23 were reported during the four-week period, 31 were reported in a similar period last year.

However, the total of such vandalism incidents this year stands at 250, a gain over last year's 223 at this date.

Police reported one home burglary during the period compared to three in the same period last year. Total for 1965 is 55; 22 had occurred at this point in 1964.

TWO COMMERCIAL burglaries were reported. None was reported in the same period last year. Yearly totals are 19 this year and 10 in 1964.

Larcenies over $50 during the four week period totaled seven, compared with eight last year. Totals for the year are 88 in 1965, 60 in 1964.

Larcenies under $50 totaled 15 for the period, with 21 having been reported in a similar period last year. For the year, 144 such larcenies have been reported, a slight decline from the 149 reported through the same period in 1964.

Post Office Lacking 14 Carriers

Mail deliveries late?

Blame a "critical" shortage of carriers at the Arlington Heights post office and its substations in Rolling Meadows and Elk Grove Village.

There are 14 vacancies in the authorized force of 130 carriers, according to Asst. Postmaster Robert J. Proebstle. Time loss is made up by assigning carriers to overtime work and giving clerks and supervisors extra duties, Proebstle said.

THOUGH THE Arlington Heights station is usually shorthanded, especially in fall when students return to college, it is far more serious this year. He attributes that partly to an increased draft cutting into the labor force and to more young men enrolling in college in order to avoid being drafted.

Because of the shortage, the post office is authorized to hire "off the street," without civil service examination, provided applicants meet safe driving and physical requirements. Pay is $2.48 an hour.

Eye Parking Curb Along State Road

More limited parking along State Road in the heart of Arlington Heights is under consideration by the village.

Village Mgr. L. A. Hanson told the board of trustees he would like to meet with the board's safety committee, headed by Trustee John J. Walsh Jr., to discuss parking along the thoroughfare.

Trustees had expressed some concern that traffic will bottleneck at the new traffic lights at Sigwalt, where there is only one traffic lane each direction. Hanson said he preferred a review of the whole street rather than one block at Sigwalt.

WALSH AND Village Pres. John G. Woods both expressed pleasure at the present speed of work at Sigwalt, where controls were lighted Monday, and at other new traffic light installations. Two weeks ago Walsh had complained the work was dragging.

A concrete lane channel on State Road, just north of the North Western Railway crossing, irked Trustee Carl Mees. One auto has run aground on the channel, installed by the state as part of Northwest Highway's improvement, and two people were injured.

Mees said it is "the most ridiculous thing I have ever seen" and asked Hanson to try to get it changed.

Project Delayed As Owners Disagree

Action on a 21-acre development east of Arlington Heights Road and north of Noyes Street has been postponed again by the Arlington Heights Village Board — this time at the request of the developers.

Atty. Edward C. Hofert, representing the owners — the Bradley family and the Santucci Construction Co. — asked either for another month's delay or leave to withdraw the petition. The board tabled it until the Dec. 6 meeting.

THE PROPOSED development includes business, apartment and single family zoning, along with a 7.5 acre site the owners plan to sell to the park district. The plan commission has rejected it.

A month ago, trustees tabled action on the petition in an apparent effort to encourage developers to alter their plan. The plan commission strongly opposed failure of the plat to include Lincoln Street's extension to Arlington Heights Road. And several trustees were skeptical of the need for apartment zoning.

Hofert told the board Monday the Bradley's now are willing to dedicate Lincoln Street in the portion they own. He said Santucci is unwilling to do so. But he added the firm is negotiating with a purchaser and "as part of the package the purchaser would dedicate Lincoln."

A postponement would allow time for a purchase agreement, Hofert indicated.

HE ADDED THE apartment zoning is a necessity to developers: "We have gone about as far as we can from an economic standpoint."

To trustees who were still skeptical of apartments, he said the location adjacent to retail shopping and a park would permit erection of "high quality buildings."

"I'm starting out against it," Trustee Jack Walsh reminded Hofert. (Walsh moved to reject the petition a month ago, before the tabling motion saved it.) "You're going to have to do a lot of convincing."

Apartment Expansion Approved

Extension of Hampton Court apartments to a triangular parcel north of the existing units was approved by the Arlington Heights Village Board Monday.

The board approved a zoning change from M1 (limited manufacturing) to R5 (multiple family), as well as a planned development layout which includes 31 units.

The 2½-acre parcel is north of Eastman Street and south of the North Western Railway tracks. Approval had been recommended by the plan commission.

AT THE REQUEST of Village Mgr. L. A. Hanson, spokesmen for McHugh Construction Co., developers, agreed to dedicate an 80-foot right-of-way for eventual extension of Walnut Street, rather than the 66 feet shown on their plats. The village board agreed not to reduce the number of units permitted on the parcel as a result of the wider street.

Approval was hinged on Village Atty. Jack Seigel's arranging guarantees that the firm will pay for the future street work.

Homeowners Set Halloween Fun

The Arlington Heights Gardens Homeowners' Association is sponsoring a Halloween parade and party for the children of the area on Oct. 31.

Parade will assemble at Cypress and Ridge Avenues at 1:30 p.m. and proceed to Dunton School.

OK Apartment Zone Near Race Track

Rezoning of one lot near the entrance to Arlington Park race track from single family to R5 apartment use was approved in a 4 to 2 vote by the Arlington Heights Village Board Monday.

Rezoning and a planned development layout for two apartment buildings was sought by Mrs. Anna Koziol, Palatine, owner of the half-acre lot facing Wilke Road. The plan commission had recommended approval in a 7 to 4 vote, with one member passing.

NEIGHBORING property owners had appeared in numbers to object at the plan commission hearing, but none appeared before the village board.

The vote came after extended discussion, with even the favorable board members terming development plans "somewhat inadequately drawn." "No" votes were cast by Trustee John J. Walsh Jr. and Trustee Roy A. Bressler. Both indicated they were not convinced of the need for R5 zoning on the lot.

Each of the two buildings will contain four one-bedroom units.

Youth Charged With Exposure

An 18-year-old Arlington Heights resident was charged with indecent exposure Tuesday after several residents in the area of Maple Street and Vail Avenue reported he was exposing himself.

He is Robert J. Campbell, 1601 S. Roosevelt Ave. The incident occurred about 9 a.m. A court appearance has been set Dec. 2.

United Fund Opens With 'Good News'

General Chairman Paul E. Collins reported that the United Fund has some "early good news" as the drive started in Arlington Heights.

"Both the dental section and the lawyer section of the professional campaign have had the most successful start yet." Collins relayed a report from Bud Beacham, professional division chairman, that the support from dentists and lawyers had been immediate. "We've already collected more money in a week than we did in the whole drive last year," Collins stated. A special mailing will go out to local physicians this week.

On Friday and Saturday, two instructional meetings were held for the residential division solicitors. Volunteers received instructions and were shown this year's Metropolitan Crusade of Mercy Campaign film.

Residential Division Chairman John Gillen explained the link up with the Metropolitan Crusade. "Some 55 suburbs have joined with Chicago in one big drive this year. We feel this drive, with its unified timing and combined major media advertising has a better chance of succeeding than all the scattered drives last year." Gillen pointed out that the emphasis was on "give where you work." Employee drives are more thorough and more convenient. Contributors will be given a "We Gave Metro" sticker to post at home. Residential volunteers will not call on homes displaying the sticker.

Other divisions of the Arlington Heights United Fund report similar success. The educational division, under Dr. Eddie Gilbert has succeeded in initiating a payroll deduction plan in area school systems; James Warriner, chairman of the commerce and industry division, reports all Arlington Heights businesses are being contacted this week; L. A. Hanson, governmental division, reports that payroll deduction is being used with village employees and all areas of vilage government are cooperating "extremely well"; Mrs. Martha Pate, leading the clubs and organizations division, reported that the appeal of the United Fund to clubs in Arlington Heights is being well received.

Eastwood Events

Eastwood was shocked to learn Friday evening of the death of a former Eastwood resident, Karen Lavin, daughter of Charles and Evelyn Lavin, who lived for many years on North Hickory and then Beverly Lane before moving recently to Palatine. Fourteen-year-old Karen was in an automobile accident following homecoming fesitivities. Eastwooders extend sympathy to the Lavins and their sons, Jeffrey, Mark and Michael.

Eastwood Bridge found action Saturday night as Don and Marietta Derebey hosted a bridge evening in their home at 416 N. Hickory. Enjoying the Derebeys' hospitality were Dick and Virginia Vlack, Wally and Esther Ellertson, and Bud and Fran McKnight, who substituted for Don and Peggy Sweeney.

Casey Mutti, 314 Beverly Lane, spent an enjoyable two days last week with an Arlington Heights friend, Marge Ring and young David Ring. Wednesday they lunched at the Milk Pail, where David delighted in seeing the pheasants, and Thursday they visited the Hawthorn-Mellody Farm and treated David at his favorite restaurant, MacDonalds.

The two outings reminded Casey of days past, when her son was young. Jack is now a junior majoring in government and history at Southern Illinois University. He will be in Eastwood this weekend.

LAST WEEKEND Suzy Heitz came home from Southern Illinois University to her home at 219 Beverly Lane with Cathy Coffee of Long Grove. The young ladies, both freshmen in the school of liberal arts, returned to Carbondale on Sunday.

Howard and Blanche Baker, 315 Beverly Lane, and son, Scott, enjoyed a weekend drive through the autumn scenery towards Wisconsin. Saturday they first stopped at the Wagon Wheel in Rockton for lunch and Scott had a chance to ice skate in October. The Bakers then drove to Beloit, where they visited Howard's aunt. They returned Sunday, in time for Scott to return to classes at the Park Ridge Military Academy.

Jim and Donna Drake, 411 Beverly Lane, drove downstate Saturday with their friends, Carl and Arlene Mees of 408 E. Euclid. As both Jim and Carl graduated from the University of Illinois, they were especially happy to see their team win the game against Indiana at Homecoming.

Don and Peggy Sweeney, 603 E. Euclid, spent an enjoyable weekend with a couple from Riverside at Pheasant Run. While dining, they watched Teresa Wright perform in "Tea and Sympathy." Later they were entertained by a jazz band playing from a balcony on Bourbon Street.

EASTWOOD welcomes new neighbors to 615 Beverly Lane. Max and Lela Gray came from Mountain Home AFB, Idaho, where Major Gray spent 10 years with Strategic Air Command. After completing air line training in Fort Worth, Tex., this September, Max has begun a civilian job as pilot for American Air Lines. The Grays have two children; Michael in first grade at North School, and Marla, a kindergartener.

Oct. 19 found Gina Meindl enjoying her 15th birthday at home, at 616 E. Euclid, with her parents, Emil and Loretta, and the other children, Emil Jr., Richard, Ellie, Cathy, Stephen and Thomas, at a family party.

This reporter had difficulty finding time to call for news, as this past week found her busy entertaining. Last Thursday, Yvonne Koch, gave a tea in honor of Peter's kindergarten teacher, Mrs. Jean Caruthers. Invited were all the mothers from the class. Eastwood ladies included were, Dolores Bartolone, Carol Glader, Ruth White, Mary Jo Pederson and Lela Gray.

Saturday the Kochs entertained George and Annemie Sinka from Lombard. What started as a simple dinner, with plans of talking about both couples' summer vacations in Europe, turned into a more elaborate dinner party, as Mrs. Sinka's mother, Mrs. Pracht, had unexpectedly arrived for a vacation from Germany, and in turn her sister and brother-in-law had driven up for a visit from Florida. Notes from Arlington Acres

Marie Marshall — CLearbrook 5-2936

Friends and neighbors of the Rex Harts, 2023 E. Park, extend their sympathy on the recent death of his father, Mr. Jesse Hart in Cushing, Okla.

Being welcomed to Arlington Acres are Mr. and Mrs. Edward Amann and daughter, Carol, who moved to 540 S. Phelps, the former Lindblade home, from another area of Arlington Heights. Mr. Amann is with Fairmont Foods in Rolling Meadows.

A belated welcome is extended to Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hoffman who moved into a new home at 537 S. Phelps two months ago. Mr. Hoffman is with Simplex Forms in Chicago and was transferred from Rockford. They have three sons, Bobby, 6, Doug, 5, and Brad, 3.

MRS. MAE MINER, 421 S. Gibbons, celebrated her 82nd birthday Monday. The Miner family celebration was dinner Sunday at Sweden House in Elgin, where Grandma Miner was toasted by Chuck and Arlyn and her grandchildren, Gail, Jan and Robert.

Oct. 18 was a big day in the Frank Marshall home, 432 S. Forrest, also, being the 81st birthday of Grandma Novy. A party in her honor was given Sunday, when a buffet supper was served for family members from Westchester, Des Plaines and Elmhurst.

Margaret Marshall, unable to get home Sunday for her grandmother's party, came Friday evening and returned to school Saturday morning. She was accompanied by a sorority sister, Mary Sue Banks of La Grange.

WHEN MR. AND Mrs. Fred Both, 433 S. Phelps, accepted an invitation to an Hawaiian luau at the home of friends, Mr. and Mrs. Menard Hydanek in Berwyn on Oct. 9, they had no idea they were to be guests of honor and that the party was to mark their silver wedding anniversary Oct. 12. Since the hosts had spent some time in Hawaii, the setting in which the Boths were greeted by more than two dozen friends had an air of authenticity and the feast which followed consisted of genuine luau dishes.

The celebration originally planned by Fred and Anita to mark their anniversary took place the following Tuesday with dinner at Poppe's Alpine House in Lake Zurich with their son, Fred, and daughter, Joanne.

A fishing trip the Boths had been promising themselves for some time materialized two weeks ago, in a three-day weekend trip to Park Falls, Wis., at the time that the fall foliage was at its peak of color. Joanne, who went with her parents, particularly enjoyed the company of a tame fawn which has been adopted by the owners of the resort-lodge where they stayed.

MR. AND MRS. Richard Christiansen, 428 S. Waterman, postponed the celebration of their 18th wedding anniversary, Oct. 11, until last Saturday when, with two other couples they attended the Northwestern-Wisconsin game at Dyche Stadium, then had dinner at the Elks Club in Arlington Heights. The only flaw in an otherwise perfect day for Dick, an NU alum, was the outcome of the game.

Mr. and Mrs. Ron Rold, 433 S. Gibbons, married 11 years Oct. 15, celebrated Saturday by having "dinner for two" at Fountain de Bleu in Mount Prospect.

Congratulations on recent wedding anniversaries also go to Mr. and Mrs. James Butkus, 429 S. Phelps, on their 10th Oct. 18, and to Mr. and Mrs. Richard Jahn, 420 S. Waterman, 17 years Oct. 15.

When Cathy Hanson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hanson, 429 S. Prindle, came home from school Wednesday of last week, she was greeted by neighborhood friends who had gathered to help celebrate her eighth birthday. Birthday cake and ice cream were served to Beth Ann Briscoe, Julie Moller, Julie Dombrow, Bobby McMullen, Michael Earl and Marty. After refreshments the guests joined in games and a treasure hunt with edible "treasures."

Cathy's special day was just one of a special week, because her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Hanson had arrived from their home in Lakewood, Ohio, the Friday before to spend the week of the birthday celebration.

TERRY LOCH, son of the Archie Lochs, 2124 E. Park, was 8 Oct. 11 and sat in the chair of the guest of honor at dinner. No outside reinforcements were needed when it was time to sing "Happy Birthday." Voices raised in a rafter ringing chorus were those of his brothers Tommy, Timmy, Raymond, Michael and David, while his sisters, Kelly, Molly and Kathleen who could not lend much volume, lent their presence.

For Julie Mertes' fourth birthday, Oct. 14, her mother planned a festive lunch and invited a playmate, Shawna Roman to come with her mother from Mount Prospect. After lunch the girls were joined by neighborhood friends, Bobby, Doug and Brad Hoffman for cake and ice cream.

Julie is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Mertes, 529 S. Phelps.

Birthdays at the Robert Kunz home, 505 S. Forrest, always rate a festive dinner and the one Friday was in honor of Sandy being 12.

Guests were the Haanel family of Arlington Heights and an overnight guest, Susan Soduckski, who arrived in time to share the birthday cake and ice cream.

GUESTS AT David Brown's fifth birthday party Saturday afternoon were treated to a visit to the Arlington Heights Fire Department. Party-goers who were thrilled to be shown around the station and to get a close-up look at the engines were John and Carol Waxlax, Mark and Laura Schneider, Bruce Richardson, John Thompson, Karen Kurp, Barby Thorstad and Brad Burnett. After the tour, the happy group returned to the Brown home, 432 S. Phelps, for birthday cake and ice cream.

On Sunday, David's parents, Ron and Beverly, hosted a family dinner for grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. George Brown of Hillside, Aunt Ruth Brown of Chicago and an uncle and aunt, the George Browns of Itasca.

Anti-Dropout Project Set For High School Dist. 214

A research and demonstration work-study project for 60 High School District 214 potential dropout students was approved by the school board Monday.

Total cost would be about $50,000, with about $12,000 coming from local funds. The balance would be provided by state funds (25 per cent) and federal vocational training money (50 per cent).

The program is an enlargement of a pilot pre-dropout program conducted by District 214 for several years. Only limited success was achieved in the earlier program according to Edward Gilbert, assistant superintendent, mainly because there was no job supervision or coordination due to lack of personnel.

In addition, Gilbert stressed it is difficult to find commercial or industrial employment for students in the 14-15 year age bracket. It is this group which the program is designed to aid.

UNDER THE PROPOSAL, 15 students in each of the district's four high schools would be selected at random from a group of 30 potential enrollees. All 30 would be chosen after interviews with students and families. The remaining 15 would be followed carefully as a "control" group to measure the achievement of the 15 students in the special experimental project.

The studnets would arrive at school about 10 a.m. for two academic classes and physical education, with special teachers who have received a "heavy occupational orientation." A fourth period would be a special "Related Class" designed to present occupational-technical curricula and develop better reading, writing and expression skills. The class would be taught by a counselor and a reading specialist would be assigned to the class.

THE UNIQUE PART of the project would be a special occupational techniques session from 3:30 to 5:30 p.m. aimed at developing technical proficiency and providing information on various occupations.

Several types of "products" will be developed for sale, with students drawing the benefit of their semi-junior achievement program. The maximum wage would be $1 an hour.

Outside consultants from business and industry are to be sought for this phase of the program.

A wide variety of skills would be covered including metal, wood, electrical, plastic and artistic product manufacture and motor maintenance. Business occupations also would be stressed. A special home economics work program would prepare girls for both domestic life and commercial services.

EVENING COUNSELING sessions with small groups of students would be included and night meetings with parents to help them understand their children and the experimental program would be part of the program.

Questions were raised by board members on how this fit into the total work-study programs now proposed for District 214. Board members were told that these students, with some possible exceptions, would be underage for both the regular industrial, office or commercial occupation programs conducted by the district.

These students also would not have the academic level needed by students in the regular school-businss programs. They might have a wide level of abilities, but would be underachievers, or might be students with academic, absentee or discipline problems. All potentially would be headed for dropout or failure in high school in the opinions of their teachers and counselors.

BECAUSE THEY would primarily be under 16 years of age, the students could not qualify for the Neighborhood Youth Corps program being introduced into District 214, board members were told. In addition, these students might not come from low-income families, a requirement for the NYC project.

Gilbert explained that after experience in the pre-dropout program, school personnel hope these students would be ready for transfer to the regular school-business programs when they become juniors. Some might be ready to re-enter the academic program, he noted.

Gilbert added that it was hoped that some of the students could be employed outside of school in a supervised type of setting. He said the recent "Comprehensive Work - Study Program" proposed by the Taxpayers Association of District 214 could fit into this program.

This proposal was emphatically withdrawn by the taxpayers group immediately following the vote on the pre-dropout project.

After the meeting, the school district received offers from individual firms in the Centex Industrial Park, Elk Grove, to help with part-time employment and vocational consultation.

In addition an offer was received from the local B'nai B'rith, a Jewish fraternity devoted to community service. This proposal included consultants to come into the schools for help in different vocational areas and help in providing job opportunities for students in need of part-time employment.

ALL BOARD members approved the pre-dropout project with the exception of William Griffith of Arlington Heights, who passed his vote.

Griffith asked for a comprehensive report on all the work-study programs used by District 214. This would include a flow chart of personnel by school and by district, the amount of time spent by each person, requirements for students to complete the program, the number of students and their ages and other similar detailed data.

He was told this type of information was developed by school administrators before programs were proposed to the board and could be provided without great difficulty.

Board member Hal Armstrong stressed the high schools should be providing a variety of vocational training programs just as the schools provide a wide variety of college preparatory or business courses. "We have only about one-fourth of the vocational programs provided by some of our neighboring districts, Armstrong stressed.

Wayne Griffin

After traveling around the world covering over 25,500 miles by air, it was a pleasant site when we circled O'Hare Field for the final landing last week.

In future weeks in this column I will be describing various aspects of this 7-week venture so you may share with me the many adventures I had, including some that were unexpected, such as the war in India, a volcanic eruption in the Philippines, luggage that was lost for three days, a typhoon near Hong Kong, and a few others.

There were 17 of us who started in Athens and wound up in Honolulu. We attended the convention of the American Society of Travel Agents convention in Hong Kong.

A couple of thoughts come to mind being back home such as to have a sink of the proper height. (In Japan they are much lower). Of being able to order a peanut butter sandwich. And of being able to understand the currency of the country. We changed currency about once every two or three days, and it's hard to remember what value it has compared with the American dollar.

For your travel needs, drop in at Griffin Travel, 104 N. Evergreen, Arlington Heights, or call CL 5-7010—we'll do our best to serve you.

Scouts Get 130 Acres For Camp

R. E. Larsen of Park Ridge, president of the Northwest Suburban Council, Boy Scouts of America, has announced the acquisition of 130 acres of summer camp land near Wild Rose, Wis., for Camp Napowan, operated by the Northwest Suburban Council since 1947.

Camp Napowan, which operates for 10 weeks each summer for Boy Scout and Explorer campers, has rented the 130 of 330 acres of camp land from the Victor Foundation for many years. It recently received an outright gift of the 130 rented acres from the foundation, according to Larsen.

SCOUTING IN THE northwest suburban area of Chicago has grown so measurably that a second summer camp site of 1,120 acres near Spooner, Wis., was purchased in 1964 to provide additional camping facilities for the more than 12,500 registered Scouts of the area.

Larsen said more than 24,000 boys will be active scout members in the Northwest Suburban Council by 1970.

GROUNDBREAKING for the two-story addition to Addolorata Villa on McHenry Road in Wheeling was Thursday, Oct. 14. The wing is to house an infirmary, crafts room and auditorium on the first floor, and 16 residential units and a solarium on the second floor. Sister Mary Jerome, villa administrator, wields the spade while Father George Ballweber of St. Mary's Church in Buffalo Grove blesses the ground. Second from left is Wheeling Village Pres. Ted Scanlon, standing next to Rev. Louis M. Courtney, O.S.M. Others are residents of the villa, which is operated by the Servants of Mary Sisters.

Wait Hearing Date For School's Suit

No date has been set yet for the first court hearing of a suit filed by the Wheeling - Buffalo Grove School Board to overrule a decision of the Wheeling Village Board to permit an apartment development on Elmhurst Road.

School Board Atty. Everett Lewy said he expects the date to be set shortly.

The school board also directed its attorney at its meeting Thursday to review the compliance of Buffalo Grove's 135-acre development with that village's ordinances.

BEING contested in Wheeling is the Elmhurst Ranchero apartment project. Sought by the schooi board is a declaratory judgment concerning its compliance with the village's subdivision ordinance, and an injunction to halt its construction.

Main complaint is that the development evades the village's land area requirements. (WF

11th-Hour Effort to Keep Committee System Fails

Trustee Thomas Garrity made a last ditch stand for keeping standing committees of the Elk Grove Village Board — and failed.

The village board approved 4 to 2 the ordinance eliminating all standing committees except for the judiciary, planning and zoning committee. Garrity and Trustee George Mullen voted against the motion.

The board approved Village Pres. Jack Pahl's appointment of Garrity, Mullen, and Trustee Ralph Lewis to the committee. Mullen was made chairman.

GARRITY BACKED by Mullen tried unsuccessfully to amend the motion eliminating all but the one standing committee. His motion to add a water and sewer committee and a streets committee failed. Garrity, Mullen, and Lewis voted for it; Ronald Chernick, Charles Zettek, and George Coney against it. The amendment had to have a two-thirds vote.

Garrity argued that no governmental body operates without standing committees. At one point in the meeting he quipped that it was fortunate the county board had a highway and roads committee whom Pahl could see about a Landmeier Road curve problem.

The one standing committee's assignment will be to review recent federal, and state legislation and county zoning amendments as it relates to the unincorporated areas.

IT ALSO WILL review signs, inspection, tap-in and other service fees to compare them with those of other communities and the relationship betwen services performed and fees collected.

In other board action, the village board agreed to set up a publicity committee to operate as a branch of the village board's public relations and personnel committee. The new committee would prepare public releases on village board actions needing publicity.

The committee would serve as a staff agency to boards and commissions.

THE BOARD agreed the committee should make recommendations on the procedure it would like to follow.

Pahl said about seven people were interested in serving on the committee. No limit was placed on committee membership.

Parents Night is scheduled next Thursday, Oct. 28, for the parents of juniors and seniors attending Arlington High School.

The program will begin at 8 p.m. in the school auditorium, with a brief program by the Choraliers singing group. A similar program for parents of freshmen and sophomores attracted nearly 800 parents to the school a week ago. (AF

State Goofs On Highway Lane Marks

The State of Illinois got out its biggest eraser last week to eliminate a goof in the center lane markings along Northwest Highway.

Markings along much of the new pavement in Arlington Heights — from Euclid Street east — were misplaced. Highway division engineers discovered the error soon after the markings were completed.

They quickly blacked out the mistake. But one spokesman for the highway division, who seemed a little embarrassed, said many residents caught the goof as quickly as engineers did and made a number of calls to the highway division.

"I think it happened because they were over eager to get the project finished," the spokesman added.

Work has begun on replacing the markings.

PTA Open House Set at Whitman

Walt Whitman School of Wheeling will have its annual open house Monday, Oct. 25, at 8 p.m. After a short PTA meeting, parents may visit the individual classrooms to view their children's work and get acquainted with teachers.

In addition to classroom visits, a panel of teachers from each grade level will discuss the goals and expectations of the various grades for this school year. Following the panels will be brief question and answer periods.

Halloween Fun Slated

In keeping up with the special occasions, the Arlington Heights Park District will conduct Halloween parties for children fifth grade and under next Wednesday through Friday.

The parties will be held in the fieldhouses—at Hasbrook on Wednesday, at Recreation Park on Thursday and at Pioneer Friday. The event will consist of a costume parade with numerous classifications of costume in individual and group divisions and judging. Prizes will be awarded to the best in each group.

SPECIAL MOVIES have been arranged for the youngsters' after-school activity. Refreshments will be served to all children. The parties will begin at 4 p.m.

OKay Larger Village Hall Parking Lot

An extension of the Municipal Building parking lot to the southeast corner of Sigwalt Street and Pine Avenue was approved by the Arlington Heights Village Board Monday.

The board awarded the $4,418 contract to Milburn Brothers Construction. A $5,049 bid had been submitted by Mayer Paving.

Action was taken on the recommendation of Village Mgr. L. A. Hanson, who said there has been a rapid increase in the number of persons visiting the Municipal Building. All-day parkers will be encouraged to use the new lot, he said, giving more space immediately behind the building for visitors. (AF

Remind Leaf Burners of Ordinance

Now that Fall — cough, cough — is here again — cough — residents can avoid an encounter with the Arlington Heights police department by remembering to burn leaves and other rubbish on private property.

Village ordinance prohibits burning materials on any street, alley, sidewalk, parkway or other public ground. Fires are allowed on driveways where they cross the parkway, provided they do not damage parkway foliage.

Police have warned several residents already this fall. And they report a "large number" of inquiries about the ordinance. (AF

The other driver, Arthur Reimers, 50, Long Grove, was fined $20 and costs on a right-of-way charge.

The accident happened at the intersection of Park Street and Prindle Avenue. Thirty-two injuries resulted, all but two minor, when the full bus driven by Oldham overturned. (AF

An eastern vacation in the fall, when the leaves are at the height of beauty, is a holiday everyone anticipates — and one that Betty and Harold Hammerstrom, 510 Germaine Lane, have just completed. Their first destination was Connecticut, where they stayed with cousins, Helga and Harry Erickson. Highlighting their visit were two trips to New York City, one to see the World's Fair and another to the theatre to hear "Sound of Music." Rhode Island was next on the agenda, Hyannis Port, and then to Boston, where they had a lobster feast at the famous Boston Lobster House. The Hammerstroms also took a complete tour of the city.

Vermont, they report, was beautiful and every street could represent a picture postcard for scenery, and Pennsylvania included a trip to the quaint Amish settlement.

Homeward bound Betty and Harold took time out in Canada to view Niagara Falls to take the "Maid of the Mist" boat-ride through the Falls. They also did a bit of shopping in Canada before returning through customs to the United States.

Arlington Heights' Village Board Monday directed Village Mgr. L. A. Hanson to proceed with the installation of a sidewalk on the north side of Euclid Street to the north edge of the North Western Railway tracks.

Trustee Carl Mees said the walkway is needed as access to Arlington High School for students living south of the tracks. It will fill in an existing gap in the walk.

Hanson informed the board the Interstate Commerce Commission had told him that agency would require the railroad to install the walkway across the tracks if the village builds it up to the tracks. He estimated the cost at "several hundred dollars." (AF

Low-Cost Clinic Care Proposed for Suburbs

Closing of present out-patient medical and dental clinics to disadvantaged adults and children in the northwest and central Cook County area, has prompted plans to open new free or low-cost medical and dental facilities in the area.

Services for residents of central and northwest Cook County have been provided by Evanston Hospital and St. Francis Hospital, Evanston. These institutions have decided to restrict the use of their clinics to residents of the Evanston area effective Jan. 1.

A special ad hoc committee of hospital, welfare, religious and economic groups, plus interested individuals, is developing proposals to replace the clinics. These proposals will be submitted to area governmental units soon.

UNDER PRESENT plans, the clinic probably will have its primary facilities in the out-patient department of the new Alexian Brothers Hospital, Elk Grove. Secondary facilities are expected to be available in the expanded area of Lutheran General Hospital, Park Ridge.

Alexian Brothers Hospital is expected to open early next spring. The addition to Lutheran General Hospital, now under construction, also is scheduled for completion in the spring.

The two clinics would provide service for residents of the central and northwest Cook County districts.

The ad hoc committee is being incorporated under state laws as a non-profit corporation. The committee will handle administration. An advisory committee of professional people will be formed shortly.

FINANCING of the clinics will be sought from state and federal grants, service organizations, contributions and a portion of surplus township tax funds.

A general meeting will be held by the committee in November. Interested organizations and individuals are invited to attend the meeting to review the clinic proposal.

Committee membership includes representatives of the hospitals of central and northwest Cook County, the Northwest Church Council for Migrant Aid, the health task force of the North Cook County Office of Economic Opportunity, the Norwesco Opportunity Council and interested area residents.

PEOPLE interested in further information about the clinics, working on the program or serving on the committee may contact Virgil J. Bass, temporary committee chairman, 3109 Swallow Lane, Rolling Meadows. Bass may be reached by telephone during the day at RA 6-7840 or during the evening at CL 5-3667.

Bass is chairman of Norwesco Opportunity Council, an anti-poverty action group in Wheeling, Elk Grove, Schaumburg and Palatine Townships.

Sidelights Of Arlington Heights

Sue Smith 439-4851

Arlington Heights, Scarsdale & Estates, Stonegate

Dorothy Meyer, CL 3-2298 Elsie Jedd, CL 3-5982

If this week's Sidelights seem sort of lackadaisical, blame it on spring fever—one of your correspondents found a violet blooming in her back yard Saturday and the other says there are dandelions in flower all over the golf course. Local sociability apparently needs a little spring tonic too; aside from marvelling at the weather, raking leaves and fretting about fall house-cleaning, few people had anything to report.

For the Paul Gauvreau family, returning Saturday from eight weeks in Florida, the local weekend climate was a lovely and welcome extension of weather in the Sunshine State. With their children, Caren and Stephen, Mr. and Mrs. Gauvreau enjoyed a combined business and pleasure stay in St. Petersburg and came home to 1130 N. Walnut recommending a Florida vacation for everyone. Besides taking care of business matters, they had several opportunities for short sightseeing trips in the area and visited Gauvreau's aunt, Mrs. Frank Joerger.

MR. AND MRS. John Thomas, 1111 W. Euclid, returned early last week from a weekend visit in Muskegon, Mich. with their mothers, the senior Mrs. Thomas and Mrs. Ray Brunk. Joining the family for Sunday dinner with Mrs. Thomas were sons of the local branch, Jim, a freshman at Michigan State University in East Lansing, and MSU senior, Bill and his wife. Adding to the pleasure of their trip was the autumn display of color along the way.

The roads to Cincinnati are wild with fall colors, too, according to the Wallace Boltes, 105 S. Walnut, who made the trip last week. They had a four-day visit with Bolte's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Bolte who sent back greetings to old friends here.

The Fred Martins, 111 S. Walnut, enjoyed a long weekend stay in Summit Lake, Wis. where the leaves have already fallen but there is still enough natural beauty to satisfy. The Martins were with La Grange friends who have a cabin on one of three private lakes in the area. Part of their pleasure was in hiking through the woods, startling and being startled by the many deer in the area, and seeing one of the biggest beaver dams in northern Wisconsin. One hundred feet across and rising three feet above water level, the dam is truly a major feat of engineering.

MR. AND MRS. Frank Helmbold, 646 S. Dunton, celebrated the 25th anniversary of their Oct. 4 wedding date with a two-week vacation in Jamaica, returning last Thursday newly adjusted to driving on the "wrong" side of the street. They rented a car to enjoy touring the island at their own convenience, and had to get used to Jamaica's English-oriented rule of driving on the left side of the road. It took nothing from the pleasure of their sightseeing, however, nor did the donkeys, dogs, children and assorted other pedestrians leisurely using every thoroughfare.

The anniversary couple left here Sept. 30 and weekended in Miami with Mrs. Helmbold's brother, John Roberts and his family, before leaving on their anniversary for Jamaica. They stayed at the Half Moon Hotel in Montego Bay, overlooking waters and beaches that were "more beautiful than you can imagine," reports Mrs. Helmbold. "The water was every shade of blue and green and seemed to be constantly changing color." Ideal weather, hospitable people and a wonderful no-hurry routine added to the sum total of a perfect two weeks.

Birthday kids of all ages contributed handsomely to the local party scene this week, celebrating lots of years or just a few with big parties or little ones. Alois "Grandpa" Raupp, of Arlington Heights and Mundelein, marked his 78th birthday Monday and received family congratulations at a party for 20 Saturday night.

GRANDPA, WHO sometimes makes his home with his daughter and family, the Richard Weidners, 1131 N. Dunton, is currently "at home" in Mundelein with another daughter and family, the Ralph Tekampes. It was in the Tekampe home that Grandpa's 1965 birthday was celebrated; everybody had a fine time.

Brice Bauske, 6 on Monday, was host to several school and neighborhood friends at an after-school party in his home, 111 S. Kaspar. In a pre-party report his mother said that at last count there were to be eight guests but that her hospitable young celebrant was quite likely to invite a few more on the way home from school. Since her locally famous birthday cakes are usually big enough to feed a small army—even a small army of hungry small boys, an exact guest count was not too vital. Brice is currently fascinated with the big machinery used in construction and road-building so his cake was decorated in keeping with the idea. Like all Bauske birthday cakes, it was almost too good-looking to eat-but only almost.

SINCE HOUSE painting does not mix neatly with a dozen party - happy five-year-olds, Nancy Bublitz will celebrate her last week's birthday with a this-week party. Nancy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Bublitz, 108 S. Evergreen, was 5 on Sunday; the house was painted Saturday, and she will entertain fellow kindergarten coeds day after tomorrow.

Nancy's birth date was not completely overlooked, however. Her big brothers took her out to dinner Sunday afternoon. Grandma Bublitz added her greetings at a family birthday cake session Sunday evening, and paternal grandparents, the Arthur Papes of Palatine, were among Nancy's well-wishers Monday evening. An aunt, Mrs. Hattie Johnson, and cousin, Charlie Johnson of Chicago also brought birthday greetings Monday.

Early congratulations to Nancy were part of the "happies" that resulted from a recent surprise visit of her California great-uncle and aunt, the Ernest Kuempels of Glendale. The Kuempels returned to the West Coast early last week after six days here and in Chicago with relatives and friends.

THE JOHN Kelleys recently transplanted their household from the Virginia Terrace area to 1126 N. Dunton, and have been meeting their new neighbors over impromptu coffees-and.

Paula Schomburg's "sweet 16" birthday was celebrated Monday at a family party in the Schomburg home, 305 S. Evergreen. An especially welcome "guest" was Paula's sister Lynn, a freshman at Illinois State University, who enjoyed a weekend-plus-Monday stay at home.

Early birthday congratulations were part of a slumber party Paula shared with seven local girl friends Friday evening-and Saturday morning. The Schomburg home had wall-to-wall girls, the girls had nonstop fun and Paula had a sweet 16 birthday party she'll remember.

Kathy Fischer was 6 on Tuesday and Mike was 7 on Wednesday. There was a dual party Sunday in the Fischer home, 1123 N. Dunton. Bringing a double share of birthday congratulations were 17 Chicago area relatives.

MR. AND MRS. James Demaree, 816 Mayfair, spent the weekend in Indianapolis visiting his parents, the Mark Demarees, and his sister and brother-in-law, the John A. Brucks of Cincinnati, who were also in Indianapolis for the weekend.

The James K. Dawsons, 329 Burton, and a group of Scarsdale neighbors went to the Union League Club Friday, for dinner and an evening of reminiscing and dancing to authentic Glen Miller music. The old Glen Miller orchestra was under the direction of Ray McKinley. Joining the Dawsons for the evening were the Charles H. Oestmanns, Marion E. McLeods, Roger Girards and Mrs. Shirley Schneberger.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Brown Hardison, 347 S. Burton, flew to Americus, Ga. last week for a two-day business conference, then to Hot Springs, Ark., where they joined Scarsdale neighbors, the Horace Brunners, for a few days of golf and relaxation.

Mr. and Mrs. George McConley of Mount Dora, Fla., will arrive in Arlington Heights today for a visit with their daughter and family, the Joseph F. Faners, 615 Mayfair.

DURING THE past two weeks, Mr. and Mrs. Roland Fischer, 330 Burton, were hosts to three sets of houseguests, all from the Ohio area. First to come were his parents, the William Bondurants of Bellevue who were here for three days, after which Ernest Spaeth of Willoughby came for a two-day visit. Last to come were Dr. and Mrs. Gordon Wolcott of Ashtabula, here for five days.

The Fischers' son, Roland, attends Ohio State University where he is a junior, majoring in anthropology.

The Anthony Manns, 304 E. Fairview, became grandparents for the first time Saturday, when a son, David Christopher Mann was born to the William Manns of Milwaukee. The Manns went to Milwaukee to visit their new grandson, Sunday.

The William G. Frankes, 126 S. Pine, and the M. W. Prellbergs of Arlington Heights, attended the Northwestern-Wisconsin football game Saturday in Evanston, then went to O'Hare Inn for supper. Sunday the Frankes went to White Pine State Park to enjoy the fall foliage.

MR. AND MRS. Stanley Norman, 634 S. Dryden, had as weekend houseguests, their daughter and son-in-law, the Bruce Fahlbergs of Neenah, Wis., and Mrs. Norman's brother and sister-in-law, the Ray Kirkeeides of Appleton, Wis.

Don Everhart, 537 S. Pine, returned Sunday from an 11-day phosphate mine hunting expedition in Lisbon, Portugal and Angola, Africa.

Mrs. Daniel Baumann of St. Paul, Minn., and her children, Steven and Lynette, arrived in Arlington Heights last weekend to visit her husband's parents, the Roy Baumanns, 421 E. Orchard, and to attend Wheaton College Homecoming. Both Mrs. Baumann, and her husband who had to remain in St. Paul because of a teaching commitment, are graduates of Wheaton College.

This past weekend, Mrs. Baumann and the senior Baumanns accompanied by area friends, drove to St. Paul for the Homecoming program at Bethel Seminary and College where young Rev. Baumann teaches. Sunday afternoon they all attended the dedication of the new Bethel Seminary.

The Wilbur Todds, 103 S. Brighton, went to Champaign Saturday to attend the Illinois-Indiana University homecoming football game. Joining the Todds for the game were friends from Des Plaines, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Stedman.

MR. AND MRS. George W. Rose, 1300 Mayfair, marked their 31st wedding anniversary Oct. 6, with a family dinner, and the following evening, celebrated again at a surprise reception given for them by their daughters, Jean, Marilyn and Susan.

Mr. and Mrs. John P. Foley of Milwaukee spent Monday in Arlington Heights as guests of their son and daughter-in-law, the John E. Foleys, 406 S. Carlyle.

Mrs. Edward Wilson, 304 S. Wilshire, spent the past week in Dayton, visiting her daughter and family, Capt. and Mrs. Ronald Prater, Ricky and Beth.

During Mrs. Wilson's visit in Dayton, Mr. Wilson went fishing in Canada with Joseph Gatts of Mount Prospect.

MRS. WALTER Kellin returned home to 105 S. Stratford Sunday after spending 10 days in Columbus, Ga., with her sister and family, the Donald Andersons. Mrs. Kellin's visit, which was to be a brief one was extended when she became an enthusiastic worker for her sister's favorite hobby, the Columbus Little Theater. She stayed on to help in restoring the Old Springer Opera House, built in 1870, and to attend the opening night performance of a musical version of the play, "St. Elmo," in which Mrs. Anderson took a leading part.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Watkins, 105 S. Drury, attended Dad's weekend at Rockford College, in Rockford, Ill. where their daughter, Cheryl Ann, is a sophomore. A banquet and a soccer game between Rockford and McMurray Colleges were especially enjoyed.

NEWCOMERS TO Stonegate are Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Drimba who recently moved to 102 S. Brighton from Des Plaines, and are former residents of Glen Rock, N.J. They have two daughters, Dawn, 10, and Lori, 6. Over the weekend, the Drimbas welcomed her parents, the G. J. Reillys of Miami, Fla. for a visit.

Mr. and Mrs. Darrell Bang, 413 S. Carlyle, were hosts at a family dinner party Saturday for his brother, Gordon, of Des Plaines, who with his family will soon be moving to White Plains, N.Y. Among family members present, were parents, the H. O. Bangs, his sister, Mrs. Herbert Vetter and two of her eight children, and a brother, Stanford Bang, all of Stoughton, Wis.

Proud grandparents again are the C. S. Clines, 415 S. Belmont, whose son and daughter-in-law, the Robert Clines of Palatine, welcomed their third child on Sunday.

Sympathies are extended to Thomas Bart and family, of 213 N. Dryden, Arlington Heights, for the death of his mother, Mrs. Hazel M. Bart, 67, on Wednesday, Oct. 6. Mrs. Bart was a resident of Del Ray Beach, Fla.

ALL GOOD THINGS ARE CHEAP

Twenty years ago most prescriptions cost less than they do now. But, they did less. We had none of the costlier antibodies, new hormones, and other "miracle" drugs which can be depended upon to produce a positive benefit and very often a certain cure.

Present prescriptions are "cheap" indeed, for they usually limit sickness-time to days instead of weeks and save more lives. Some cost more, but you benefit more.

YOUR DOCTOR CAN PHONE US when you need a medicine. Pick up your prescription if shopping nearby, or we will deliver promptly without extra charge. A great many people entrust us with their prescriptions. May we compound yours?

Student Pilot Makes Cross-Country Flight

Says First Trip Is Unforgettable

by LARRY H. CAMERON

Anyone who has ever soloed an airplane will not forget the day.

For me, it was part of an assignment from my editor to learn to fly and report my experiences.

For some time, I'd been aware of the advantages of a suburbanite being able to fly, but I hardly realized how much fun it would be to learn.

The place selected for my training was Elgin Airport, operated by Tufts-Edgcumbe Inc., Piper Aircraft distributors for the upper midwest.

Here, Roy Levitt of 305 S. George St., Mount Prospect, patiently guided me through my early flight training to the point where I could leave him behind and pilot my Piper Cherokee in a reasonably proficient manner.

AFTER MY first solo flight, I was assigned an area near Elgin Airport to practice maneuvers that Roy had taught me. When the basic mechanics of operating a plane are learned, a great deal of practice is necessary to develop smooth coordination in flying.

I found that developing this coordination was satisfying in much the same way as a golfer or skier feels as he develops proficiency through practice.

The next step in my training was cross-country flying. At first, this term made me conjure up uneasy visions of a junket from here to San Francisco, but I soon learned that this only means a flight to another airport, moving across terrain without regard to topography.

The cross-country trip in a modern, well-equipped plane is anything but the hair-raising, puddle-jumping trips of early aviation.

TODAY THERE are approximately 100,000 airplanes in the U.S. engaged in flying from one point to another. These planes make up the private fleet usually referred to as general aviation, which excludes military and some 2,000 airplanes operated by commercial airlines.

General aviation today flies 14 million hours per year to more than 9,000 airports throughout the country.

I'd learned the steps in planning a cross-country trip in ground school, but like most things in aviation, you learn by doing.

For my first flight, Roy suggested we fly to Green Bay, Wis., then to Wausau and back to Elgin.

Since I'd driven my car to both places, it hardly seemed possible to make such a trip in only a few hours.

ROY SAID it was up to me to plan the trip, and he would check my plans. I immediately picked up the necessary charts, even though we weren't leaving for a week!

Preparing for a cross-country flight isn't much different than planning for an extended auto trip.

Aeronautical charts used for flying are much like road maps, only they go into considerably more detail. Since the pilot isn't restricted to the direction of roadways, a line must be drawn on the air chart to indicate the course the plane is to follow.

The amount of correction for wind drift and speed across the ground can be figured by a simple computer, and prominent land marks are selected on the chart to check flight progress.

In addition, the Cherokee is equipped with radio-navigation aids which can be used to check the airplane's position at any time.

THE DAY for our flight arrived, and I found myself wide-awake at dawn, inspecting the weather outside. It looked like a beautiful day, and I hoped it was the same at our destinations.

Upon arriving at the airport, I checked the weather along our route on the teletype; it was perfect.

After checking out the plane, we taxied to the runway and made our departure.

We had decided to fly at 3,000-feet. Until now, my entire aviation experience had centered around a few miles around Elgin, so the change of scenery below was impressive.

I took up the compass heading we had chosen and placed the chart in front of me. Roy showed me how to identify landmarks and check the progress of our trip.

WHILE SOLOING a plane was an exciting experience. I found the real feeling of satisfaction comes with being able to both fly and navigate.

The scenery was so interesting that occasionally I forgot the Cherokee requires a pilot, and I drifted off course. But this was easily corrected and shortly we were approaching Green Bay.

Roy told me to find the airport, and after a short search I located the field.

After a cup of coffee with the airport manager, we departed for Wausau, Wis.

Although my first experience at navigation required much work, I still enjoyed looking down smugly at the little cars winding up and down twisting roads.

OUR STOP AT Wausau gave us an opportunity to have lunch and meet some friends of Roy's, but we soon were on our way back to Elgin.

Roy decided he'd done enough work for one day and informed me he was going to relax for the remainder of the journey. Although I had occasional doubts about my exact position, the familiar ground area of Elgin was soon beneath us.

I now realized that flying—while a most enjoyable sport in itself—is also a most practical form of rapid transportation. During the entire flight, we saw only one other airplane. This made me realize that while there are many airplanes flying today, there is even more airspace available.

This trip brought on a whole new series of problems to be mastered in becoming a private pilot. I had the satisfaction of being able to go places and see things in a way never before possible in addition to the pure enjoyment of flying.

It was now necessary to gain the required experience and, soon, to take my final tests.

Elegance Asked in Television Programs

The television industry should do more to promote elegant living, according to Chicago retailer Sol Polk, president of Polk Bros.

With the arrival of full color television programming, color television will be the greatest single motivating factor for consumer goods, Polk believes, and television producers should make every effort possible to show "elegance in living" on their shows.

"The people who are responsible for the set design should not be held back in borrowing from our national magazines, who are several years ahead of the American public in creating demands for elegant living. Today, almost everyone who is gainfully employed can afford the basic living environmental furnishings and appliances which contribute to our national growth.

"FOR YEARS the television producers have presented panel shows and newscasts in the same drab settings of a man behind a desk, without using the creativity which our furniture manufacturers have developed. The TV shows should be progressive in displaying the elegance of the American home on TV, with frequent changes of interior design, which will always show off elegant living.

It is the responsibility of mass communication media to sell the vast resources of this country, Polk added, and the best way to sell is with visual products of the home furnishings industry.

Six-County Metropolitan Area

Industrial Growth Analyzed In Study by Plan Commission

The future prospects for the manufacturing industries of the metropolitan area were presented in a study released Thursday by the Northeastern Illinois Planning Commission.

The study, entitled "Industrial Development" with projections to 1985 of the amount of land to be required and the number of employes expected in industry by that year in the six-county area, was presented to the public at an afternoon press conference held in the planning organization's office at 400 W. Madison.

"One of the key elements in the further growth of the Northeastern Illinois Metropolitan Area is its manufacturing industry," said Matthew L. Rockwell, executive director of the planning commission.

"THE ROLE OF manufacturing in the economic life of Northeastern Illinois is analyzed in this study, with particular attention given to the current and future number, kind and internal distribution of manufacturing jobs," Rockwell said.

"This study will provide the planning commission with much data needed in the preparation of the comprehensive plan for the area. It is our hope that it will be of use also to other public agencies and business firms in development of their plans and programs," he said.

By 1985 an approximate doubling of the 41.5 square miles of land now used for manufacturing in Cook, DuPage, Kane, Lake, McHenry and Will Counties was projected by the study.

Manufacturing employment of the region is projected to rise to 1,133,000 jobs by 1985, up from the 893,200 of April 1965, the study reveals.

"THE COMMISSION is indebted to Charles L. Olson, formerly of our staff and now on the faculty of the University of Notre Dame, who directed the final preparation of the report, and to the many organizations and individuals who contributed to the study," Rockwell said.

An assistnat professor in the business organization and management department at Notre Dame, Olson described the report as "perhaps the most comprehensive study of manufacturing employment ever attempted in the Chicago region.

"Records of the Illinois State Employment Service for 1955 to 1963 were studied to record the employment of some 17,000 manufacturing establishments and trace the movement of those relocating in the six-county area," Olson said. "Patterns of industrial location, or relocation, were thus determined by this information.

"How the future employment may be distributed throughout the region is also projected, as well as the amounts of land required in each county," Olson said. "The study also breaks down this projected employment by particular type of manufacturing industries.

"BUSINESSMEN and community leaders throughout the region can use this report to get a better picture of the potential for industrial development in their part of the metropolitan area," he concluded.

The Northeastern Illinois Planning Commission was established by the Illinois General Assembly in 1957 to respond to the need for orderly growth and development of the six-county area.

The study released Thursday is one of several background documents which will provide data for the comprehensive development plan which the commission is required to prepare for the metropolitan area.

Life Safety Code in Limbo After Decision by Court

The new State Life Safety Code designating stringent standards for all Illinois school buildings built before Jan. 1, 1955, is in a legal "limbo."

The legality of a special tax of five cents per $100 valuation, levied at least in part by many local school districts for next spring's tax bills, also is in question. The tax is designed to finance the safety code required alterations or remodeling.

The Illinois Supreme Court has upheld a Winnebago County Circuit Court decision of last December, that the safety code calling for remodeling and improving old school buildings was unconstitutional.

This specific case applied only to the Rockford school district but with the Supreme Court decision any school district in the state could file a separate suit, refer to the Winnebago County case, and probably be legally free from complying with the safety code.

THE PROBLEM arises in interpreting the Supreme Court decision because the state legislature adopted an amendment to the state school code which requires compliance with the new safety codes, both for schools 10 years old and for all schools built after July 1, 1965.

This legislation provides authority to the state superintendent of public instruction for enforcement of the safety codes for old and new schools. It was lack of this authority which was cited by the lower court in holding the code covering old buildings only unconstitutional.

The briefs filed with the Supreme Court did not contain any information about the new legislation which was enacted into law as of July 1.

Representatives of the state superintendent's office and the office of the attorney general are expected to request a rehearing on the case by the Supreme Court. N. E. Hutson, legal counsel to the state school superintendent, reported the attorney general had agreed to ask for such a rehearing to submit information on the new legislation.

IF THE REHEARING is denied, the "case is finished," according to one of the leading northwest area school attorneys, William Engelhardt of Inverness.

Engelhardt told Arlington Heights School District 25 that he felt the code would be upheld if the court does grant the rehearing. He stressed this was a "tentative opinion."

Under the new legislation, all schools built before 1955 must be surveyed by a registered architect or registered engineer, using the life safety code "as a guide."

Engelhardt further questioned just what is meant by the term, "as a guide." This is another problem faced by attorneys and school authorities in determining the exact meaning of the law and its status, he indicated.

THE LAW CALLS for completion of surveys of old school buildings by July 1, 1967. The school board then has until July 1, 1970, to make the revisions indicated. The law requires the board to give "first attention to the recommendations in the survey report having priority status."

In some cases the repairs required are extensive. The cost of repairs and remodeling at Arlington High School will be an estimated $207,750.

Schools are authorized to levy the special tax of up to 5 cents per $100 assessed valuation for each of three years. Some northwest area schools are levying the full amount—others are using only a small portion. Some school districts, such as Elk Grove District 59, have no buildings dating from before 1955.

Traffic Accident Rate Decreases 10 Per Cent

Traffic injuries and deaths in suburban Cook County are on the downgrade, according to figures released by sheriff's police for the period ending Sept. 30.

"The September drop is the sharpest decline for any single 30-day period since we began keeping these records," Ogilvie stated. "The number of accidents in September is the lowest in 1965. The previous low was set in June—a normally high month for traffic accidents."

THE RECORDS of the sheriff's police traffic section cover accidents in the unincorporated areas of the county. Since April, when an intensive drive was ordered on traffic, there has been a steady decrease in traffic accidents.

Ogilvie also stated that in September the sheriff's police department assumed an additional task according to a new state law signed by the governor on Aug. 10. Under terms of the new law, the sheriff's police will be responsible for impounding all vehicles used in committing a felony in Cook County. Jurisdiction under the new law includes Chicago.

During Sepgember—the first month of operation under the new law—the sheriff's police seized a total of 13 cars. Of the total six were turned over by the Chicago Police Department; 2 by Forest Park police; and five were seized by sheriff's officers.

DURING THE month Sheriff Ogilvie also reported that the number of Federal wagering stamps issued for all of Cook County hit the all-time low of eight. This figure is the lowest since the federal government began issuance of wagering stamps.

"This steady reduction in the number of wagering stamps is a source of satisfaction," Ogilvie stated. "It proves the syndicate knows it cannot 'do business' with this office—and that the 'old days' are gone!"

September also marked another jolt to organized crime as syndicate boss Joseph (Joey) Aiuppa was indicted by the grand jury on charges of conspiracy and attempted bribery. Aiuppa was arrested earlier in the year by Sheriff's police.

CRIME STATISTICS for September showed a total of 329 persons arrested by members of the sheriff's police department. A breakdown showed 205 persons arrested for felonies and misdemeanors, and 124 for juvenile offenses.

Arrests made by district police include one for forcible rape; four for robbery; 12 for burglary; 15 for theft; and 30 for aggravated and other assaults.

Division officers also apprehended two persons for fraud; 11 for vandalism; one for possession of stolen property; four for carrying weapons; 13 for sex offenses; five for gambling; 16 for disorderly conduct; one for possession of narcotics; nine for violation of liquor laws and 50 for driving under the influence of liquor.

Two adults and three juveniles were arrested and charged with auto theft during the month of September by sheriff's police, and stolen cars valued at more than $66,700 were recovered in the county. Other stolen property recovered by the department totaled $68,-441.

JUVENILE officers handled 124 cases involving 101 boys and 24 girls under the age of 18. Of these, 96 were handled within the department and released to the custody of their parents; 29 were held for the court. (B-10

Ecumenical Study Of Bible Planned

Through an inter-faith Bible study group, residents of Northwest communities will participate in world-wide ecumenical activities.

Rabbi Hillel Gamoran of Beth Tikvah Congregation, Hoffman Estates, will discuss the prophets of the Old Testament with Protestant, Catholic and Jewish participation on four Tuesdays at 8 p.m., Nov. 2, 9, 16 and 23.

The program, which will be held in the educational building of the First Presbyterian Church, 302 N. Dunton, Arlington Heights, is the fourth part of a continuing local series, "Bridges to Understanding," in which well-known ecumenists have participated.

MRS. THOMAS Grisell, 620 N. Highland, Arlington Heights, co-chairman of the inter-faith sponsors, sees the purpose of the conferences as two-fold, to strengthen the faith of participants and to encourage their understanding of other religions.

She points out, "I believe it is the firm convictions of the Protestant, Catholic and Jewish participants which will make free discussion possible. In this forum, we can openly hear and receive our brothers."

Anyone interested in joining the Bible study group may contact Mrs. Grisell, CL 3-7261 or her co-chairman, Mrs. Richard Frisbie, CL 3-8485.

Shared Time Subject of Oct. 28 Talk

Dr. Edward E. Keener, president of the Citizens Schools Committee, will speak at the fall meeting of the northwest suburban chapter of Americans United (Protestants and Other Americans United for the Separation of Church and State).

Dr. Keener, assistant superintendent of Chicago public schools in charge of personnel from 1948 to 1952, will talk on "Shared Time Between Public and Parochial Schools."

The meeting will be held at 7:30 p.m. Thursday, Oct. 28, at Prospect Christian Church, across from Randhurst Shopping Center at 302 E. Euclid, Prospect Heights.

Dedicate Insurance Firm HQ Wednesday

THE MACHINE ROOM housing noisy punch card and automated stenographic equipment is enclosed by sound proof glass walls. The clattering within cannot be heard in the outer office. Humidifiers suspended from the ceiling control the atmosphere in the room and protect the complicated electrical equipment from excessive moisture or dryness. New computer system will be installed in this room in about one and a half years say company officials.

High Officials to Attend Ceremonies

by EUGENE NOJEK
Staff Writer

Top officials of Northwestern Mutual Insurance Co. will be here next Wednesday to participate in a ceremony dedicating its new Midwestern department headquarters at 1200 N. State Road, Arlington Heights.

Visiting from Northwestern Mutual's home office will be Howard D. Heath, president of Northwestern Mutual, and John H. Bolton, vice president and treasurer.

Among officials who had planned to attend were Gov. Otto Kerner who could not make it because of his trip to the Far East Nov. 1. Sen. Paul Douglas indicated his intention to come if Congress adjourned in time.

Other officials attending will be Illinois Director of Insurance John F. Bolton, State Rep. Eugene F. Schlickman, Chicago Postmaster Harry H. Semrow and Nike base commander Col. Truman F. Cook.

ARLINGTON Heights Village Pres. John G. Woods as well as other local officials, businessmen and bankers will be on hand for the dedication.

The new structure houses the property and casualty firm's large Midwestern department which had been quartered in the Chicago Loop. For 24 years offices were in the Bankers' Building at 105 W. Adams. They were moved into the new building Aug. 7.

The Northwestern is licensed to do business in all 50 states and the Dominion of Canada. It is represented by 10 department offices and over 4,000 agents.

The Arlington Heights building is headquarters for the Eastern-Southern division headed by Woodrow W. Hathaway. From here he supervises the Midwestern department in addition to the departmental offices in Chatham, N. J., Raleigh, N. C. and Dallas, Texas.

IT IS ALSO the office for the Midwestern department serving 825 agents in 10 Midwest states from West Virginia to Minnesota and Kansas. Headed by Harold G. Holmes of Roselle, the office employs 104 persons and processes $7 million in premiums a year.

Architects for the building were G. Milton Small, Raleigh, N. C., and Joe L. Bennett of Arlington Heights. Slezak Construction Co. was the general contractor and plumbing was handled by R. C. Caruso Co.

The six-acre building site is surrounded on three sides by residential development and zoning. The village zoned it for office and research as part of its campaign to attract compatible industry and broaden the tax base. (SS

W. P. Taylor Is Office Manager

Wendell P. Taylor, 4450 Hoover St., Rolling Meadows, is office manager of Northwestern Mutual's Midwestern department headquarters.

A native of Ohio, Taylor attended Ohio State University and Franklin University. With accounting and bookkeeping experience, he joined Northwestern in 1944 in its central department, then located in Columbus, Ohio. He progressed through junior and senior department office manager positions.

In 1949, Taylor was transferred to Chicago as an assistant underwriter. Soon he advanced to the position of department office manager. He was transferred to Seattle in 1960 as a direct assistant to an executive and returned to the Midwestern department in 1964.

Electronic Marvels Perform Office Tasks

Northwestern Mutual's Arlington Heights office features some of the most modern automated equipment and methods which are revolutionizing the insurance world.

The glass walled, sound proof machine room on the upper level now houses IBM punch card equipment and a "Flexiwriter."

IBM machines punch premium and policy information on cards. The punch cards are shipped to the Seattle home office where the information is fed into the company's computer.

The unique "Flixiwriter" automatically types pre-set information onto policies while a typist adds other data like names, addresses and dates. The machine combines the information on tape which "memorizes" it. In Seattle, the home office computer stores this combined information for future use.

IN ADDITION to being sound proof, the machine room is equipped with a computer that keeps the humidity inside at a constant level of about 40 per cent. Office Manager Wendell P. Taylor explained, "A very dry atmosphere results in a great deal of static electricity which will affect the computers we are planning to install. On the other hand, high humidity is bad for the punch cards."

When completed, Northwestern's computer system envisaged by Taylor will consist of a master computer in Seattle and "satellite" computers in each of the ten regional offices. The satellite to be installed here will be a reading, printing and transmitting device connected by wire to the master computer.

It will transmit information to the Seattle home office and print data coming back.

"SUPPOSE," SAID Taylor, "we are going to issue 100 policies. In the morning we can feed information on the applicants into our satellite computer here. The information would go by wire to the IBM 360 computers in the home office which would compute the premiums. At a given time our equipment here would be switched on and the master computer would feed back the complete information on the policies."

In one step the system will compute premiums, type policies and invoices and furnish necessary statistical information which would otherwise have to be done step by step by the clerical staff.

Harold G. Holmes, Midwestern department manager, says the system revolutionizes the company's services to its agents. The company can now issue policies, instead of the agents doing it, and send bills directly to the policyholder. This results in savings and better service for the policyholders. (SS

Midwest Manager Is Illinois Native

HAROLD G. HOLMES

Northwestern Mutual's Midwestern department manager Harold G. Holmes is a native of Illinois and attended Northwestern and DePaul Universities.

Holmes executed a variety of assignments since he came to Northwestern in 1945. With a background of direct sales plus 12 years of underwriting experience with a midwestern fire insurance company, he started his Northwestern career as an underwriter in the Midwestern department.

In 1950 Holmes advanced to a chief fire underwriter position and also supervised inland marine underwriting.

HOLMES WAS named assistant department manager under Howard D. Heath in 1958. He succeeded Heath as department manager in 1960 when Heath was transferred to the home office destined to become Northwestern's next president.

A member of the board of directors of the Arlington Heights Chamber of Commerce, Holmes participates in various industry committees involving nationwide insurance activities as well as being actively engaged in furthering insurance education.

He resides at 206 E. Woodworth Place, Roselle, with his wife Florence, and their three sons. (SS

Novel Air Conditiong Idea Used

A completely new concept is utilized in the air conditioning system which will keep the temperature in Northwestern Mutual's office quarters at a comfortable level the year round. The system was designed by Lowell W. Villars of Arlington Heights.

As explained by Joe L. Bennett, associate architect for the building, both the chiller and furnace run year around feeding warm and cold air into a duct system. Due to the lack of partitions the building is divided into different air conditioning "zones," like areas near south side windows, the entrance areas, etc.

FOR EACH zone there are "mixing boxes" connected to the hot and cold air ducts so that the air is mixed before flowing into the room. Each mixing box has an independent thermostat which controls the mixture of hot and cold air and different temperature air can be fed to different parts of the building.

Since air conditioning requirements vary from place to place within a room, especially a large room, this new system does away with hot and cold air pockets and provides an even temperature throughout the building. (SS

New Building Blends Usefulness and Beauty

In discussing their reasoning behind the design for Northwestern's Midwestern department offices, Woodrow H. Hathaway, Eastern-Southern division manager, and Harold G. Holmes, department manager, emphasize that they wished their building to combine function with aesthetic appeal.

Their selection has resulted in one which not only suits their needs but also has a pleasant atmosphere and is attractive to area residents.

AMONG FEATURES of the building one may mention:

—Glass exterior walls are less expensive, require little maintenance and provide more light than other walls. They also have the effect of "bringing the outside in" which gives a pleasant atmosphere. —The roof overhang protects and shades the windows. In addition to saving window washing it reduces sun glare and cuts down on air conditioning expenses.

—The absence of partitions reduces sound reverberations, leaves more free space and gives a pleasant feeling of spaciousness.

—A bi-level structure requires no bulky pilasters for support. Narrow steel beams suffice, leaving more free space.

—Heated sidewalks eliminate the need for snow shoveling.

HOLMES SAID Northwestern made a conscientious effort to provide ideal working conditions for employees. He explained that an attractive place to work brings better employees and that happy employees are more efficient.

Of the features devoted to employees' convenience the most obvious are the cafeteria with a kitchen, the lounge and the walled patio. Located on the south side of the lower level, the employees lounge and cafeteria face the patio.

The south walls are glass so persons sitting in the cafeteria can look out on the patio. The patio is sunken and sheltered from winds, the street and passers-by. There are benches and walks and when landscaping is finished it will be a pleasant place to relax in privacy during lunch periods. (SS WALLED PATIO ON THE SOUTH SIDE is sunken below ground level and will soon be landscaped. Cafeteria doors are on the lower right. The center walk leads from the south entrance to a ramp to the parking lot. The patio was specifically designed to be on the same level as the cafeteria to give diners a pleasant view of the outside while providing some sense of seclusion from passing traffic. Also noticeable are the roof overhang, upper level walkway and slender supporting pillars. (SS UPPER LEVEL OF THE GLASS and steel structure is devoted to office space. In addition to providing more work space and allowing freedom of movement, the absence of partitions and cumbersome pillars give a feeling of spaciousness and a light atmosphere. To the right is the glass enclosed machine room and in the right rear along the east wall are individual offices. (SS

President's Career Began in Mailroom

Northwestern president Howard Heath is well known to many people in the Chicago area. For nearly 15 years, from 1945 to 1960, he supervised Northwestern's Midwest operations in several different capacities.

Heath started his Northwestern career in 1923 in the home office mail department in Seattle. In 1926, he went into claim work which was to occupy a large part of his Northwestern years.

IN 1932, HEATH was sent to California as an adjuster and later a special agent. He came back to the Home office claim department in 1936 as manager. Appointment to assistant secretary came in 1938 and to assistant vice president in 1944.

His first Chicago assignment was supervisor of Eastern claims operations. In 1951, he was named manager of the Midwestern department. The creation of an Eastern-Southern division to supervise the departments in the eastern half of the United States brought Heath the responsibility of division manager.

He was elected vice president in 1960 and returned to Seattle the same year. In 1961 he was elected President of Northwestern Mutual. (SS World War II interrupted his career and he spent four years with the U. S. Navy.

In 1948 Snyder was transferred to the company's Washington department as manager of the Spokane claims office. Another transfer in 1951 moved him to the Midwestern claims office in Chicago. He became department claims manager in 1953.

SNYDER is a member of the Toastmasters, the Claim Managers Council of Chicago and the California Bar Association.

He lives at 249 Oneida, Elmhurst, with his wife, Verna, and three children.

John Reid, Assistant department claims manager, is a native of Washington state and received his B.A. and L.L.B. degrees from the University of Washington.

He joined Northwestern in 1949 as an adjuster in the home office claims department. Transferred to the Washington department in 1955, he became district claims manager in Bellingham, Wash. and the following year the district claims manager in Tacoma.

A transfer in 1960 to the Eastern department advanced Reid to department claims manager in Chatham, N. J. In 1964, he came to Chicago as Assistant Department Claim Manager.

Reid resides at 514 N. Chestnut, Arlington Heights with his wife Pat and four children.(SS

Building Replaces 111-Year-Old House

One of Arlington Heights' oldest buildings had to give way to one of its newest when the Northwestern Mutual Insurance Co. chose the site at 1200 N. State Road for its $575,000 Midwestern department headquarters.

According to records of the Arlington Heights Historical Society, the old house at 1146 N. State Road was built in 1852 by Thomas Allison.

It stood 111 years before the wreckers demolished it.

THE MODERN GLASS and steel structure replacing it represents the advance trend in office quarters. Architect for Northwestern's new midwestern office is G. Hamilton Small of Raleigh, N. C., whose similar design for Northwestern's Raleigh office won an award of the year for small office buildings in 1964.

Associate architect was Joe L. Bennett, 1800 E. Northwest Highway, Arlington Heights. Bennett was in charge of construction and handled heating, air conditioning and design modifications to adapt the building to local codes and conditions. Commenting on Bennett's part, Woodrow W. Hathaway, Northwestern's Eastern-Southern regional manager, said, "Architect Small was in Raleigh, and Bennett kept the contractors going and saw that everything was going right. He made a valuable contribution to getting the structure built."

The striking new all air-conditioned structure occupies a four-acre plot paralleling State Road. The 32,000 square foot building is constructed of reinforced concrete, structural steel, masonry and glass.

BOTTOM LEVEL walls, set partly below ground level, are of reinforced concrete while the upper level exterior utilizes tinted glass with aluminum frames. A terrace in front makes the building appear to be set upon a podium. The walkway around the upper level and the roof overhang add to the podium effect, though landscaping and additional trees will mollify the straight lines.

The main entrance on the upper level faces State Road to the east and is approached from the south by a walk and stairs. The upper level interior follows a no partition scheme and is devoted to office space. There are individual offices on the east wall and a machine room housing computer and other noisy equipment is enclosed by sound proof glass on the west side.

The liwer level is entered by crossing a sunken walled patio. The lower level includes employees lounge and cafeteria, mail room and supply operations. At present, two thirds of the lower level are unused leaving plenty of room for future expansion.

An 80 car parking lot will provide agents, policyholders and employees with convenient off-street parking with easy accessibility to the building. Plans allow for expansion of the parking lot and the building. Northwestern also owns two acres to the south of the parking lot for future use. (SS

Northwestern Success Story Began at Turn of Century

"Sixty-one years ago two men planted an idea in a remote corner of the United States. The insurance company they founded without one cent of capital has never borrowed a dollar from any source. Today a multi-million dollar corporation, it is performing an outstanding economic service in every state of the Union and in the Provinces of Western Canada."

The quotation is from "Men and Mutuality," the history of the Northwestern Mutual Insurance Co. written in 1962 by Jack Bertholf of the company's education department.

Most major insurance companies have their origins in the Eastern states. Northwestern went contrary to that tradition — they pioneered eastward and today are licensed in all states and in Canada.

IN ITS 1964 report the Alfred M. Best Co., noted insurance analyst, said of Northwestern:

"The company is one of the leading and most outstanding mutual insurance organizations underwriting a general fire and casualty business in the United States. . . . A model insurance institution, the company's success is attributable to a combination of prudent business practices, diversified underwriting commitments and efficient management. The operating performance over the past five years was typical of historical accomplishments."

The Northwestern success story began at the turn of the century when a young insurance man from Oregon named Frank J. Martin teamed with a former college classmate, Corwin S. Shank, an attorney, to found the infant company in Seattle.

THE BEGINNING was obscure. Martin and Shank shared a one-room inside office with a real estate firm in Seattle. With Shank handling the legal aspects of incorporation and Martin scouring the country for the necessary prospective policyholders, the company was incorporated in April, 1901, under the name of Northwestern Mutual Fire Association.

It grew by leaps and bounds. By July, 1901 it had issued 1,000 certificates covering $600,000 of insurance and by October it had reached $1 million.

In following years rapid business growth kept forcing the company into larger quarters, from the one room to three and soon to a whole floor. In 1933 Northwestern moved to its present 13-story modern office in downtown Seattle. The building is identified by a 65-foot beacon which has become a landmark and a part of the Seattle night scene.

Northwestern has become a leader in the inspection service rendered its policyholders for the elimination of hazards and the prevention of fire. Over the years this has resulted in the saving of many lives and the preservation of millions of dollars in property values.

THE OFFICIAL name change from Northwestern Mutual Fire Association to the present Northwestern Mutual Insurance Co. was made in 1955.

The company's wholly owned subsidiary, Northwestern Security Insurance Co., was incorporated in 1960. This company provides policyholders with the automated "Pacesetter" Automobile and Homeowner's policies at substantial savings.

The steady growth of Northwestern is shown by its assets which were only $3,000 at the end of the first year's operation. As of Dec. 31, 1964, the company had admitted assets of $100,932,344 and a policyholders surplus of $40,564,740. Dividends returned to policyholders in the past five years amounted to more than $21,000,000.

They have a general policyholders rating of "A plus" and a financial rating of AAAAA, according to the analysis of the Alfred M. Best Co.

THE COMPANY'S investment program emphasizes stability—76.7 per cent of its investments are in government, state, municipal and other revenue bonds and only 7 per cent are in common stocks.

For example, in Arlington Heights, Elk Grove Village and Hoffman Estates, Northwestern has invested a total of $145,000 in civic developments. This not only gives policyholders secure value for their premium dollars but also contributes to the growth of these communities.

To give its agents a complete program of insurance, Northwestern completed an affiliation last month with Olympic National Life Insurance Co. of Seattle. The affiliation will add life, health and accident insurance to the company's line of protection.

Howard D. Heath, president of Northwestern, stated, "Our entry into the life insurance field has been under consideration for some time. To take such a step through association with Olympic National is most gratifying to all of us at Northwestern as we have admired the progress of Olympic for many years and hold its management in high regard. The scope of Northwestern's insurance services will be enlarged by our association with Olympic and it gives us a substantial investment in the life insurance field." (SS

Division Manager Rose From Ranks

WOODROW W. HATHAWAY

Woodrow W. Hathaway, vice president and manager of the Eastern-Southern division of Northwestern Mutual, is a product of North Carolina. He joined the company's Southeastern department in Raleigh, N.C., as an underwriter in 1936.

In regular progression Hathaway became special agent, assistant department manager junior, and assistant department manager senior. In 1946 he was named manager of the Southwestern department in Dallas, Texas.

Hathaway moved to Chicago in 1960 to fill the Eastern-Southern division manager's chair vacated by Howard Heath who was transferred to Seattle. He was elected vice president in 1962.

HATHAWAY NOW makes his home at 5891 N. Kilbourn, Chicago, with his wife, Margie Rose, and two children.

Hathaway's active interest in the insurance field is indicated by his membership in the Mortgaged Propoerty Insurance Committee of American Mutual Insurance Alliance and in both the Illinois and the National Association of Mutual Insurance Agents Inc. He is also an alternate on the governing board of North Carolina Fire Insurance Rating Bureau. (SS

Why Arlington Hts. Was Chosen for HQ

Northwestern Mutual Insurance Co.'s move to Arlington Heights is mutually beneficial to both the community and the company.

On Northwestern's part the move, after 24 years in the Chicago Loop, was precipitated by the advantage of a suburban location and a desire to "identify" with a community and have the community identify itself with the firm.

Harold G. Holmes, Northwestern's midwestern department manager, explained that as a tenant in their former location in the Banker's Building they had space problems.

"As we grew we had difficulty getting adequate space. We wanted our own building designed for our own functions and with room for expansion," he stated.

HOLMES ALSO noted, "The quality of our service to the public and to our agents could be no better than the quality of our employees. Therefore we wanted to establish a new headquarters in a quality community where we could get the quality employes we need."

The choice of Arlington Heights was a reasoned one based on Holmes' recommendation.

Holmes said they began their search for a new location by consulting the Chicago Metropolitan Planning Commission. The commission indicated that the northwestern suburbs were desirable on the basis of their high rate of growth.

They then obtained population figures from the U. S. Census Bureau. From these figures they selected the Arlington Heights area as the one with the type of population from which Northwestern could draw the caliber of employees it wanted.

NORTHWESTERN'S midwestern headquarters on State Road has become a major employer in Arlington Heights.

Most of the 104 employees there are clerical and — as pointed out by Office Manager Wendell P. Taylor — fully 75 per cent of the clerical force is from Arlington Heights itself while about 90 per cent are from the area.

Though the move from the Loop office to Arlington Heights was made Aug. 7, the firm anticipated a turnover in its clerical force and began hiring local employees as early as last January. The company paid commuting fares to the loop for these employees so they would have a trained force ready for the turnover in August.

NEEDLESS TO say, the new office building will add significantly to local tax rolls. It represents a total investment of three quarters of a million dollars in land, building, furniture and equipment and landscaping, according to Holmes. The building itself cost approximately $575,000.

Other investments by Northwestern will also contribute to local growth. Arlington Heights, Elk Grove Village and Hoffman Estates have already benefited by Northwestern's investment of $145,000 in their civic development bonds. (SS

Federal Aid Proposal

Reading Improvement Program Falters—Insufficient Funds

A 10-district cooperative reading improvement program being planned by elementary and high school districts in Wheeling, Elk Grove, Schaumburg and Palatine Townships appeared "out" this week.

The project, to be financed by federal funds under the 1965 elementary and secondary bill, was only announced last week.

THE STATE recently ruled that for schools in Cook County only, a special financial distribution formula would be used. This would give Chicago schools about $32.8 million of the total $34 million allocation for Cook County for educational programs aimed at children from low-income families.

As of this week, spokesmen from the Cook County school superintendent's office reported that the state had indicated it was "taking under advisement again" the Cook County distribution. It was stressed that the ruling by the state was "not definite yet," in spite of recent written instructions.

Under the basic formula provided in the federal bill, local schools would have had a total of approximately $616,000 for remedial reading or reading improvement programs developed by each individual school district. Under present regulations set by the state, this would be reduced to about $23,000.

WITH CERTAIN restrictions, the law permits state school superintendents to use a formula other than the base formula. The base formula includes all children 5 to 17 from families with less than $2,000 annual income (from the 1960 census) plus all children receiving state-federal aid to dependent children.

This would be an estimated total of 2,238 students in the four townships, from an estimated total enrollment of 75,000 in public and parochial schools.

This is the formula to be used throughout Illinois except Cook County. In Cook County alone only children receiving ADC will be counted in disbursing total allocated funds. Since 96.54 per cent of the county ADC students live in Chicago, the total allocation for all suburban Cook County would amount to little more than three per cent of the total funds.

There are only 72 ADC students in the four-township area.

OBVIOUS Democratic political pressure is being used to speed the estimated $30 million (or more under the new regulations) for Chicago's schools.

There is also an advantage to the Republican-controlled office of the superintendent of public instruction in Springfield. The state office will collect one per cent of each program approved. By the quick approval of the massive Cook County federal grant the state office would collect $340,000 soon—a big help in administering the program in the balance of the state.

Local schools are expected to request about half of the estimated $23,000 available under the program if the ADC ruling stands. This would be used for a survey and investigation into the best joint reading improvement program possible with more limited funds.

The reading improvement proposal is aimed at helping students from low-income families in the 10 districts. Although students from this group would receive primary benefit from such a program, it would be open to all students needing such educational help. This would include students from parochial schools if federal aid is used.

VIRGIL BASS, chairman of Norwesco, a community group fighting poverty in the four townships, called the use of only ADC figures "unfair."

He said state rent restrictions for ADC families meant the majority from the suburban area had to move to Chicago in order to find low-price rentals. "People who do not want to leave the suburban area often do not use ADC help and make their own way the best they can, and these families do not show up in these figures," Bass stressed.

He called the inability to read and understand English a major problem with culturally or economically disadvantaged children. The proposal, which probably will have to be abandoned, would give a "concentrated approach" to this problem, he explained.

"It is a great disappointment" that the remedial reading program may be gone," he concluded. (B10

Respond to Plea

GOP Clubs Collect Toys for Viet Nam

In response to the plea of Capt. Donald W. Kroeber, the Republican Clubs of Wheeling Township are organizing a collection of toys for the children of the Can Gio sub sector of South Viet Nam.

Captain Kroeber is head of a U. S. military advisory team stationed about 25 miles from Saigon. A letter written to his father, Walter Kroeber, 709 S. Walnut, Arlington Heights, was published in last week's Paddock papers. In it he said, "I don't think I have ever seen a child in this district with a toy."

HE ASKED that toys be sent to him for distribution to the children there. Plastic articles only should be sent, he said, since metal rusts quickly there.

Mrs. Franklin Friday, 403 N. Elmhurst, Mount Prospect, is serving as chairman of the project. She is president of the Wheeling Township Women's Republican Club.

Persons wishing to contribute toys may leave them with Mrs. Friday or with the presidents of the other participating clubs. They are Thomas H. Hanlon, Regular Republican Club, 1505 E. Hawthorne, Arlington Heights; Bud Matt, Young Republican Club, 1124 N. Dunton, Arlington Heights; and Thomas W. Novotny, Republican Workshop, 201 N. Yale, Arlington Heights.

TOYS MAY also be left with Mrs. Harry J. Jenkins, 915 N. Belmont, Arlington Heights; Mrs. T. P. Johnson, 902 W. Miner, Arlington Heights; and Mrs. Jerry Van Heltebrake, 4405 Lake-Cook Road, Northbrook.

On Saturday they may be deposited at Republican Headquarters, Mount Prospect Plaza Shopping Center, Rand and Central Roads, Mount Prospect.

Anyone who wishes to have toys picked up may call Mrs. Friday at CL 9-3325. The clubs will also accept small cash donations to cover the cost of mailing the toys to Can Gio. (A15

Want Zip Code on Auto License Forms

Secretary of State Paul Powell has announced it was most important applicants for motor vehicle license plates include the zip code number in the space provided for on the 1966 applications.

"Including the Zip Code will greatly reduce the number of steps usually required in the plates reaching the applicant under the old system and will certainly speed delivery on 1966 plates," Secretary Powell said.

Secretary Powell said as many as 3,500,000 license plates will be dispatched through the Springfield post office and Postmaster William E. McElroy of Springfield has urged all applicants to include this information on their 1966 applications.

Hawkeyes, Cowboys Win Crucial Games

by PHILIP E. LEONE

The Hawkeyes and Cowboys moved into first place positions last week in the Mount Prospect Midget Football program.

The Hawkeyes used a 13-0 victory over the Wildcats to take undisputed first in the Bantam division, and the Cowboys blanked the Redskins 18-0 to gain a one-game Junior division lead.

Norm Smith scored both touchdowns for the Hawkeyes in their victory. He counted on runs of 25 and one yards.

The offense was paced by Bruce Bloomquist with fine blocking contributed by Frank Herald and Mark Storhaug. John Byers, George Bregar, and Jay Creekmore checked the Wildcat offense.

Larry Branchle and Terry Cherwin pulled in several passes for the Wildcats. Steve Spielman, Tom Hermanson and Jay Loos starred on defense.

IN THE JUNIOR Division feature Scott Szala scored three times on runs of 15 and 45 yards and on a 25 yard pass from Jim Skuban to pace the Cowboys.

Skuban sparkled with his passing, running and defensive work. Dave Abbott and John Lohse turned in some solid blocks, and Bruce Brown, Mike Dittmar and Bob Haenisch were stickouts on defense.

Jensen, McNeeley, and Peterson were outstanding for the Redskins on offense. Chupeck, Stanton and Carroll also turned in strong games.

IN OTHER BANTAM League play the Spartans came to life to rout the Lions, 42-0 as John Stavropoulos scored four touchdowns. Phil Leone scored on a four-yard run, and Ray Meinsen took a pass from Stavropoulos for six points.

Hager, Hempel, Helfenbein, Buikema, Lay, and Dunsing provided some solid blocking.

The Panthers edged the Badgers 2-0 when guards Touhy and Czekaj tackled the ballcarrier in the end zone. Chuck Murdock, Dave Schachner, and Jim Teichert paced the Panther offense with Dennis Kennedy, Czekaj and Touhy defensive stars.

THE BADGERS were pleased with the play of Pat Dooley, Ted Vogt, Bob Moore, Bill Kidd, Paul Pauluzzi, and Bill Meyers.

The Buckeyes blanked the Wolverines 22-0 and Robb threw touchdown passes to DiSanti and Chuipek. He also ran for one touchdown of 30 yards. Pisanti caught four passes for 80 yards. Italia and Wegerer tackled a Wolverine runner for a safety.

Jim Underwood and John Frasch turned in some strong blocking, and Underwood, Reedy and Jesperson were superb on defense.

Chisholm scored the Viking touchdown on a 40 yard run. Broeren and Luke made over 100 yards rushing, and Digangi and Parker hit hard on defense.

THE EAGLES tripped up the Browns, 20-7, as Scott Cowan, Dick Solley, and Don Divito tallied the touchdowns. Mark Hager threw some key blocks and was steady. Jim Johannsen, Dan Matter and Roy Schmoll were defensive stalwarts.

Craig Gwartowski scored for the Browns on a one-yard run. Keith Mundt and Pat Croke also showed some hard running, and John Layer, Jeff Pollard, Larry Reyniers and Craig Graham were tops on defense.

Federal Aid Proposal

Reading Improvement Program Falters—Insufficient Funds

by HELENE BRISTOL
Education Editor

A "prestige" educational and service center for the 10 elementary and high school districts of Palatine, Elk Grove, Schaumburg and Wheeling Townships is on the way—maybe.

The 10 school district superintendents have developed plans for a cooperative demonstration "service center" to be housed temporarily for a two-year period in the new Elk Grove High School.

Funds for the center would come until Title III of the new federal education act, aimed at providing demonstration centers or exemplary programs to improve state and local educational standards.

HONORED AT NORTHWEST Community Hospital's recent third annual awards program for teen volunteers were (left to right) Judy Siewenie, Leslie Cox and Sandy Vasy. Judy, a senior at Forest View High School, had a total of 504 hours of volunteer service, Leslie, a Prospect High senior had 764 hours and Sandy, a University of Wisconsin freshman, served a total of 893 hours.

THE LOCAL schools would be competing with schools in several suburban areas. Some areas known to be preparing demonstration or service center programs are New Trier-Deerfield (Wilmette - Winnetka), Evanston, Proviso (Maywood area) and York-Willowbrook (Elmhurst, Addison, Villa Park).

The local four-township service center would provide for a wide variety of materials, personnel and services to all 10 cooperating school districts and to students attending non-public schools. The area includes an estimated 75,000 students, the number recommended by the state for a sufficiently strong program.

Final proposals would be tailored to the amount of funds made available. According to Supt. H. L. Slichenmyer of High School District 214, all of the proposals for the service center are "objectives" which local schools would have eventually.

THE TWO specific areas of present educational strength are the production of instructional materials other than textbooks at District 214, and the quality, variety and effective in-service training programs in all 10 school districts. This was the comment by Dr. Donald Thomas, principal of the Elk Grove High School, who is developing the general Title III proposal.

The in-service training programs of Elk Grove Elementary District 59 are particularly good, Thomas noted.

The proposed service center would have a wide variety of special personnel for use as requested in the 10 districts. These experts would provide consultation services, develop in-service training programs or assist in special programs at the district or school level.

Such experts probably would include a reading specialist, an audio-visual specialist, a psychologist, psychometrist or test analysis specialist.

A SECOND service would be production of all types of instructional materials including film strips, overhead projection materials, other types of audio-visual materials, unusual or non-commercial models, pictures, films, taped instructional TV films or taped audio lesson units.

An instructional materials library, perhaps eventually the largest in the state or region, would include the latest publications on educational subjects, teaching and administration. The library would also have instructional models, commercial materials and textbooks, with samples to be furnished by publishers and manufacturers.

The library staff would also be available for cataloging for all school districts. This would provide a central cataloging service for books, text books, film strips and other materials purchased by individual districts.

The final service presently proposed would be a research development section. This would provide personnel for research techniques at the individual districts and in general educational research desired by the area schools.

FUTURE EXPANSION of the service center would provide a data processing center. This would enable local schools to develop statistical records, tests of what children do showing the low and high spots, results of attendance procedures, pupil registration and other similar programs where speedy data development would be of major help.

Another proposal for the future would be a reading or learning clinic. This would provide personnel and facilities for testing individual students with learning problems and mapping out a program which would enable the child to succeed in school.

Thomas stressed the entire service center program would be tailored to fit whatever funds might be made available and to provide what the various districts want.

THE GENERAL service center proposal was to be studied by the 10 school superintendents and desired changes made. Then all 10 superintendents, if possible, would take the preliminary report to Springfield for discussion and recommendations from state-level specialists working with Title III. With these comments, a final proposal would be prepared and submitted to individual school boards for approval. The proposal would then be sent to the state for approval and transmission on to the federal government for consideration.

20th Century Efficiency?

County Government to Face Scrutiny

Suburb Solon Sparks Probe

by PAT HENSEL
Staff Writer

There is no loud hue and cry to tell the people of urbia-suburbia whether they are being governed efficiently and economically.

Apparently, the only way they are going to find out, if they are interested, will be through the not-so-gradual evolution which is forcing county governments to take a hard look at themselves.

There is a big job to do in the counties outside of Cook. The question is looming large in many minds: can the counties do it?

The whole ruckus was raised early this year by the salty state representative from Bensenville — William Redmond.

THE BOLD Democrat from the Republican county of DuPage dared to try to push into law the requirement that township counties redistrict, and elect county board members from the new districts.

He said township counties are too cumbersome and too expensive. He has since amended this charge to say that township counties are too cumbersome and there's too much temptation to become too expensive.

At present, many non-Cook county boards are membered by township supervisors and assistants.

Redmond wants to return township supervisors to township duties only, wants to eliminate all assistant supervisors in the state, and wants the people to elect a county chairman at-large.

His plan really shook DuPage for a while, and similar tremors were felt from Lake, Will and Kane counties, where boards are even larger.

Under the plan, DuPage would be cut from a 31-member part-time to an 11-member full-time board; Lake from 37 to nine; and Kane and Will from more than four dozen members to little more than half a dozen.

REDMOND BACKED down a little on the "too expensive" argument after he began to add the salaries of full-time district commissioners, plus offices, plus secretaries, plus expert advisors, plus private automobiles. He wound up with a pretty expensive proposition.

Supervisors, too, began to add up the Pros and cons. At second glance, the idea didn't seem so bad to many of them.

If you ask Redmond to name those supervisors who publicly decry and privately covet the proposed setup, the poker-faced legislator looks very poker-faced indeed.

HIS STAND simply is: "County government is fast approaching the problems presented by intensely populated communities. I feel that it's time to bring our government in line so it can do the job that's visualized."

That's pretty fancy talk for Bill Redmond. When he's more relaxed he says, "The fact is, per diem is a very, very foolish way to pay these people, and especially when we really need a more efficient type government."

In an aside, he charged "per diem encourages meetings which aren't necessary, and supervisors can attend these meetings for the sole purpose of boosting their collections."

Concurring with Redmond's ideas on the subject are the Illinois Township Officials' Assn. and the Illinois Taxpayers' Assn.

DUPAGE COUNTY has nine townships, nine township supervisors, and 22 assistant supervisors. The assistants are not assistants, in fact. They are elected to the county board solely to represent every 12,500 population, and have no township duties. All are Republicans.

Supervisors meet in regular session twice a month, as the forest preserve commission once a month, in special or call meetings once or more a month, and in committee meetings.

There are 18 standing committees for the county board and about eight for the forest preserve district. Each supervisor is a member of several committees — the average is from four to eight — and the committees meet on an average of once a week.

Lake County's Board Chairman Kenneth Henke believes recent attacks against boards in township counties are politically inspired. He said.

"A Democrat told me a while back: 'We could get rid of about 2,400 Republican supervisors in Illinois (by forcing the remap).' I suppose that's exaggerated, but it still shows the whole thing is political."

HENKE IS convinced the remap will come to pass, though he said he thinks it would be a shame for Lake County.

"We don't really have a problem in our county. Neither does DuPage. But, Winnebago has problems—too much rural representation compared with urban."

Lake County has 37 supervisors on its county board. They meet once a month in regular board sessions, and four times a year as forest preserve commissioners.

About 12 standing committees and four forest preserve committees meet every week or two. Supervisors are elected mostly on non-partisan tickets, but the actual Republican sympathizers predominate by a ratio of about eight to one.

"We work in harmony," Henke said, "but we're going to study the problem and try to help our legislators with constructive ideas."

ONE OF THESE legislators is Francis J. Berry, Republican state representative from Libertyville.

"I don't think you'd get a more efficient form of government by redistricting. I think it's sometimes unfortunate when you get an area that's over-represented, but I'd hate to see a departure from local participation."

Is the Lake County board efficient enough to hanle the problems that arise? "The government is only as good as the people you elect," he answered.

"Degree of efficiency depends on the people who serve. It's up to the people to elect people to do a reasonably good job. If we change the boundary lines, we won't necessarily get better people to serve."

Berry said he's sick and tired of the "trend of removing government from the people. It's not as responsive to the people when it's not close."

HIS DEPARTING shot summed up his feeling on the subject: "Who says nine people can do a better job than 37. It's a moot question as far as I'm concerned."

It's not a moot question for Eugene Schlickman, Republican state representative from Arlington Heights. He signed Redmond's bill, supported it on the House floor, and was one of only three Republican legislators who voted for it.

"It would be the most efficient kind of county government. What you have now is unwieldy. When you have a lot of committees, a lot of things get lost."

Besides, he said, "Each township should be equally represented according to the one-man, one-vote rule. There's no question that it's coming. You'd have fewer people setting policy but they'd be doing it on a more representative basis.

"Furthermore, township supervisors ought to devote themselves to township business."

Elbert Droegemueller of Itasca has been an Addison township assistant supervisor for about 13 years. He's in the plumbing, heating and hardware business in his hometown.

Among other local community activities, he is president of the Itasca Fire Protection District. On the county board, he is chairman of the building committee.

"Our record speaks for itself," he proclaimed. "I think we're the most efficient board DuPage County has ever had."

Unwieldy? "No, definitely not.

"OUR COMMITTEES are really working. Boards in other counties don't work like we do. We're debt-free. We have a lot of new buildings and we didn't have to go into bonded indebtedness. We've been first in a lot of things...we've even done some things before Cook County."

Then, why the big campaign by certain people to change the county setup? "Politics. Definitely a political maneuver," Droegemueller answered.

"With the other setup, men would lose their enthusiasm, and the whole board would go political," he concluded.

A Chicago-based businessman from Addison Township — Assistant Supervisor William Toerpe — takes a different view of the county board.

He concurs that it's working well enough now, "but there definitely will have to be some sort of 'arrangement' to take care of future growth."

THE DAY WILL come, he mused, "when DuPage will fall into the Cook category, with a smaller board." Asked when he thought this might happen, he said, "After the next (1970) census for sure."

Toerpe believes that township and county government should not be the domain of the same elected officials.

He said there still should be township supervisors to handle township business, but "no township supervisor should have the two jobs (township and county)."

The press of business responsibilities has caused Toerpe's attendance record at board meetings to be somewhat spotty, but he said he makes most of his committee meetings.

An editor of a weekly newspaper in Forest Park has more confidence in the durability of the existing system. He is Claude Walker of Bensenville, an Addison Township assistant supervisor.

"I don't see how we could improve the board. It's extremely progressive and I don't know anywhere else in the country where such big problems are being coped with," he argued.

AFTER CITING the long list of professional experts hired to run departments, he was asked whether these experts could not work just as well under a smaller board setup. "That's a good question," he countered.

"The point is, if we don't have 31 people on per diem, then we're going to have 11 on salary. I don't see how you can improve the board by cutting it down. It won't be any less expensive.

"And I can't see where people are on the board to make a buck. We have a variety, age-wise and business-wise, and they're all devoted public servants."

The same split of opinion was confirmed this week by representatives of the board's conservative and liberal factions.

The liberal — Donald Jack Wall of Bloomingdale Township —is against changing the makeup of the board. The conservative—Fred Koebbeman of Addison Township—favors it.

Wall, an assistant supervisor who lives in Bloomingdale, tangled continually with the more conservative members of the board when first elected four and a half years ago. He has settled down considerably since then and works hard on committee projects.

"RIGHT NOW would not be an opportune time to change the board structure," he insists. "It would put an awful hardship on just a few people. Their work loads would be tripled. I'm for holding off for a while. Wait until the townships grow.

"And, especially, wait until after the 1970 census. This township barely existed in 1960. By 1970 we'll be a big dot on the map."

Koebbeman, who lives in Bensenville, probably is the board's only full-time supervisor. Semi-retired, he divides his time between county meetings and township duties. He's chairman of the powerful finance committee.

According to Koebbeman, "There are many of us — including myself — who think the county board is too large."

He pointed out that Cook County, with a $75 million budget, is run by 15 commissioners. DuPage, with a $13 million budget, thinks it needs 31 legislators.

"A good number for the board would be 15," he said. "They should be on a part-time basis. Another good way would be to put nine on a full-time basis."

KOEBBEMAN CAN think of no reason to wait.

Department heads and other officials whose efficiency of operation depends greatly on the county board's favors, said this week they have no axe to grind with supervisors in general.

"They get the job done," said State's Attorney William Hopf. "We work with their committees when we want something, and we don't find them hard to deal with."

He added, "I don't think they're particularly expensive working on a per diem basis, compared with the cost of having 11 'experts' on a county board."

Two months ago, Hopf promised DuPage a complete investigation of supervisors' practices in the collection of per diem salaries, expenses and mileage.

He prosecuted a case about five years ago in which a few supervisors were required to refund per diem and expenses collected under questionable circumstances.

DESPITE WHAT they say for publication, it is of record that certain department heads have tangled with certain supervisors on matters of policy and operation.

And it is also true that when the board of supervisors is scheduled to take action on salaries, office equipment or new facilities, department heads sit sternly in the audience, scowling with grim determination. The board usually forks over.

All things considered, when supervisors in DuPage and Lake Counties are asked whether they believe the county board setup is efficient, they answer with a pro or con comment about its size.

This could be a very revealing reaction for the people who are pushing for a remap of counties and a reduction in board members.

IT'S TRUE THAT the counties around Cook are growing by leaps and bounds. Growth requires action on roads, public works, drainage, open space — the list is endless.

If efficiency is increased as the number of cooks in the kitchen is decreased, then the counties are in a for a major battle of wits. (A-15

So You Want to Free Lance?

Suburbs Sprinkled with Successful Scribes

Talented Citizens Give Helpful Tips

by TOM EDWARDS
Staff Writer

Maybe in the back of your mind you have had a hankering to try writing a short story, or have an experience you would like to share with others in the form of a magazine article, or there is a poem flitting through your mind.

Or perhaps you are contemplating something of book length, or maybe you have a few witticisms you think would go nice on a greeting card.

If what has been holding you back is that you haven't the vaguest idea of where to sell your manuscript or how to go about submitting it, this can be simply remedied by an annual book publication entitled "Writers Market," available on the reference shelf of most public libraries.

Now that this obstacle, or rationalization, is out of the way, the real first step still remains to be taken. That is, sitting down and writing.

FIRST OFF, it should be heartening to know that the northwest suburbs seems to have a liberal sprinkling of people who have successfully taken that first step.

"This is a very talented community," according to veteran free lance writer Richard Dunlop, 1115 Mayfair, Arlington Heights. He said he has been "astounded" by the number of people with writing talent.

But there is no substitute for "getting at it and doing it," he said.

Now you know the ingredients of getting started.

Local residents who have done so have not necessarily found it financially rewarding. Evidently there are enough people writing so that publishers aren't accepting everything.

But a rejection note can be considered at least a certificate of having mustered the will power to take the first step.

Besides, there is the educational experience of having sat down and worked through thoughts and feelings.

"It never hurt anyone one bit to sit down at a typewriter and organize his thoughts a little bit," according to housewife and author Valerie Kraft, 309 N. Elmhurst, Prospect Heights.

But it can probably be correctly assumed that most writers want to be read, and would prefer to be financially rewarded for their time spent.

TO DISCOVER and keep up on the potential markets, the reference "Writers Market" is an invaluable guide. It lists "over 4,000 markets," everything from Sunday newspaper supplements to greeting card houses and recording companies.

Moreover, it contains samples of "proper manuscript forms" and brief essays on what publishers want, which boils down to "well-written stories."

There are also two magazines for writers.

For those who want some instruction, criticism and company in their writing endeavors, High School District 214 has a free lance writing class taught by Mrs. Kraft.

She has sold about 65 pieces, mainly short stories to woman's magazines, and is just finishing two books she hopes a publisher will want to buy.

HOW DOES Mrs. Kraft sell her stories? "I just send them out," she said. "When they come back, I send them out again.

"Sometimes it takes months" for a rejected manuscript to be returned, she said, and "sometimes they come back in the next mail."

As for money, "top level slick magazines" (printed on slick, expensive paper) may pay $1,000 for a short story, Mrs. Kraft related. But much less money is the rule, and although making a living at free lance writing "is possible, it isn't easy," she warned.

Once you have established yourself as a writer, don't expect to get publishers in a position of competitively bidding for your work.

For it is "unethical" to submit a manuscript or idea for an article to more than one publisher at a time, according to both Mrs. Kraft and veteran Dunlop.

DUNLOP SHOULD know. He makes his entire living from free lance writing, and estimates that he has sold "around 1,000" articles, stories, scripts, poems and a book.

For the last two years Dunlop has been involved in writing the "Texaco Touring Guide," of which Texaco Gas Stations have already sold about 5,000,000 copies and are still frantically reordering more.

"Most new writers won't discipline themselves," he advised. He gave up teaching a writers workshop, several years ago, he related, because the participants didn't research the subject matter of their material well enough. "This is absolutely essential."

Dunlop feels that having roots in a community helps a writer to present a valuable view of society "from the inside out rather than the outside in" of the more well known peripatetic writers.

ACCORDING TO various reports, the market for fiction has steadily gone down over the years in relation to non-fiction. Mrs. Kraft feels that television has decreased the need for printed reading materials. Dunlop, though, thinks there is an "increasing need for writers" in general.

Another tip from Dunlop is, "If I pace myself I find I do better work" than if he works in irregular spurts.

There are also "amateur" successes:

Lt. Col Jery Samuels, 331 Winston, Palatine, was "looking for something to do" in his spare time while stationed in Viet Nam. So he started writing articles on his own hunting and fishing experiences in the various parts of the world in which he has been stationed.

TO DATE, he has sold 11 of 15 attempts, including one about a Viet Nam elephant hunt, and is planning to branch out into other areas of writing.

Terrence Cory, 29, of 675 Victoria, Des Plaines, wrote a book which he was unable to sell a few years ago.

But on the spur of the moment one day he dashed off a "confession" type story of a young girl in distress that was purchased by a pulp magazine (printed on rough, cheaper paper). Cory has kept on writing these stories at a nickel a word and is apparently enjoying it. "We laugh all the way to the bank," his wife said.

On the other hand, Malcolm Fisher, 37, of 904 Meadow Lane, Streamwood, has sold only three pieces. All were hard-to-research stories on antique automobiles for car-buff magazines, and took hours of time. He made about enough to pay his expenses.

ARMAND FERRARA, 47, of 709 S. Evergreen, Arlington Heights, has successfully peddled about 30 articles on various subjects he estimated would be "of interest to people." A hobby with him, he points out that it is important to make proper evaluations of what certain magazines will buy.

A professional script writer for trade and business film producers is Paul Jensen, 39, of 115 S. Benton, Palatine. He established himself as a writer with a private firm before setting out as a free lancer.

Mrs. May McIntyre Melvin, 212 S. Maple, Itasca, a school teacher, had been writing occasional poems for about 36 years before she ever submitted one for publication. A publisher immediately accepted them, including about 100 of her poems in a volume entitled, "Rhymes from Reasons."

Richard Frisbie, 631 N. Dunton, Arlington Heights, has had two humorous books published, one written in conjunction with his wife and entitled "The Do-It-Yourself Parent." Both of the Frisbies have also done extensive magazine writing, getting started in a small church publication and growing from there.

A FORMER Elk Grove minister, Dr. Martin E. Marty, is the author of several books and a great many articles dealing with religion and its applications.

George Reuter Jr., educator and former Arlington resident, also published a large number of books and articles dealing with his field, some in conjunction with his wife. They also combined on one, entitled "One Blood," dealing with racial problems.

Another Itasca resident Helen Tann Aschmann, 901 E. North St., is turning out her second book.

Unable to sell his book after 25 years of work on it, Howard W. L'Hommedieu, 1020 N. Salem, Arlington, paid for having it printed himself. It is entitled "One-Sentence Economics and World Leprosy," dealing with a single tax theory.

Although many writers get started in things they know, Dunlop respects no boundaries in his writing. He will tackle any subject, from anthopology to atom smashing. He feels that technical competence in a field is not a prerequisite for writing on it.

BUT NEITHER does he feel that technical competence as a writer qualifies one for handling any subject.

All of the above writers have extensive family and civic lives in their communities, perhaps establishing that one doesn't have to closet himself away to write.

Only one uses a pseudonym, Mrs. Kraft. Outside of her writing world she is Mrs. George Kratt. (A 15

Square Dance Club News

Two New Area Clubs Organize Strictly for Young People

By DOROTHY MEYER

FOR THE YOUNG 'UNS

All square dancers are young in heart (or seem to be, to this aging, oh-my-aching-deadline journalist) but here is news strictly for the young in years. There are two new area clubs just for you who can answer to the call, "Hey kids!" without blushing.

A few former members of the recently disbanded Teen Promenaders are hustling to get a new teen club into orbit, and they report "so far, so good" progress. They're meeting in the home of a different member each Wednesday evening from 7:30 to 9:30 with caller Harry Glass. Next week's dance location is of course announced at this week's dance—or you interested teens can call Harry, LA 9-5541, to find out where the upcoming blast will be. Harry will be glad to hear, too, of any place where the kids can meet regularly, and for a minimum cash outlay. Like maybe even for free?

Another teen-young adult group is forming in Park Ridge and currently meeeting in the home of caller Lee Simpson, 614 Park Plain. It's a Sunday afternoon bunch, dancing from 2 to 4 p.m. and welcoming all interested young-set dancers. Give Lee a buzz, TA 3-7239, if you'd like in.

BUCKS AND DOES

This Elk Grove Township club, following a regular schedule of second-and-fourth-Saturday-nights, takes the fifth too when there is one—and October is a five-Saturday month! Members and guests will therefore dance two consecutive Saturday nights, Oct. 23 and Oct. 30, and who cares if anyone's a bit winded when November comes?

First of the two-in-a-row dances will be the B & D's Halloween party and although costumes are optional it is hoped everyone will come out in appropriate, way-out attire. There'll be prizes awarded for the best-dressed haunts, cider and doughnuts to revive all the spirits present—and fine dancing, as always. Phantom-in-chief, Bob Lewis, will square 'em up at 8 o'clock in Dempster Junior High School and keep things swinging until 11. Conjuring up a spell or two between tips will be Carl and Marie Peterson, round dance sorcerers de luxe. Follow the crowd to Dempster Street, just west of Route 83, and join the Halloween whoop-la.

To celebrate October's fifth Saturday Bucks and Does will dance to the calls of seven local favorites. Co-starring with headliner Bob Lewis will be Danny Hagen, Bill Davis, Walt Byington, Wally Paulsen, Harry Glass and Lee Simpson. The dance has been dubbed the BOBI-HADA-WAWA-LEE, and if you scramble up parts of the callers' first names you'll see why.

Bob, Bill, Harry and the rest will go into action at 8 o'clock, and there'll be dancing in two halls of Dempster School. It promises to be a don't-miss occasion. Don't miss it.

Lewis recently informed the Bucks and Does that sometime after the first of the year he'll likely move to Indiana or Wisconsin and do a little farming. Club officers say that they'll have him back as a guest caller as often as possible.

PLAIDS AND CALICOS

Jim Stewart subbed for club regular Bob Kim at the club's Oct. 9 dance, keeping seven squares of dancers on their toes. Among the seven squaresful were Kim and his wife, Rose, enjoying an evening on the other side of the mike for the first time in a long time.

Bob will be back on stage tomorrow night for the P & C's Halloween dance. It's a costume party, complete with prizes for the best-kookiest-funniest get-up,s so get up a good one and go. Schaumburg School on Schaumburg Road is the place, 8:30 is the time, fun is the password. Costumes are optional and everyone is welcome, costumed or otherwise.

Plans are zooming along for the club's second annual luau, scheduled for Jan. 29. Last year's was a wild 'n' wonderful success, but the current committee is hoping to top it. Rose Kim is recruiting members for participation in the big event, and she'll be delighted to hear from YOU. Call her at LA 9-6089.

Several raiding parties are being formed and P & C members interested in a little banner-snatching are invited to contact Chief Thief, Bob Belson, 369-1169, or his first assistant thiefette, Mrs. Bob.

PALATINE SQUARES

Club publicity sources apologize for a boo-boo in banner news last week, crediting Little Squares of Niles for the theft of Palatine's pennant when it really was a contingent of Square Wheels from Deerfield who had the sticky fingers. "We're glad we didn't go to Niles, trying to retrieve our banner," says this week's report, "although Little Squares would probably be happy to have their visit to us returned." We're happy to note the correction, but think the banner business would have been delightfully complicated if we let the boo-boo stand.

Haunting season opens for Palatiners and guests Saturday night when the club's annual Halloween costume party squares up. Club regular Jim Stewart will share the mike with a guest caller, Ken Anderson of Burlington, Iowa, and rounds will be led by Dot and Jerry Daniels. Traditional refreshments are on the program too. Fun starts at 8:30, in Pleasant Hill School, Cedar and Illinois Streets, Palatine.

ARLINGTON SQUARES

Banner business is brisk on the Arlington front, according to the club's latest report. Glenview Squares stole Arlington Squares' pennant Oct. 8, which caused some Arlington Squares to raid Chicago's Friendly Squares. The report does not indicate if the Chicago bunch is still frendly, but the local club will no doubt soon find out when the retrieving party arrives.

Arlington Squares dance tomorrow night and guests are welcome, even if they might have larceny in mind. Trouble is, tomorrow's dance is the club's Halloween party and nearly everyone will be in costume—so how can a banner thief be identified?

Marauding masqueraders and just plain dancers are invited to join the bash, at 7:30 if round dance instruction with Dot and Jerry Daniels is desired, or at 8:30 for the square-'em-up call. Lenny Roos will be at the mike, the mike will be at Miner Junior High School in Arlington Heights—and you-all will be at Miner School? Besides round dancing, square dancing, costumes and possible banditry, there'll be a refreshment-social hour after the dancing and candy served between tips.

Membership in Arlington Squares is still open, by the way. Full information about joining is available via Leo Larson, CL 5-1074.

CIRCLE 8 CLUB

The October dance of the Circle 8 Square Dance Club will be held next Saturday evening, Oct. 23, from 8 to 11:30, at the Hawthorne School in Wheaton. Walt Mulqueen, the regular caller, has planned an enjoyable program.

For those who should wish to attend each month, a few membership openings remain unfilled.

Hosts and hostesses will be Bernie and Eileen Hurley, John and Barbara Erickson, and Richard and Aldona Smith.

For further information call the Schnabels, 668-2024, or the McFarlands, 231-0635. (A-15

CLEARBROOK SCHOOL construction fund got a $2,200 boost this week. Mrs. George Hoban, chairman of the Oct. 3 benefit brunch at the Arlington Carousel, presented a check representing the proceeds to Guy McMillan, left, chairman of the school's financial development committee as F. W. Tremberth, president of the Friends of Clearbrook, looked on. Although the new building on Campbell Street in Rolling Meadows will not be complete, school officials hope the classes for retarded children can move into the specially designed quarters in November. Rotary Club Is Praised By Schaff

John Schaff, Rotary District 644 governor, was featured speaker at last Thursday's meeting of Arlington Heights Rotary club at Corrado's Restaurant. It was Schaff's 41st visit to clubs in the district, with 25 more to go prior to Christmas.

Schaff, a resident of Arlington Heights, complimented the local club on its youth work, its representation at district and international meetings and its sponsorship of new clubs. Local club's attendance record has been running almost 85 per cent, just above the world-wide attendance figure, and was given commendation. Arlington club's support of the international scholarship program also was commended.

Judith Ann Corey, recent Fulbright Fellowship winner, now teaching at Forest View High School while studying for her master's degree at Northwestern, will tell of her experiences as a single girl, on her own, in a foreign country. She will appear at Thursday's (today's) luncheon meeting of the club. (A Candidates for the Paddock Junior Miss titles are invited to a preliminary meeting for contestants in the Prospect High School Little Theatre at 2 p.m. Sunday.

At next Sunday's meeting a representative from the Illinois pageant will tell contestants about its standards and goals, and a film of the 1965 America's Junior Miss Pageant at Mobile, Ala., will be shown. The winner of the Illinois pageant, in addition to receiving scholarships, is eligible to compete in the national contest next March at which $14,000 in scholarships will be awarded.

JUDGING WILL be held at Prospect High School Sunday, Oct. 31. Names of the last three of the 12 judges were announced this week. They are:

A. M. "Bud" Bernstein, 332 Charing Cross, Elk Grove Village, member of the board of Junior College District 301 and president of the board of education of District 59; Fred Lewis, head of instrumental music at Fenton High School and director of the Bensenville Village Band, and Mrs. Ann Hume, 2922 Cardinal Drive, Rolling Meadows, dramatics instructor for the Arlington Heights and Rolling Meadows Park Districts.

Entrants will be judged on their scholastic achievement, poise and appearance, mental alertness and creative abilities. Preliminary judging will be done by individual interviews Sunday afternoon, Oct. 31, and the finals will be that evening. The public is invited to the final judging.

GIRLS INTERESTED in competing in the Paddock pageants who have not yet submitted a questionnaire may still do so. The questionnaire forms are available at the Paddock office, 217 W. Campbell, Arlington Heights, or call Mrs. Pat Adam, pageant committee chairman, CL 3-1520. The questionnaires may be returned by mail or brought to the preliminary meeting. (A15 must

Formal public hearing on the proposed improvement of Marion Road east of Yale Avenue has been continued to 8 p.m. Nov. 11 by the Arlington Heights Board of Local Improvements (BOLI).

About 10 property owners involved in the special assessment to improve the short stretch of Marion appeared at the opening hearing night last Thursday. The improvement includes a new roadway and water and sewer connections.

BOLI instructed its consulting engineers, Consoer, Townsend & Associates, to revise plans for the improvement to include sewer and water lines to each lot on Marion. Engineers had felt because the lots are large they might later be resubdivided. The revised plans will be submitted at the Nov. 11 hearing date. (A

Catino Estates Plat Approved After Revision

A revised tentative plat for Catino Estates Unit 3 was approved by the Arlington Heights Plan Commission last Wednesday.

The plan group's favorable recommendation will be sent to the village board, along with a recommendation that it approve the unit's final plan. Involved is roughly half the remaining undeveloped area of Catino Estates, bounded on the south by Kirchoff Road and on the west by the extension of Princeton Avenue.

THE TENTATIVE plat had been approved in 1962; subsequent acquisition of a part of Unit 3 by School District 25 and a change in street patterns caused the need for plat revision. (A

'Anastasia' Scores In All Departments

By JOAN REDDY
Paddock Drama Critic

Arlington Heights Village Theatre opened its 1965-66 season by treading the path between weighty drama and giddy comedy. They have turned to that old reliable, juicy melodrama. And in "Anastasia" they have chosen one of the juiciest.

In depicting the plight of the shabby young woman, teetering on the edge of mental unbalance, who claims to be Anastasia, the Czar's daughter miraculously saved from execution, this play touches all the bases. Mystery, suspense, romance, pathos—they all are there.

Director Richard Tyler loses no chance to make sure that audience empathy is fully consumed. Basically, this is a play of action and event.

IS THE POOR Anna really Anastasia? That's what the audience cares about. This demands a steady, rapid pace as one by one bits of her character and past are revealed.

Tyler has concentrated on this and effected complete success. Not even the weakest members of the cast fall off the pace.

Anna has difficulty convincing people of her royal lineage, but fro mthe moment Sarah Levin, as the Dowager Empress, steps upon the stage there are no doubts about the blood lines. She has the dignity and bearing of royalty and the projection of the pain and loneliness of a queen who has lost both her position and her loved ones.

IT IS THROUGH the power of Mrs. Levin's performance that the confrontation scene between the Dowager and Anna catches fire. This scene is really a powerful one, which could have produced even more sparks if Kay Hawley, in the role of Anna, had risen to the challenge.

In the lower kay scenes Mrs. Hawley is often quite convincing. But she seems unable to master the crescendos. Her best scenes are those in which she baits the men who are attempting to exploit her. She is, however, much less convincing when the role asks her to call up the emotions of this woman who has been used so cruelly by men and fate.

As Prince Bounine, who tries to capitalize on Anna's claim, John Grayson displays the charming swagger of a well bred, unprincipaled scoundrel. His two henchmen, Bob Hawley and Herb Braden, skillfully counterbalance the Prince's self-assurance with displays of anxiety. Hawley gets a particular nod for a solid supporting performance.

THE TWO MEN in Anna's life are the weak links in the production. Neither Dick Baker, as Prince Paul, Anastasia's childhood sweetheart, or Charles Sayre, as Anna's lover, give convincing performances. This is particularly unfortunate in Sayre's case, since his character is supposed to display the strength and attractiveness of a life far removed from the Romanoff court.

Hank Vandenboom and Shirley Freeman, as two aging peasants, make the most of their single performance. And Alice Linde, the flighty lady in waiting, adds some gentle comedy refief.

Director Tyler chooses to do this play with Russian accents. On the whole, this appears a wise choice. Although at first the slight disparity in pronunciation is a bit jarring ,the accents soon blend into a realistic device. There are lapses, however, as some of he minor characters forget their Russian heritage and speak pure Midwestern nasal.

THEY MIGHT take their cue from Mrs. Hawley who does not attempt a heavy accent, but successfully adopts an approximation. Accent honors, however, go to the remarkable Mrs. Levin. She convinces that Russian is her mother tongue.

Special kudos should be given to Bette Grayson for set design and Beverly Holden for set decoration. Their efforts combine to make a set whose opulence evokes applause from the audience and still contains vestiges o fthe sham.

"Anastasia" will still be holding court at Arlington High School tomorrow (Friday) and Saturday. Many readers will remember the Ingrid Bergman-Yul Brynner movie version, but they might like to see the play as it was written, before Hollywood fit it into the mold of sex appeal endings.

Curiosity Piqued by UFO's

by DAN BAUMANN
Staff Writer

Unidentified flying objects over suburbia?

"I've never seen one. I can't say they exist, but too many reliable people have reported sightings. I can't say they don't exist.

"I have an open mind about them and am curious about unexplained UFO's."

The speaker: Carl G. Berglund, 2604 Cardinal Drive, Rolling Meadows. Berglund became interested in UFO's several years ago while reading a book about them.

Since then, he has subscribed to a semi-monthly publication of the National Investigations Committee on Aerial Phenomena (NICAP). The publication, UFO Investigator, describes reports of UFO citings, reports public interest in UFO's, occasionally takes pains to debunk a sensational report of a UFO contact or sighting and cites examples to support NICAP's claim that the Air Force deliberately and systematically supresses information about UFO's.

"I' MNOT convinced of UFO's, just as the Air Force is not convinced," said Berglund. "But I do feel the Air Force has quashed reports about them."

NICAP states its main aim is to investigate scientifically reports of UFO's. The Air Force, NICAP claims, suppresses information about UFO's, on occasion picking an obvious hoax to publicize for the sake of making all UFO reports look silly.

NICAP feels a breakthrough has occurred recently. Citing stories carried by newspapers and wire services, it feels the news media are becoming skeptical of the Air Force handling of its investigation and reporting function.

"The new, worldwide flood of UFO reports has led to the biggest break in years," NICAP told subscribers in a recent newsletter. The break: "news editors' blunt rejection of the 'official explanations.'"

THE COMMITTEE officially has no explanation for the UFO's, regardless of what some of its members feel. According to Berglund, NICAP has never verified a "contact" between a UFO and man.

NICAP does say, however, that UFO's are:

—Real physical objects rather than the result of imagination, hallucination, illusion or delusion.

—Artificial, rather than purely natural, such as meteorological and astronomical phenomena.

—Under the control (piloted or remote) of living beings.

WHICH GIRL WILL WEAR THE CROWN of Wheeling High School's Autumn Daze Queen? The five nominees wait expectantly for the answer, which will come during the Coronation assembly at Wheeling High School Friday. The girls are (l. to r.) Kathie Barnes, Vickie Sauter, Donna Pancamo, Linda Edwards, and Ann O'Donnell.

First Wheeling Queen To Be Crowned Friday

Wheeling High School's first Autumn Daze queen will receive her royal crown and robe at about 3:15 p.m. tomorrow (Friday) during an all-school Coronation Assembly in the gymnasium.

Student Council President Ed Graves, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Graves, 212 George Road, Wheeling, will officially crown the queen.

After her coronation, the queen will be received by her subjects, the 2,300 members of the student body.

FINALISTS FOR the coveted title are Kathie Barnes, daughter of Mrs. Susan L. Barnes, 1060 Wheeling Road, Mount Prospect; Linda Edwards, daughter of Mrs. Norma Edwards, 420 Meadowbrook, Wheeling; Ann O'Donnell daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William O'Donnell, 119 N. Emmerson Lane, Mount Prospect; Donna Pancamo, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Pancamo, 15 Marquette Road, Wheeling; and Vicki Sauter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl W. Sauter, 202 Kenilworth, Prospect Heights.

All of the girls are seniors at Wheeling High School.

Kathie is this year's Autumn Daze Committee chairman and vice president of the Student Council. She is a member of the Senior Class Board, past editor-in-chief of the Spokesman (student newspaper), president of the French Club, and a member of the Spring Formal Court, Quill and Scroll, Bridge Club, Ski Club, the Variety Show cast, and a reporter for the Paddock Publications High School Highlights staff.

Her escort is Ted Armstrong, son of Mr. and Mrs. William T. Armstrong, 850 McHenry Road, Wheeling.

Senior Spotlight

Fenton Pupils Vote Honor To Outstanding Boy, Girl

by CHRIS MEAGHER and VICKY DeLUDE

Beginning with this issue, the High School Highlights section will be regularly featuring an outstanding senior boy and girl covering all the Highlights high schools.

This week Fenton High School presents its selection of notable seniors. Next week Sacred Heart of Mary (Rolling Meadows) seniors will be honored.

Ingrid Ecklund and Tom DiOrio were chosen by a vote of the senior students and the faculty at Fenton as the boy and girl who have contributed the most to their school and most deserving of this honor.

"Come on — smile!" you hear as some green-eyed blonde dashes past you. Around Fenton halls, this is known as the famous cry of Ingrid Ecklund, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Ecklund of 306 Harvey Ave., Wood Dale.

But who wants to smile when there's tons of homework staring you in the face? Ingrid must not be too busy. Let's check.

She's been homecoming queen her freshman year, a National Honor Society member for three years, vice-president of her sophomore and junior classes, band member for three years, and a Fine Arts Society member two years.

This year she's busy representing the senior class in Student Council and being chairman of the Foreign Exchange committee.

WHAT'S SO great about that, you say? Well, get a load of this. Ingrid has also been active in church organizations.

She's been publicity chairman and treasurer and is now president of the Zone Walther League; she is also president of the local chapter of this organization.

Ingrid has taught Sunday school for two years and has worked with youth groups, in particular the mentally retarded.

She still manages to keep up with her school work, don't forget! This year her subjects include probability, English IV, senior social survey, and German II.

If you're still not convinced, there's one important factor that will make Ingrid memorable to her fellow students and all of Fenton High School. Ingrid was chosen for the summer program of the American Field Service. "That was the most wonderful moment of my life—when I found out I qualified for AFS," says Ingrid.

INGRID LIVED with the Fuch's in Susel, Germany, for two months. Her "family" consisted of Mr. Fuch, a minister; Mrs. Fuch; two sisters — Barbara, 16, and Adelheid, 23; and two older brothers — Reinhard, 20, and Hans Yurger, 21.

Ingrid has always been interested in foreign cultures and feels that this was a wonderful opportunity to study other people more closely. Her favorite subject in high school was "World Cultures," an honors course dealing with other civilizations.

She is currently keeping a notebook on Far Eastern and African cultures and carries on foreign correspondence.

Ingrid's trip abroad, however, proved to be somewhat embarrassing. Ever since she's returned, people have been teasing her about the weight she gained!

Just as she enjoys knowing about all types of cultures, Ingrid also enjoys all types of music. Yellow is her favorite color, lobster her favorite food.

AMONG OTHER things that might single Ingrid out is the fact that she enjoys school and likes her teachers. "I've wasted so much opportunity at FHS," says Ingrid. That's one of her pet peeves — people wasting their time.

"School spirit and American spirit are other pet peeves of mine — there's such a lack of them; we all have the obligation to support our school. There is some school spirit, but not enough of it," according to Ingrid.

Now are you convinced Ingrid is outstanding? Fenton students are!

Senior Tom DiOrio, son of Mr. and Mrs. James J. DiOrio, 15W221 George Street, Bensenville, is a very unique person in more ways than one.

For instance, he's the only known senior at Fenton High School who has difficulty telling his right from his left.

This proves to be very embarrassing especially when he is playing football and finds himself running down the field to make a touchdown — for the wrong team.

But let's take another look at this 6 foot "all senior" boy. He's president of 'F' Club, Fenton's lettermen club, on the football team, and in the band. Besides these activities his schedule includes typing, college algebra, senior social problems, and English.

PRIOR TO his senior year, Tom's been in Spanish Club, wrestling, and baseball. He's been sophomore and junior class president; toured Mexico City with the Spanish Club; gone to Colorado with a teen group, Young Life; and was chosen to represent Fenton for Boys State last summer.

His main interests are in science. According to Tom, "I definitely plan on going to college, but as of yet I'm undecided where." Tom hopes to major in Marine Biology, and this is quite relevant if one were to visit Tom's aquarium.

He has a wide variety of tropical fish and has been raising them for quite a few years.

Tom was also chosen senior homecoming king this year and was in the starting lineup of last week's football game.

According to Tom, the teachers at Fenton are willing to spend time with students if they will let the teachers know they are having trouble. "This is good," says Tom. "If only more students would take advantage of it."

He added, "I really think this is good in a school because it enables a student to obtain a better understanding of things."

NOW LET'S look at some of Tom's pet peeves concerning Fenton High School. "Our school is lacking so much in school spirit," Tom said. "We have good teams and a good school so why not come out and cheer for it?"

Another one of Tom's peeves is, "They don't let us sing in the halls."

So as the spotlight fades on senior Tom DiOrio, one can see a boy who has a goal in life, who has a pleasing personality and who knows what he wants and does something about it.

The only worry Tom really has is "Whether I'll succeed or not."

Fenton High School thinks he will. Good luck, Tom. (Y

School Attorneys Debate Role to Board

Suburban Experts On Regional Panel

By HELENE BRISTOL
Education Editor

Three experts in the operation of school boards and school districts last week debated the "when and how" of legal advice to protect and give the best service to schools, students, school board members, administrators and the tax-paying public.

The three experts were all associated with north DuPage County and northwest Cook County schools.

Their discussion was one of the major forums at an annual fall dinner meeting and conference of the Tri-County Division, Illinois Association of School Boards.

The west area subdivisional meeting, attended by area school representatives, was held at Glenbard East High School, Lombard. It was one of three section meetings held for school in Lake, DuPage and Cook Counties.

DEBATING THE ROLE and use of school attorneys was A. M. (Bud) Bernstein, president of Elk Grove District 59 school board and a member of the board of the new northwest area Community Junior College District 301. Supt. R. Bruce Allingham of York-Willowbrook District 88 High Schools, which serve Addison, represented the administrator's viewpoint.

Pleading the case use of specialist attorneys experienced in school law was Allyn J. Franke, attorney and partner of the legal firm of Norman, Engelhardt, Zimmerman, Franke and Lauritzen, Chicago. Franke and his firm represent the great majority of school districts in north DuPage County and northwest Cook County as well as boards in other Chicago areas including Lake County. He does not represent Districts 59, 301 and 88.

Allingham noted that his school district had "grown its own" school attorney, hiring a young but competent local attorney several years ago and giving him the opportunity to become their "expert."

He stated that the attorney did not attend each board meeting, but did provide general advice on all issues coming up to the superintendent before the meeting. This allowed the superintendent to act as a board advisor in guiding board thinking and providing board members with all possible information bearing on the issues they must decide.

HE AGREED THAT there were some "very technical" legal problems where the direct advice of the school board attorney was needed.

Allingham strtssed that the school board "should be a policy-making group, not an administrative group," but cautioned that the "better a board member is the more sure he will be that legal advice is available to the suptrintendent (for administration) and to the school board for policy decisions."

He warned that a definite agreement on fees should be negotiated. He said that attorneys were "never cheap" but they did not desire to "hold up" a school board.

Franke stressed that school attorneys could be most helpful "when you use them." He added that it was better to "pay an attorney to keep schools out of trouble than to pay higher legal fees after schools are in trouble."

ONE WAY OF cutting legal costs, Franke noted, was to use an attorney only for legal matters and not for daily routine problems.

Some of the issues which require legal advice, according to Franke, are teacher tenure cases, land acquisition through sale or condemnation, financing schools or sites through cash contracts, bond issues, contract sales or mortgages and investigation of land conditions and restrictions. Legal advice is also needed for all negotiations and contracts dealing with bond houses, architects, contractors and school administrators.

Other decisions which require legal advice include annexation of new school territory to an existing district, tax levies and budgets, state laws such as the building requirements of the new life safety codes, and the adoption of new school rules, regulations and policies.

Franke explained that his legal firm did not feel a school attorney should attend every school board meeting unless specific legal advice is to be needed. By having an attorney at every meeting, Franke said, school districts would find that it cost too much, the freedom of the school board would be jeopardized and, because top school attorneys usually do not operate on this basis, it would keep the board from using advice of a "really experienced" school attorney.

BY ATTENDING all meetings, an attorney would cut the number of schools he could represent, Franke explained. This would make the attorney "lose out" in the experience he would gain in representing many boards, and would avoid "spreading the cost" of his advice over several school districts.

Bernstein disagreed with this argument, stating that school boards should not attempt to represent themselves as their own attorneys. Without legal advice available at board meetings, board members are making policy decisions on their own or postponing all major decisions until they can be checked by the attorney.

"It depends upon what your school district is doing," Bernstein stated.

IN A RAPIDLY growing district when board members face continuing decisions on policy, bond issues, planning for new schools and sites, school building construction, a postponing of a board vote until the next regular meting may create serious problems, Bernstein noted.

Bernstein stressed that village boards which spend far less money or rarely have new construction problems have a village atorney at every meeting. "School districts spend 10 times as much as villages do," he emphasized.

"It is up to the pace of the school district and what the school board desires," he noted. Some schools use their attorneys "merely as legal advisers" while others make sure their attorneys actually negotiate purchases, contracts and other legal matters, he explained.

"THE ELK GROVE school district recently passed a bond issue which will amount to $2.25 million in interest alone over a 20 year period," Berstein said. When spending this kind of money, the Elk Grove board felt complete legal help was needed as well as the service of financial consultants to help prepare the bond issue itself, he stressed.

"For school districts dealing in large sums of money, entering into contracts with fantastic repercussions both in money and in the effect on education, you need to use your attorney at every meeting and in every way," Bernstein emphasized.

School Administrators, Board Members at Parley

Divided into three sectional meetings, the Tri-County Division, Illinois Association of School Boards, held their westside annual fall dinner meeting and conferences last Thursday.

School board members and administrators, accompanied by school secretaries and maintenance workers attending separate workshops, packed themselves into the Glenbard East High School, Lombard.

THE MEETING itself presented a series of obvious contrasts which must have pinpointed some of the difficulties of planning for better educational programs and facilities for the school leaders of northwest Cook County and north DuPage County.

—The Glenbard East High School is an architectural "dream" building in a picturesque setting — with a total lack of parking space.

—The school's beautiful auditorium with fine acoustics provided an ideal area to hear the main speaker — who spoke on new state school legislation which had been of necessity thoroughly studied by board members and administrators in attendance.

—The tiny classrooms provided for the conference meetings might provide ideal small discussion areas during the day — but certainly could not hold ordinary size classes. The rooms did not begin to provide space for the people attending the conferences which are the highlights of the program.

—THE MASSIVE cafeteria clattered with sound — but not the announcements from the main table which were inaudible.

—The food was quickly served cafeteria-style — but its institutional appearance and taste left few with any interest whether it was served at all.

—The architectural "dream" from the outside, was a maze of step-wasting angle corridors on the inside — with only one exit, when you could find it, to the parking area.

The contrasts even extended to the panel discussions or conferences with answers to the major questions left "in the air."

A DISCUSSION on qualifications for a school superintendent did not agree whether a school leader should be an "educational statesman knowledgeable in the instructional process" or a "skilled manager coordinating a staff of specialists."

Relationship between school boards and school personnel in negotiations, mediation, appeals, strikes, teacher-association advice and desires was another conference topic. The forum left unsolved the question of whether there should be state laws setting out procedures or whether such problems should be solved on a district level.

Other major conference topics included intent and implementation of new state laws and educational television.

The conference on public-parochial schools shared-time programs, shared facilities, equipment and shared services is covered in a separate article of this issue of Paddock Publications. Another article covers the "when and how" of best use of school attorneys to protect schools, taxpayers and board members. (A15

School of the Week

Challenges of 'Newness' Overcome at Forest View

by-JUDY RICHTER and PHYLLIS MILLDRUM

As students passed through the doors of Forest View High School for the first time Tuesday, Sept. 4, 1963, they were greeted with some challenges: There were traditions to be made, academic goals to achieve, responsiblities to meet, and school recognition to be attained.

That was four years ago. Today Forest View has met these challenges and strives to be better.

From the beginning, Forest View has had the air of excellence. Its five-building complex received an award of merit from the Society of Registered Architects and a special citation from the American Association of School Administrators.

The buildings, facing onto a landscaped court, consist of a three-story academic building, a two-story administration building, one industrial arts building and a cafeteria.

THE "noise centers" occupy a separate building. Included are a two-story gym, a girls' gym, music rooms, and a theater.

Student Council

Forest View's Student Council is unique. This year the class councils are incorporated into the Student Council. The Council feels it can reach the students better with this new system.

Student Council members are representatives of the four classes. They are elected by their classmates each spring. Most extra-curricular activites are supervised by the council.

The members of Forest View's Student Council learn to accept responsibility and to coordinate their efforts toward a common good.

Extra-curricular Activities

Forest View has many extra-curricular activities to offer the student after school. There are language clubs, science and math clubs, clubs to sing folk-songs by, chess clubs, art and industrial arts clubs, and G.A.A.

The speech and debate teams are always busy after school. While they are practicing their orations for "It's Academic" and "Rebuttal," the drama club can be heard pounding away on scenery for the next play.

These activities include football games, basketball games, and the providing of refreshments for some of the dances.

A.F.S.

For the last three years, Forest View has had foreign exchange students. Working with the Student Council, the student body sells shares and holds a benefit night to raise money for our foreign student.

Tradition

Although Forest View is a comparatively new school, we have already established many traditions. Fall Festival activities, the Christmas Ball and Tea are just a few.

Achievement

Probably our most outstanding achievement has been our development of service and responsibility as demonstrated in the annual canned food drives and the recent "Operation Heavens to Betsy."

Growth

Forest View's enrollment the first year was 1,358 and has grown to 2,875. Because the new Elk Grove High School hasn't been finished yet, Forest View is filled to over capacity, Falcons have been quick to adjust to new problems.

We at Forest View High School—the administrators, faculty and students—look forward to the future with the confidence gained from our past experiences.

We will continue to provide the educational opportunities to our future students that we have provided in the past. For ours is a school that has come of age and looks confidently to the future. (Y

Post-Grad Opportunities Offered by Sacred Heart

BY ELIZABETH MYERS

Representatives from more than 50 colleges, universities, nursing, technical, and vocational schools will participate in a versatile program of educational interest Monday evening.

Organized in previous years as a college night program, the purpose of the evening this year is to provide an educational experience for every student, whether college-bound, technically attracted, or generally uninformed, of post-high school possibilities.

THE EVENING will open with a short assembly in the school auditorium at 8 p.m. Then sophomore, junior, and senior students, as well as their parents, will assist at individual sessions of 25 minutes each in the classrooms.

All will have occasion to visit three representatives.

Before the program begins, the school will host a dinner for the visiting delegates. Assisting the faculty, student hostesses will include members of the National Honor Society, Student Council, and seniors.

The Parents' Council will serve refreshments in the cafeteria to all guests at the conclusion of the evening.

Student response to this annual event is always enthusiastic. Because of the broadened scope of this year's program, the planning committee anticipates an even greater attendance. (Y

Schools to Receive Heart Disease Disc

All of the more than 275 high schools in Cook, Lake and DuPage counties will receive within the next several weeks a long-playing record called "Plain Talk About Heart Disease."

The record is being distributed by the Chicago Heart Association.

The record features a panel of foremost heart specialists who discuss how to help prevent a heart attack and how to lead a normal life after a heart attack.

The records are being sent to the head of the science department in each of the schools for their examination. They are being asked, in turn, to present the record to the school librarian for inclusion in the library's record collection.

A HEART ATTACK can be a very serious matter, even when it is not fatal. But there is evidence that many attacks can be prevented and the effects of those that do occur can be minimized. The Chicago Heart Association hopes these easy-to-understand recorded messages will be an educational tool that may save a life.

Dr. Morris Fishbein, president of the Association, said, "One of the most important weapons in combatting the dread killer, heart disease, is the knowledge and understanding of the people everywhere. This phonograph record will certainly do much to increase that knowledge."

The record was produced by Polk Brothers as a public service in cooperation with the Heart Association. Mailing cartons for this project were contributed by the Chicago division of the Columbia Record Distributors. (Y

Arlington's Talent Is 'Lost in a Hole'

BY BECKY HOLLMEYER

Midgets trolls, male can-can dancers, and mice will set the stage tonight (Thursday) at 7:30 for Arlington High School's 1965 Talent Show, "Spelunking a-Go-Go or How I Fell for Cave Exploration."

The three-act Student Council sponsored show involves the plights of a group of students and two teachers who "get lost" in a hole while on a picnic.

The teachers are portrayed by juniors Shelley Hamilton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rex Hamilton, 303 N. Haddow, Arlington Heights; and Pat Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John R. Smith, 305 East Euclid, Arlington Heights. They will also sing "Old Fashioned Girl."

THE FIRST ACT consists of action that happens before the entrance into the mysterious hole. A square dance, a male can-can dance, guitar trio, a sack race, and a pie-eating contest complete the "un-typical" picnic entertainment.

The caves are the setting for Act II. As the curious students explore the area, they discover such findings as the Choraliers, hoop dancers, and a song and dance act.

The Harmonettes, other dance groups and singing ensembles are also discovered in the depths of the caves.

Act III features piano and flute solos, the Epics, and the Cellar Gang. The Cellar Gang consists of 16 junior girls doing a take-off on the teen night spot, The Cellar.

The Hall of Frame is uncovered in spite of the four guards. The Mousketeers complain that their hero, Mickey Mohac, has been left out of this place of honor. Also, eight junior girls sing about their ideal teacher.

Rehearsals for "Spelunking" have been taking place for two weeks. Night practices involving all three acts were on the agenda for this past week.

DRESS REHEARSAL was on Tuesday, and last night the final rehearsal with costumes and make-up was held.

Student director Francy Palmatier, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Palmatier, 408 S. Patton, Arlington Heights, is very optimistic about the production.

"Past talent shows have been very successful, and this year's should be much better than the usual show," Francy predicted.

"The theme has a lot of fantasy in it; and, therefore, is more flexible to work with. Also, this year we plan to use the entire gym instead of only the stage," she added.

MEL JOHNSON, faculty advisor, reveals that there are many surprises in store for both cast and the audience. For example, members of the faculty plan to perform.

Johnson gave a preview of the show: " 'Spelunking' will consist mainly of songs and instrumental numbers. However, they are all different and very good."

Miss Judith Whitney, in charge of the dancing, claims that from the 150 students participating in the show, 60 are dancing. They have had extra practices and will provide a large variety of dances.

Senior Randy Oppelt, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Oppelt, 1211 N. State, Arlington Heights, will serve as stage manager.

Assisting him with the scenery, props, and lighting will be senior Meg Safarik, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Safarik, 914 N. Ridge, Arlington Heights.

Cathy Hurley Named Fall Festival Queen

By JIM MORONI

"The students of Forest View High School on this day, the fifteenth of October, hereby elect as their Fall Festival Queen. . . . . Cathy Hurley."

Those words by Student Council President Ed Lauing ended an anxious week of waiting last Friday for five lovely Forest View High School seniors.

Queen Cathy Hurley is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Hurley, 142 King Lane, Des Plaines.

Her regal court consisted of Linda Meyers, daughter of Mrs. Jean Meyers, 305 W. Hiawatha, Mount Prospect; Lana Pasley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Pasley, 2211 Central Rd., Rolling Meadows; Kay Hester, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Hester, 2803 Fremont St., Rolling Meadows; and Mary Kennedy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Kennedy, 1520 W. Lonnquist Blvd., Mount Prospect.

THOUGH THE week of waiting had ended, the weekend of gala excitement had just begun. That same Friday night Queen Cathy and her court were the honored guests at a pep rally and fireworks display.

The introduction of the girls and their escorts Chuck Boesenberg, Jim Moroni, Steve Mueller, Jim Baumgardt, and Pat Dunnigan—highlighted the evening, which also included talks by Principal L. S. Jenness, the football and cross country coaches, and Athletic Director Bill Beckman.

Senior Ed Lauing presided at the rally and coordinated the festivities for the entire week assisted by Becky Bardwell, Fall Festival chairman. Ed was also chosen to be an escort but was unable to since he crowned the Queen on Friday afternoon.

After the rally, a mixer was held in the Forest View gym where the court danced to the sounds of the Catalinas, a local combo.

ON SATURDAY the girls were driven around the football field between games and were again presented to the students and other spectators in the stands.

The climax of the entire funfilled week came Saturday at the Fall Festival Dance sponsored by Lettermen's Club. Queen Cathy and her escort, Chuck Boesenberg, started a "snowball" dance and were joined by the rest of the court and then the students.

Cathy's election to Queen is the highlight of the many honors she has won during her four years at Forest View. She is a member of National Honor Society, She's consistently on the Honor Roll and has been a Student Council member for three years.

For four years, Cathy has been a cheerleader. Last year, she was co-captain of the junior varsity cheerleader squad, and this year she was elected captain of the varsity squad. She was also elected secretary-treasurer of her class in her junior year.

Forest View's Student Council and advisor Burton Showers sponsored Fall Festival Week this year as they have done in the past. (Y

Holy Family Fills Top Nursing Posts

Three top level appointments to the nursing service staff of Holy Family Hospital, Des Plaines, have been announced by Sister M. Amata, administrator.

Lowana McGeeney, R.N., formerly assistant director of nursing, has been named director of nursing. Sister M. Edmea, R.N., became assistant director of nursing and Carolyn Lindstrom, R.N., has been appointed to the new position of in-service education coordinator. Holy Family is a 236-bed hospital owned and operated by the Sisters of the Holy Family of Nazareth.

Mrs. McGeeney received her basic nursing education at Ryburn Memorial Hospital, Ottawa, Ill., and received her psychiatry nursing experience at the Peoria State Hospital and pediatrics training at Cook County Hospital.

BEFORE JOINING the Holy Family nursing staff in November 1961 three months after the hospital began operations, Mrs. McGeeney was an industrial nurse with Libbey Owens Ford Glass Co., assistant supervisor at Ottawa General Hospital and worked in the emergency room and infusion therapy departments at Sherman Hospital, Elgin.

She married Craig McGeeney in 1955. They have two children and live in Carpentersville. McGeeney is a personnel counselor with offices in Mount Prospect.

Sister M. Edmea graduated from the St. Mary of Nazareth School of Nursing, Chicago, in 1962 and received her bachelor of science degree in nursing from DePaul University in 1964. She has served as staff nurse at St. Mary of Nazareth and became head nurse in the emergency room at Holy Family in August 1964.

Sister Edmea has also been on special assignment as infusion therapist at Holy Family. She made her final profession Aug. 10, 1965, becoming Sister Mary Edmea of the Blessed Trinity. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Dzik, 12432 S. Elizabeth, Chicago. To earn her master's degree in nursing, Sister Edmea is presently taking a full schedule at DePaul University in addition to her Holy Family hospital duties.

CAROLYN LINDSTROM attended Stephens College, Columbia, Mo., and received an associates of arts degree in 1960. In 1963 she graduated from Stanford University with a bachelor of science degree in nursing.

Before joining Holy Family, Mrs. Lindstrom served as operating room nurse at Stanford Hospital, Palo Alto, Calif., and also as operating room nurse at New York Hospital, Cornell Medical Center, New York, N. Y.

In her newly established position of in-service education coordinator, Mrs. Lindstrom is responsible for orienting all new nursing personnel and carrying on a continuing up-dating educational program. She teaches nurses aides, licensed practical nurses and conducts short course training programs for registered nurses on the Holy Family staff.

She is married to Richard L. Lindstrom and resides at 111 N. Lancaster, Mount Prospect. Lindstrom is on the sales force of American Hospital Supply Corp., Evanston (B-10

Northwest Board Still Must Decide

by HELENE BRISTOL
Staff Writer

With a vote of 55-5, doctors of the medical staff at Northwest Community Hospital in Arlington Heights approved a "non compliance" resolution on medicare for consideration by the hospital board of trustees.

The 60 doctors represent about half of the total staff of 116 physicians and dentists. The vote, which is being kept "under wraps" by hospital doctors, administrators and trustees, came at a special medical staff meeting Sept. 15.

The actual vote was a recommendation to the board of trustees that the hospital not authorize the American Hospital Association to consult with the government on behalf of the hospital in the development of policies, procedures and reimbursement formulas for hospital participation under medicare legislation.

It further urged the trustees not to authorize the AHA to nominate the Blue Cross Association to serve as administrative intermediary. As intermediary, Blue Cross would act as payment agent for the hospital.

THESE ARE THE basic decisions facing the hospital at present.

Later the hospial board of trustees must approve a formal agreement with the federal government if the hospital is to become a "provider of medical services" under the medicare plan.

In actuality, the majority of medical staff members oppose the hospital becoming a "provider," claiming that this would lower medical care standards.

In an effort to provide trustees with more information on medicare, the executive committee of the hospital board of trustees requested copies of the medicare legislation for all members of the board of trustees prior to their meeting Monday, Oct. 25.

THE MEDICAL staff meeting notice contained a call for the vote on hospital medicare participation. Several doctors have indicated they did not attend the meeting to avoid hearing the frequently repeated arguments by outspoken colleagues opposed to medicare.

These doctors noted that a probable majority of all doctors on the hospital staff would support the vote, but that the ratio was not 11-1 as indicated by the 55 to 5 vote.

"Don't paint us all with the same broad paint brush," was the plea of one doctor.

Almost all agreed they did not favor medicare, but the minority comment was, "Medicare is now the law of the land." Another coment was, "If you needed to use medicare, would you expect your community hospital to supply service? You know the answer is yes."

ONE DOCTOR called the action by the medical staff a "vote of anger." He said that doctors who felt strongly about opposing medicare had to "shake their fists" at something to indicate their views.

Doctors who supported the vote were generally unwilling to comment. Dr. John A. Detweiler of Arlington Heights, medical staff chairman and an admitted opponent of medicare, said revelation of the doctors' vote to the general public would create "potential problems." He stressed the final decision was up to the hospital board of trustees.

Northwest Community Hospital has received $1.5 million in federal hospital construction funds for the original building and the current $4 million expansion project. Community and industrial contributions have provided the major amount of construction funds. (B-10

Inside Randhurst

Randhurst Art Show Winners Announced

By BEVERLY AIRTH

The show was absolutely sensational! Whatever your reason for coming to the 1965 Art Show ... souvenir ... education ... research ... curiosity ... Sunday drive ... home furnishing ... picture collection ... I know you were really amazed over the vast number of beautiful paintings that were on display on the mall.

When I saw all those people on the mall looking over the works of the artists, I thought for sure there wasn't going to be enough paintings to go around! The crowds of people were astonishingly large, but I guess the supply of paintings was even larger, as there was a painting for everyone's wants and needs.

Boy, would I ever hate to be responsible for judging all those works! I tried selecting 10 winners, just to see how good my artistic talents were developing. Well I must say they haven't developed one "iota," as I didn't even get 1 out of 12.

THE JUDGES decided upon the winners (without my help) in each of four categories, despite the miscellaneous judging done by shoppers art enthusiasts, inside Randhurst writers, etc.

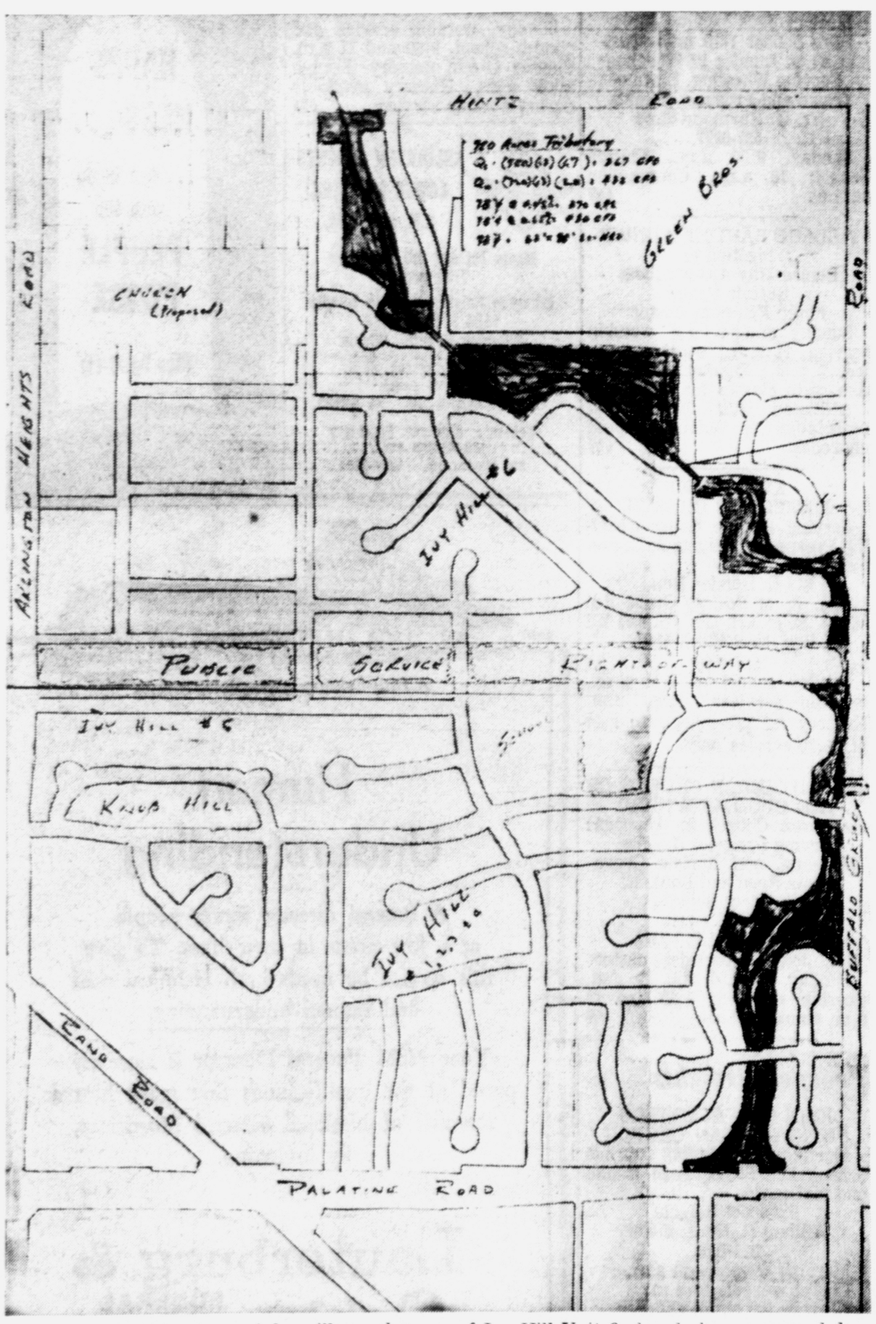
Everyone had fun judging the exhibits their "own way!" I had even more fun by just standing back and watching people judging the pictures — some squint ... some whisper ... some frown ... some tilt their heads ... some smile ... some are skeptical — but each has his own little way of determining what the artist is trying to capture or interpret.

THE RANDHURST visitors can now have a better understanding of that phrase best used to describe Randhurst ... "its all under one roof!" Many people have heard about Randhurst and upon visiting the center the concept of enclosed mall can now be visualized. Our artists sure appreciate the enclosed mall as the artist knows the hazards that the outdoor shows can have. If it doesn't rain, there is always wind to contend with or it may even be extremely warm or cold. Consequently, Randhurst exhibitors find the enclosed mall an excellent place to show their works.

The peg boards have now been removed from the mall and put back into the "Promotion Storage Room" until the next art show. What will be next? In answer to the many phone calls and letters we received, Randhurst has scheduled the Tuberculosis Institute X-ray Unit for Thursday and Friday, October 28 and 29.

Because so many of our friends and neighbors participate in these free public services, Randhurst is happy to cooperate with the various programs in providing the necessary facilities. (RH

McDonald Creek 'Parkway' OK'd



ROUGH DRAFT prepared by village planning engineer John J. Best shows possible parkway development along north and south branches of McDonald Creek, between Hintz and Palatine Roads. Not included is projected parkway along east branch, from Buffalo Grove Road to Schoenbeck Road. Developers of Ivy Hill Unit 6 already have proposed donation and development of that section of the parkway. Cutting across center of map is Public Service Co. high line right-of-way. Park district is negotiating for lease of that land for bicycle and walking paths, green areas. (AGW

The concept of an extensive parkway along three branches of McDonald Creek in northern Arlington Heights has been approved by the plan commission.

The commission last Wednesday approved dedication of a portion of the parkway, in Ivy Hill Unit 6. At the same time, it approved a resolution stating it 1) contemplates adoption of a parkway along the two legs of the creek between Hintz Road and Palatine Road and 2) regards as desirable a similar development along the creek extending east from Buffalo Grove Road to Schoenbeck Road.

COMMISSION Chairman Harold E. Carlson named members Fred Ainslie and William F. Hannum to a committee to meet with the park board to determine its desires for park reservations along the creek. The park board has indicated its interest in the development.

Park Supt. Thomas Thornton and village planning engineer John J. Best treked the length of the creek Monday to note its condition and potential development.

A park on McDonald Creek has been the subject of extensive review by village and park officials since developers of Ivy Hill Unit 6 proposed a dedication of land on the creek last summer. Proposed was an arrangement under which the village would take responsibility for maintenance of the creek bed with the park district acquiring recreational land adjacent to it.

That met highly cautious reaction at first from both the village and park district.

UNDER THE agreement approved by the plan commission, the developer will grade the creekbed, creating a channel to hold peak levels of water flow.

Thornton and Best also investigated the impact of the development and both have visited established creek parkways in Milwaukee. According to Best, the alternative to retaining McDonald's Creek's open flow is a huge underground pipe, at least along portions of the stream.

In a letter to Best, John R. Sheaffer, resources planning officer for the northeastern Illinois Planning Commission, siad, "The difficulty with pipes is that for all practical purposes they become permanent constrictions in the channel. A reach of Sugar Creek in DuPage County was enclosed in pipes. This has since given rise to many drainage problems, some of which are currently in court.

"IT WOULD appear that it might be possible to excavate material in the proposed park areas to obtain sufficient depths of water for recreational purposes. Such excavation would create ground-water lakes through which McDonald Creek would flow. A lagoon development would enhance the appearance of the basin, provide greater opportunities for water oriented recreation and serve as flood detention reservoirs."

Prof Will Discuss Meaning of Bible

In a world frightened by the prospects of atomic warfare, racked with racial conflict and faced with a population explosion, water shortage and rising crime rate, what possible meaning can the ancient bible have?

The program is sponsored by the adult education committee of the Congregation Beth Or, and is open to the public.

"I REMEMBER" BY THE OLD TIMER

From Mrs. Fred Planer, Bushnell, Florida: "I remember when we lived by the Mississippi River. We carried our wash water in buckets, from the river to the house, poured it into several wash-tubs and beat up an egg, stirring part of it into each tub of water, so the dirt would settle overnight.

"Next morning, we drained off the clear water, heated it over an open fire and put it into a hand-operated washing machine or used a rubbing board to wash our clothes.

"We also picked leaves of the Jimson weed, put them in a bag and boiled them with the clothes to make them white. We used homemade lye soap. A large washing was a big job and took nearly all day. We usually wore the dirtiest clothes out by scrubbing them so hard.

"But, we had the good old river to fish in, we took boat rides for pleasure, and the commercial freight boats kept us in contact with the cities and people. It was a good life, although rough. We lived in Illinois at that time."

"GOD ...not chance"

The more deeply you understand the power and love of God, the less you believe in chance. There's a law of Spirit much greater than the law of averages, and those who discover it, and live by it, will help to light the world's way out of chaos. Hear this public lecture titled "God — Not Chance" by NORMAN B. HOLMES, C.S.B., member of the Board of Lectureship of The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Massachusetts.

OLD DUTCH MILL
Built in 1850

The DuPage County Historical Society presented an AWARD OF HONOR to Mount Emblem in 1956 for preserving the Old Dutch Mill as an educational and historic exhibit.

Visitors to the Old Dutch Mill are always welcome.

Autumn brings a glorious burst of color to the superb landscape of Mount Emblem. This is one of Nature's most impressive moments which we invite you to enjoy.

You will see acre upon acre of multi-colored effects from our great variety of trees and shrubs each lending its particular hue to the scene.

For such extensive landscaping you could reasonably expect to pay more. Yet our prices are moderate. It costs no more to own the best.

DuPage Society Keeps County History Alive

Group to Realize Dream of Museum

by DAVID J. HANKS
Staff Writer

A spinning wheel, an antique piece of china and a Civil War uniform are all a part of the history of DuPage County.

Twenty-seven years ago, a group of "history minded" persons realized that these relics were important to preserving the history of the county. They formed the DuPage County Historical Society, and it grew from a few charter members in 1938 to about 400 today.

The members got excited about history and in a short span of years have collected almost everything conceivable which would preserve symbols of past years in the county.

But they set even higher goals than preservation. They also investigate and study history in DuPage and have published several pamphlets and books on yesteryear. Their highest goal, a museum to house historical items, will soon be achieved.

MRS. HAROLD Dunton of Wheaton, president, said "For many years we have felt a great need for a museum," and added that now "we will have one."

The historical society has accomplished other achievements however. In the pamphlets published it has done much to foster the sense of history in the county. It also has kept alive local traditions and has encouraged the preservation of historic sites and buildings.

Some of the pamphlets and books published by society members include: "DuPage County in the Civil War," History of Homes (in the county), History of Hinsdale, History of Business (in DuPage), This is Itasca, (1890-1965).

The society itself published the DuPage County Historical Review from 1946-52. In 1954 it started publishing portfolios annually in which were described historical sites, buildings, books, and relics. The last one was published in 1960. Since then the group has been concentrating its efforts on acquiring the museum which now will be a reality.

THE SOCIETY, with the donation of $26,000 from Edwin Deicke of Wheaton, bought the old library building at Wesley and Main; and it will be the new home of the DuPage County Historical Museum. Deicke is a life member of the society.

Besides the cost of the building the society has collected money to renovate the building and convert it into the museum. Mrs. Dunton said $8,000 more was still needed to complete the project. She said the society could get the funds through other donations. It has managed to raise nearly $20,000 but needs more, according to Mrs. Dunton.

Donations will be accepted by society treasurer Harold R. Klein, 101 Washington, Hinsdale.

WHEN THE project is completed the building will be given to DuPage County to maintain. The county has levied a tax for its maintenance.

After renovation, everything the society has collected in 27 years will be moved into the museum. Besides the spinning wheel, the china and the Civil War Uniform the society members have old books, furniture, including chairs, couches, and other pieces; guns, flags, photographs, canes, Indian artifacts and other items of history.

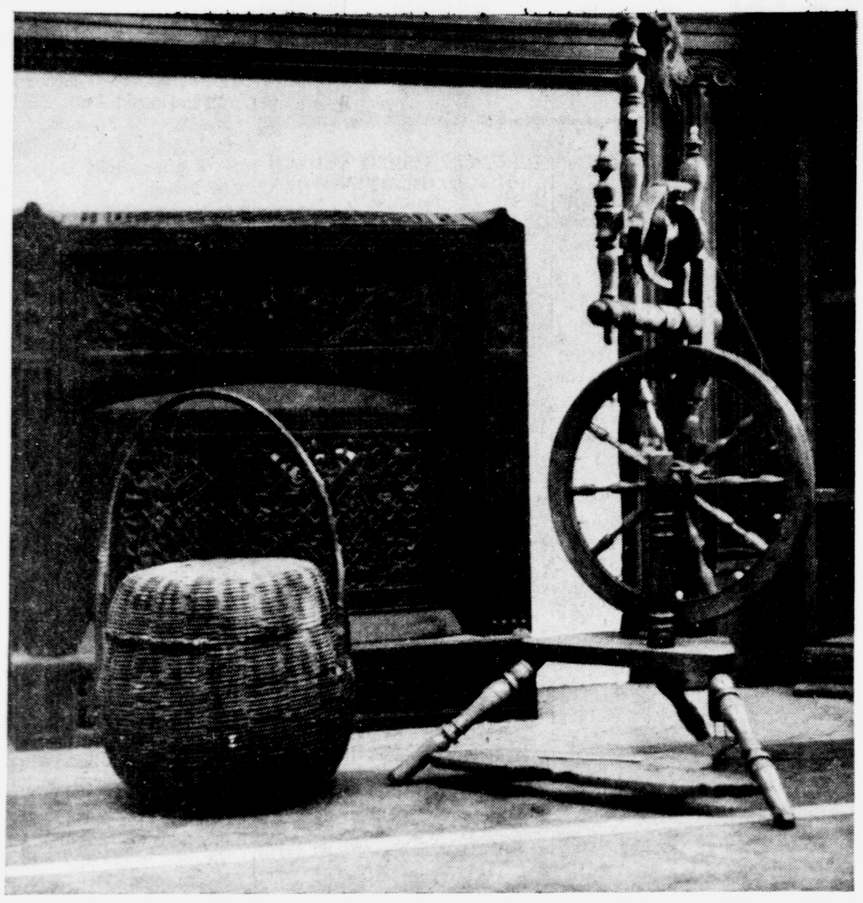
These mementoes are now being housed in members homes, said Mrs. Dunton, With its major achievement finally accomplished, Mrs. Dunton said, the society would continue to collect photographs of historical objects as well as the objects themselves to enhance the museum.

The society's first president, Theodore Hammerschmidt of Lisle, is still living and takes an active part in the activities. There are 20 life members and 6 honorary life members.

THE GROUP usually meets four times a year and discusses historical subjects pertinent to DuPage County. Tours, sponsored by the society are also arranged during these meetings. Members also give tours to various groups who are interested in history of the county.

The society's annual Harvest Dinner will be held next Wednesday at 6:30 p.m. at the Woodridge Country Club, south of Lisle. Nearly all of the 300 members are expected to attend.

Mrs. Dunton said she hoped the society would continue to grow. "Any person wanting their name, or possessions recorded in DuPage County's history should contact us." She added that the group was anxious to receive any relic which symbolized DuPage's history.



A SPINNING WHEEL and an old basket are only a couple of items which will be placed in the DuPage County Historical Museum in Wheaton. Presently items which symbolize the past in the county, are kept in the homes of historical society members.

MRS. HAROLD DUNTON, president of the DuPage County Historical Society examines a cane which is part of a collection which will be on display in the new home of the society. She says the displays in the museum will do a good job of depicting the history of DuPage County.

Giant Octobass

The musical world's largest stringed instrument, generally believed to be the bass viol, is surpassed by the 13-foot octobass, invented in France over a century ago.

Public Has Right To Know–Lorenz

The public has an inviolable right to know of the operations of tax-supported organizations, Francis S. Lorenz, director of the Illinois Department of Public Works and Buildings, declared recently.

Lorenz specifically referred to his department's Division of Highways, a $500,000,000 a year business. He made the remarks on "Your Illinois Highway Report," a prerecorded public service radio program broadcast by many Illinois stations.

"Every taxpayer is entitled to know from what sources funds are received, how they are expended and to whom," he said.

The responsibility for informing the public about the activities of the Division of Highways rests with the Bureau of Public Relations, he said. "It is their task to seek out all important information regarding the Division and supply it to news media in as informative and accurate a form as possible."

ALL BUREAUS are instructed to provide the public relations department with information about their present and future operations, such as proposed locations of new highways, upgrading or repair of existing highways, requests for bids on new construction and repairs, progress reports, dedications of new highways, detour information, Lorenz said.

An example of an important news release, Lorenz said, has to do with awarding contracts for highway construction.

"First, an announcement is made of projects and the time to submit bids," he related. "After the bid openings or 'lettings' as they are called take place the amount of the bids is released. Another article is prepared when the contracts are awarded. One other event of great public interest is the public hearings held in regard to new highway locations. The purpose of these meetings is to permit interested persons to express their views about highway locations before a final decision is made by the engineers."

Lorenz said the Division of Highways receives good cooperation from the news media and he expressed his appreciation. (A15

Clearbrook Plans Occupancy Nov. 15

The Clearbrook School for Retarded Children will have moved into their new building in Rolling Meadows by Nov. 15. It will have an enrollment of about 50 pupils.

The school has a double shift pre-school class for children aged four to six. A Primary class for moderately handicapped children six to eight and an intermediate group for severely handicapped are in progress.

THERE IS a full time sheltered workshop and speed and language therapy sessions for young adults. The recreational program includes bowling and swimming with the Arlington Heights Park District.

Two new phases in this year's program are an educational therapy class for emotionally disturbed children and a parent counseling group.

Many civic organizations are making pledges for the building fund which needs $130,000. To help raise funds the Atise Junior Women's Club are having an evening with Robert Goulet at 8:30 p.m. Nov. 15 at Mill Run Playhouse, Niles.

Several school board members in the audience questioned the state superintendent's legal opinion on dual enrollment. A test case is now in the courts, the panelists said.

The state superintendent believes the program can continue while the case is being processed in court.

Some people in the audience also questioned the problems involved for less affluent districts. (A15

Catholic Educator Reserves Judgment on 'Shared Time'

The superintendent of Catholic schools in the Chicago Archdiocese predicted it will take five to 10 years to measure the effect of dual enrollment programs.

The Rt. Rev. Msgr. William McManus speaking on a panel Thursday of the Tri-County Division's fall conference of the Illinois Association of School Boards, said he is keeping an open mind on the experiment.

What happens to the children and what kind of education they get will be evaluated thoroughly, he said.

"We are committed to full-time Catholic education as resources and teachers are available," McManus said. "Ideologically we are not a promoter of shared time. But I am an experimenter."

McMANUS DESCRIBED the two biggest dual enrollment projects in the Chicago area: the Grove Junior High-Queen of the Rosary Catholic School project in Elk Grove District 59, and the Kennedy High School-St. Paul Catholic School project in Chicago.

In both experiments children are grouped on the basis of ability grouping. The children are under the jurisdiction of the school they attend at the time. The movement between the two schools puts the students "on their honor."

A survey of the seventh and eighth graders' reaction to dual enrollment in Elk Grove Village showed strong support for the program.

McManus said under the new federal education act, parochial and non-public schools will be able to use resources, texts, and instructional materials that belong to the public schools.

VERNE CRACKEL, deputy superintendent in the Office of the state superintendent of public instruction, cited 10 problems that must be worked out for successful dual enrollment programs:

Some major points were: Financial pre-planning is needed. A public school can claim one-sixth state aid for each hour the student is in the public school.

—Pupil identification must be discussed since there is loyalty to schools.

—Scheduling adaption is necessary. Adjustment should be made by the sending school.

—In the cooperative arrangement, the stress must be on what's best to the total community interest.

—Laws of the state and the United States must be observed and community interest be recognized.

—Because the local high school is responsible only for students within its district and parochial schools sometimes reach beyond, this problem this must be handled.

CRACKEL DESCRIBED some of the cases setting precedent on the shared programs. A 1964 survey of the National Education Association showed 280 shared time programs with 27 in Illinois. Michigan with its 38 programs led the list. The survey showed 21.2 per cent of the 280 have been operating one to two years.

The state superintendent's office's philosophy is that equal educational opportunities should be provided all the children in Illinois. It will not dictate the position of a local district as long as the district's decision on educating youth does not conflict with the law.

Samuel Bishop, director of surveys for the Illinois Association of School Boards, emphasized that problems arising with dual enrollment can be worked out at the conference table.

THIS STONE STRUCTURE will be the new home of the DuPage County Historical Society in Wheaton. Located at Wesley and Main streets the society recently bought the old library building for $26,000. Presently the building is being renovated.

KICKIN' IT AROUND

by BOB FRISK
Sports Editor

AT THIS TIME LAST WEEK Gene Dahlquist held two Arlington High School pass receiving records.

Today, he has only one and is in danger of losing a second.

George Bork holds every single season passing record at Arlington High School, but his marks should be surpassed within the next three weeks.

They're rewriting the record book at Arlington this fall, and the two young men keeping statisticians working overtime are Bruce Hubbard, a 6-6, 196-pound senior end, and Steve Allen, a 6-3, 165-pound junior quarterback.

Hubbard, who also excells in the classroom, passed Dahlquist in one department last Friday evening with a dramatic 60-yard maneuver that decked visiting Hinsdale, 14-12.

GENE DAHLQUIST

When Hubbard pulled in that pitch from Allen and scored the decisive touchdown in the two-point victory, he increased his season yardage on passes to 420. Dahlquist had the old mark of 389 set in the 1959 season.

Hubbard now stands only eight catches away from another mark set by Dahlquist in Arlington's successful '59 campaign. Dahlquist, who was a quarterback for three seasons before making the switch to end, grabbed 28 Bork passes in eight games. Hubbard has 21 in five games.

Dahlquist and Bork alternated at quarterback during their junior years, but "Bus" Ormsbee, former Arlington coach and now athletic director at Wheeling, switched Gene to a flank as a senior and he responded with a sparkling performance.

"Bork wasn't the runner that Dahlquist was," Ormsbee recalls, "but he was a better passer and we decided to go with George on a full-time basis. We had to find a place for a boy with as much ability as Dahlquist and worked him in at end in practice before the first game."

The decision to go with Bork at quarterback and Dahlquist at end began to pay dividends in the season opener as Arlington pounded East Leyden, 34-13. Bork completed nine passes for 195 yards and two touchdowns, and Dahlquist pulled in one 47-yard scoring aerial.

Although Dahlquist was Bork's prime receiver in 1959 when Arlington won six of eight games, the slender Cardinal quarterback also liked to throw to All-State halfback Mike Dundy. Mike pulled in 21 passes for 270 yards in addition to piling up 549 yards rushing.

Barring any unforeseen developments, Bork's season passing records at Arlington should be shattered by Allen. Steve already has the single game marks for attempts (30), completions (15), and total yards (207).

In three games here's what Allen needs to snap Bork's single season records: 17 completions, 17 attempts, 215 total yards passing, and two touchdown passes.

For the season Allen has completed 54 passes in 109 attempts for 788 yards and six touchdowns. As a senior in 1959, Bork completed 70 of 125 passes for 1,002 yards and seven touchdowns.

Allen, who is 212 yards away from the "1,000 Yards Club" for a single season, is only three yards away from this exclusive club for a career. Steve has thrown for 997 yards in two seasons as a varsity quarterback.

Steve Allen and Bruce Hubbard have three games in which to do some more work on the Arlington High School record book, but regardless of what transpires in those three games two varsity performers have already given Cardinal fans a lot to talk about in 1965.

Ten Years Ago This Week . . .

ARLINGTON HANDLED GLENBARD in West Suburban football, 27-12, with Johnny Sujack scoring three touchdowns on runs of 21, 54, and 55 yards . . . Denny Thill tallied on a seven-yard dash as the Cards pushed their league mark to 3-2 . . . Arlington's varsity finished sixth in the conference cross country meet with Bill Palmer sixth among the individuals.

Forest View Tops Cat Runners 19-40

Craig Brown led Forest View harriers to a 19-40 cross country triumph over Wheeling last Saturday.

With a new course record of 10:05, Brown took first in the meet. It was his seventh individual victory of the season and helped move FV's dual record to 6-1.

FALCONS TED Lambert and Ken GaNung were in second and third for coach Bob Rees' winners. Rounding out Forest View scorers in sixth and seventh were Cliff Kuhnlohe and Dick Appleton.

Wheeling's front runner was Doug Steinman in fourth. Headman Ken Carter's crew had its won-lost record put at 5-3 by the result.

Right behind Steinman for the Wildcats was Bill Lytle in fifth. Others for the defeated runners were Paul Fiegen in eighth, Lenny Eaton in eleventh and Carl Meisenheimer twelfth.

At the frosh-soph level the Falcons also won. With Joe Branka taking first with a time of 11:03, FV ended ahead 17-44.

Behind Branka for FV were Oscar Pequeno, second; Dennis Jones, third; Tom Vaughn, fi[illegible]; and Scott Jones, sixth. For Wheeling the scorers were Bill Martin, fourth; Phil Smith, eighth; Scott Poklen, ninth; Doug Keene, eleventh; and Steve Mykytiuk, twelfth.

THE LOWER level Forest Fiew record was upped to 5-2. A 3-5 mark is now owned by F-S runners at Wheeling.

Next action for both teams will be the Mid-Suburban conference meet this Friday at Conant. Starting time is 4 p.m. Following that FV will travel to Palatine next Tuesday for the last dual of the season while Wheeling hosts Conant next Wednesday in its final dual action.

Feast and Famine Fight Over Football

Forest View Hosts Prospect In Battle of Grid Opposites

by MICHAEL HESS

Feast and famine have been the '65 football fortunes of Forest View and Prospect.

The Falcons grid repast has included four opponents in five outings. FV tops Mid-Suburban League entries with a 2-0 mark.

Dismal starvation has been the pigskin diet at Prospect. The Knights haven't won in five games and are presently 0-3-2 and near the bottom in M-SL standings at 0-1-1-.

When those two meet this Saturday the Forest View feast and Prospect famine should continue. But, when District 214 rivals meet, past records usually mean little.

The opening line-up for Falcons' coach Bob Scott holds few surprises but several standouts. Identical personnel has started nearly every contest for FV and Pat Dunnigan at halfback and Jim Baumgardt at end have always sparkled.

DUNNIGAN IS Forest View's workhorse. He has carried 88 times for 452 yards, a 5.6 yard average per attempt. Also, Dunnigan has picked up six touchdowns for the year and has thrown for another. Pat plays both ways, seeing full time duty in the defensive backfield.

Catching that TD aerial tossed by Dunnigan was Baumgardt. He has caught three scoring passes this season and the term "sticky-fingered" really applies to this 6-4, 200 pound senior.

Backing up these two for the Falcons are quarterback Chuck Boesenberg and sophomore halfback Spencer Dreischarf.

Boesenberg has passed for three touchdowns, scored another and kicked nine extra points. He shows a mark of 10 completions in 31 tries for 202 yards. After a fast start Driescharf has cooled off recently but still has five TD's, an extra point and over 150 yards gained rushing to his credit.

At Prospect the story is entirely different. The defending M-SL champs have never gotten started and are on their way to the worst year in school his-

Cards Seek Fourth League Win Friday

by BOB FRISK

Maine East has nothing to lose. That's what could make them dangerous Friday evening when Arlington's league-leading Cardinals, seeking their fourth conference win, visit the Park Ridge field.

The Blue Demons have been saddled with four straight West Suburban losses and have been embarrassed in the process, yielding 136 points.

Another loss wouldn't come as a great shock.

Maine isn't going anywhere this season, but the former West Suburban power would like nothing better than to snap out of its gridiron slumber with a victory over Arlington.

The Cardinals, fresh from a 14-12 conquest of Hinsdale and one of four teams tied for first place, must guard against complacency in this conference struggle and can't be caught looking ahead to bouts with Downers Grove and LaGrange.

THIS GAME of football is filled with stories of shocking upsets when a club was guilty of dismissing an opponent as a "sure thing."

Actually, there was a time when Maine had a "sure thing" with Arlington High School. Blue Demon entries reeled off 13 straight victories over Arlington before the Cards erupted with a 32-0 win last fall.

Maine fans were hoping for better things in 1965 after a disastrous '64 campaign, but the Demons have suffered four straight one-sided West Suburban setbacks despite the return of 14 lettermen.

YORK BUMPED Maine in the loop opener, 25-7, and then LaGrange (35-6), Downers Grove (41-0), and Glenbard West (35-0) bombed the Park Ridge crew. The Blue Demons have gone nine quarters without scoring a touchdown.

John Comstock (170) quarterbacks the Demons with Bill Dritlein (175) and John Sharer (165) at the halfbacks and Wally Pollack (195) at full. Dritlein was the team's top ground gainer in 1964.

Comstock has figured in both Maine touchdowns in league play. He threw 33 yards to end Bill Benesch for a score against LaGrange and rammed four yards for six points against York.

MAINE HAS good size on defense with Charley Bradenburger, a 5-9, 200-pounder, one of the key men.

Bob Soltis will be in charge of the Blue Demon eleven against Arlington. Bob Schildren, who guided Maine through the first five games, is on sick leave according to school officials.

This Maine club is not as bad as it has looked and could furnish a few surprises Friday night.

ARLINGTON'S Al Allen had reason to smile this week after his Cards leveled favored Hinsdale, 14-12, with a dramatic

FV Parent's Day

This Saturday will be "Parents' Day" at Forest View.

All parents of varsity and junior varsity football players, managers, trainers and cheer leaders will be admitted free to the FV-Prospect game. They should check in at the pass gate ticket booth and sit in a specially enlarged booster section.

Falcons' Athletic Director urged all parents to arrive at the field "as soon as possible before the JV and varsity games" to be present for their introductions.

Wildcats Host Pirate Eleven

'Cats Hope to Up 1-3-1 Record in Homecoming

by MICHAEL HESS

There is at least one bad aspect of winning and one good side to losing. Both bad and good are "pressure."

As a team piles victory on victory the strain of continuing unbeaten must grow and grow. Such a situation exists at Palatine.

For a team of lesser success there is little tension since another defeat holds little importance. That's the condition at Wheeling.

Those two schools meet on the gridiron this Saturday. The Pirates are 5-0 overall in '65 pigskin competition and 2-0, at the top, in Mid-Suburban League play. The Wildcats are 1-3-1 overall and 0-1-1, near the bottom, in the M-SL.

Pressure must certainly be "on" Palatine and "off" Wheeling.

THUS FAR this season the eleven of coach John Ellis has had everything go its way. The Pirates have scored 96 points and given up just 21 in whipping a quintet of opponents. Their most one-sided win came last week in a 35-0 crushing of Conant.

Wheeling, under headman Bill Daletski, has shown only a modest profit for efforts to date. The Wildcats were stopped 28-6 by Forest View in their most recent outing and show a 19-53 deficit in present campaign scoring.

Palatine has moved mainly on the ground and has moved exceedingly fine showing 779 turf yards gained in 5 contests. Of the prime movers for the Pirates there are two: John Ekeberg and Bill Peterman.

Ekeberg has rushed for 449 yards, well over half his team's total. With 88 carries to his credit that means he has averaged over five yards on each attempt. Ekeberg has also tallied nine touchdowns this year including four against Conant.

TOM NEUKRANTZ
Has 'Steady' Job

USED ALSO as an offensive blocker, Peterman has still managed to total 163 yards in 41 tries. He also has registered one touchdown.

When Palatine goes to the air, which it does very seldom, the arm most often in play belongs to Ken Johnson. Johnson, in addition to running for over 75 yards, has also hit on 11 of 21 aerials for 192 yards.

The Wildcats have had their troubles doing any moving on offense. They've gained just over 620 yards both rushing and passing this year. This has caused coach Daletski to make changes in his backfield.

Moving in at quarterback for the 'Cats will be Tom Neukrantz, a senior. "He's a decent runner and blocker," Daletski commented, "he's steady and he doesn't make mistakes. He probably won't throw much but his dependability is what we need."

At the halfback spots will be a pair switched from end posts, Bill Surmin and Jeff Powell. Said their coach:

"SURMIN is a junior and very fast. At 6-2 and 180 pounds his size should help our blocking. He cocld be the spark we need in the backfield.

"Powell has been overlooked and passed over until now. He's fensive end and can play almost done a very good job at deany position."

At fullback for Wheeling will be junior John Hittman. He saw action last week and scored one TD in addition to gaining over 50 yards. "He has done very well for us at fullback," said Daletski.

Defensively, though Palatine holds a definite edge, the story for both teams has been rather similar. Both have been stingy with yards and points but both will be hurt this week by injuries.

AT PALATINE the wounded party is Wayne Render, a defensive backfield mainstay and offensive blocker. He broke his arm against Conant and will be out for the season. Lineman John Blanchard will move in to replace him.

Tony Stoik will be missing from the Wildcats' line-up for the rest of the year. Stoik broke several fingers last week and the loss of his 235 pounds on the 'Cats defensive line will not help.

Remaining in the Pirates defensive alignment are several standouts. Leading those are Jeff Keller and Bob Payne. Keller, an all-state candidate, has been averaging between 15 and 20 tackles at his defensive tackle position. Payne, a defensive backfield entry, also doubles at offensive end.

Linemen Jim Whittington, Ted Armstrong and Steve Zasadny have paced the Wheeling defenders.

FOR WHEELING'S Daletski the game plan includes nothing fancy. This battle will be the 'Cats homecoming engagement but Daletski promises: "There will be nothing flashy. We'll just try to stay on the ground and not make mistakes to beat ourselves."

There may be some surprises from John Ellis. "This team is due for a shake-up," says the Pirates mentor. "I don't know just what the changes will be but this is the time."

Pressure is an intangible but, for Palatine's winners and Wheeling's not-so-winners, pressure may become a real factor. Pressure in the past has reversed some winning, and losing, trends.

St. Viator to Host Powerful St. Pat's

by BOB FRISK

The ingredients are there that make football upsets.

St. Patrick has overwhelmed two Chicagoland Prep League opponents and is unbeaten in four starts.

St. Viator has been struggling but is fresh from that first victory of the 1965 season.

This one should be interesting.

The Shamrocks will be favored Sunday afternoon at the Prospect High School field, but the Lions can't be dismissed lightly.

"We've got that first win now and the boys will be fired up for St. Pat's," St. Viator coach Joe Gliwa points out. "Fred (Dempsey) has another good club and has a long winning streak going in the league, but we'll be ready Sunday."

GETTING that first win, a tory. Poorest previous mark for the Knights was a 3-5 standard in 1963 and, with three games left this season, they'll have to struggle to avoid that.

BEST ASPECT of the entire year for headman Don Williams eleven has been defense and especially the play of Dan Agard.

Agard is a senior. He uses his 6-2, 190 pound frame to fill offensive guard and defensive line-backer posts. To date Agard has accounted for 71 solo tackles and has been in on 69 assists for a grand total of 140 tackles.

"He is as fine a lineman and linebacker as I've seen play," comments Williams. "He has the spirit, intelligence and talent and he uses everything he has all the time."

DAN AGARD
Where The Action Is

An injury may keep a lineman teammate of Agard's from playing against Forest View. Regular tackle Ray Kleinhuzen has a "bum" shoulder. Bill Dax might take over at the vacated tackle spot.

In the backfield another injury, to Bob Grady, has forced Williams to start two fullbacks. Regular Fred Wesley will open the game along with junior Bob Destafanis who will fill in for Grady.

STARTING AT quarterback in his second varsity game will be Tom Lundstedt. Last Saturday, under initial varsity fire, he passed 13 times for five completions, 116 yards and one touchdown. The 6-3 underclassman also ran for 12 yards in three attempts.

In that battle of last weekend Prospect was smothered by Maine West 40-7.

"That was the poorest game we've ever played," Williams said afterward. "We just didn't play football and I have only myself to blame. Work on defense is what we need and we'll have to get our offense moving."

The Knights have scored just 14 points this season while giving up 63.

SAID COACH Scott of his charges after their 28-6 thumping of Wheeling last week: "I think we've finally jelled as a team. That win was a complete team effort. Now we have to balance our attack so we have more passing to go with our running."

The game, at Forest View, will be the Falcons' "Parents Day." Those parents and other present should go prepared for feast and famine. They'll be seeing both.

CO-FAVORITES for the Mid-Suburban League cross country title are the runners of Forest View shown with their coach Bob Rees (far right). Falcons harriers have compiled a 6-1 dual meet record in addition to taking first in a triangular and in a 23 school meet at Janesville, Wis. Those FV distance men who will compete in this Friday's M-SL conference cross country meet are (kneeling, left to right) Bill Widenski, Dick Appleton and Cliff Kohnlohe along with (standing, left to right) Craig Brown, Buckey Jones, Ted Lambert and Ken GaNung. touchdown with 1:42 remaining.

"These boys just don't quit," Allen praised. "That was a good Hinsdale club, better than last year, but our kids hung in there. We still made our share of mistakes but were much more consistent than before."

Although Allen praised a "team effort," he did indicate that the staff was encouraged with the work of Jim Donchess, a 6-6, 195-pound junior, in his first start at end.

DONCHESS' most important grab came on a third and seven play in the second period with Arlington marching toward the Hinsdale goal. Steve Allen hit Donchess for nine yards and a first down at the 11 and the Cards carried in four plays later with their initial score.

With Donchess in the starting alignment quarterback Allen has two 6-6 receivers to look for. Bruce Hubbard, who took in the pass from Allen that toppled the Red Devils, also stands 6-6.

Allen hit five different receivers Friday in collecting 184 more yards through the air lanes. Steve now has completed 54 passes for 788 yards and six touchdowns this fall. He is 17 completions, 17 attempts, 215 yards, and two touchdown passes away from the season aerial marks established by George Bork in 1959.

HUBBARD HAS been Steve's favorite target with 21 grabs for 420 yards, the latter a school mark. Tom LeStarge has pulled in 15 for 114 yards and Dave Lockwood has 13 for 222 yards. Lockwood made a spectacular grab on a 38-yard maneuver against Hinsdale.

Only four other Arlington High School teams have won as many as four games in a single season of West Suburban play. The 1965 outfit hopes to become No. 5 Friday night.

Cat Frosh Whips FV

Freshmen from Wheeling had an extremely good day against Forest View last Saturday. The 'Cats won twice.

First Wheeling crushed FV at the frosh A level 41-0. Then the Wildcats topped the Falcons at the B level 19-6.

IN A ACTION Glen Roth had two scores for the winners on three and five yard runs. Other Wheeling scores were made by Mike Mitchell, Clay Gallimore and Marty Crain.

There was also a safety and two extra points by Jim Born and one pat by Israel Lopez in the whitewash.

For the winning 'Cats B team Leo Ramirez scored twice and Greg Craighead once. Craighead also made an extra point.

St. Patrick to Meet St. Viator

27-12 conquest of St. Mel, should serve as a boost to a St. Viator eleven that admittedly had been engaged in a frustrating season. The Lions have dropped three games by a total of eleven points.

"I was very satisfied with our showing Sunday against St. Mel," Gliwa said, "but I did feel we played a better game in the loss (13-12) to Holy Cross."

Gliwa started eight juniors on offense against St. Mel, and a 5-7, 145-pounder exploded for three touchdowns and turned in a superb performance both ways. Larry Snyder was one of many heroes for St. Viator in the Chicagoland victory as he sparkled on offense and defense and earned Gliwa's nomination for "Prep Back of The Week" in a metropolitan daily.

GLIWA ALSO received strong performances from Denny Forston and John Helmer and emphasized again that he "wouldn't trade his tackles for any in the league."

Forston and Helmer, who both suffered minor injuries against St. Mel but should be okay Sunday, have been spectacular this season and already have the college talent scouts extremely interested.

Forston has one more season of eligibility. He's a 6-3, 235-pound junior. Helmer is a 6-1, 191-pound senior who was all-league on defense last fall.

Gliwa also passed out plaudits to the defensive work of linebacker Kevin Laird and back Denny Wilkinson.

BILL ROSER, the swift halfback who was shelved for one week by grades, will be in uniform Sunday. He'll be joined by junior Bob Stevens, Snyder, and senior Mike Laird in the starting offensive backfield.

Over in St. Patrick's camp Dempsey, the head man, is equipped with another solid outfit that has crushed two league opponents by decisive margins.

In the loop opener St. Patrick bombed St. George, 34-0, running across four touchdowns in the first half, and last Sunday Dempsey's outfit ripped DeLaSalle, 40-14.

St. Patrick tied powerful Lane Tech in the sason opener, 7-7, and Dempsey says "that game gave our boys the confidence that they could play with the best." The Shamrocks came back with a 25-12 win over Taft before moving into league play.

Grove Sophs in Third Grid Win

Elk Grove's sophomore gridders won their third straight game of the season 14-0 over Downers Grove South last Saturday.

Big men in the EG win were Larry Pahl and Ray Bower. They combined for the winner's scores in the first and third periods.

A Pahl to Bower aerial covering 40 yards accounted for the initial Elk Grove touchdown. The second six-pointer came when the same combination clicked over 52 yards just after the intermission. Jim Oplt added both PAT's.

EG coach Bob Walther tabbed George Taylor and Roy McClellan for their excellent play at defensive end spots. The Downers Grove line outweighed Elk Grove by 15 pounds per man.

Knight Frosh Gain Grid Split

Prospect's freshmen scored early and late and split in action against Maine West last Saturday.

On the A level a 12-0 Knights lead disappeared into a 20-19 defeat. Jack Costello and Bruce Rose made the early TD's for Prospect and Greg Esty returned a punt 35 yards for the third score but the extra points made the difference.

COSTELLO totaled 150 yards in the game with his rushes. The Knights A record is now 2-2.

A fourth period tally gave Prospect's B level frosh a 6-0 triumph over Maine. Scott Crawford ran three yards for the winning score. Dave Phillips had 62 yards gained for the Knights, now 2-2.

MSL Harriers Clash Tomorrow At Conant

by KEN KNOX

The rolling greenery of Golden Acres Country Club will be the scene of siege this Friday afternoon as the six teams of the new Mid-Suburban League run for cross country supremacy.

Action at the Hoffman Estates layout is to get under way at 4:00 p.m. with the frosh-soph race. The varsity runners will get the gun at 4:30.

The meet, being hosted by Conant High School, will represent half the prize for the teams in quest of the MSL harrier crown.

The showing Friday will be combined with the records of the teams in dual competition, and the team with the best combination will claim the title.

The Conant course is a worthy one for meet competition, measuring two miles exactly with no ground covered twice. Several hills, none too severe in angle, will lend diversity and challenge to the runners. The record time for running the course is 10:28 by Conant's Dick Ledford, one second better than it was traversed by Forest View's Craig Brown.

FOR THREE of the schools involved — Palatine, Wheeling and Prospect — the look at the course will be the first this year. Forest View ran Conant in a dual on the layout two weeks ago, and Maine West was due for a dual this past Tuesday.

The coaches around the league are generally agreed that three teams — Forest View, Palatine and Maine West — go into the challenge with the most ammunition. But the two young schools — Conant and Wheeling — have both shown well this season and are outside threats to finish high. Only Prospect, which has already lost to Conant, Wheeling and Maine in duals, is given little chance to score significantly in the varsity running. But each team has at least one boy who could carry the individual honors.

Forest View, coached by Bob Rees, goes into the meet having won six of seven duals, a triangular, and the Janesville Invitational. The Falcons have taken care of Conant (24-34) and Wheeling (19-40) in the league, and are led by the brilliant Craig Brown, top man in six duals and at Janesville. With a resurging Ted Lambert nearing a predicted peak, FV will be tough.

PALATINE, after being routed by York and Evanston at the beginning of the season, has won eight duals, losing only a squeaker to Arlington and ending fourth at Janesville. The Pirates of Dick Storm handled Conant 21-40 in the conference, and tied Maine 29-29. Palatine's hopes hinge on Rodger Lawrence, winner of four duals, and the continued quick development of Bill Bahnfleth and Mike Ferguson.

Maine, whose coach Bill Barringer thinks the decision will go down to who has the best fifth man, has only that tie with Palatine to blemish its dual record. It has beaten seven opponents, including Wheeling and Prospect (both 20-37) in the league. The Warriors' young Lee LaBadie, first almost every time he's run this year, presents one of the most imposing threats for the individual title. But he's backed by Kevin Flurkey and Ed Lusk of a 1963 champion sophomore team, and Doug Chase, second in the league as a sophomore last year.

Jack Ary of host Conant is optimistic about the Cougars' chances if he gets good performances from a young team. The Cougars had won five of nine duals as of Monday, having beaten Prospect in the conference 23-35. Conant is led by Dick Ledford, winner of four duals and just hitting his stride. Dave Troy, winner of one dual, Larry Robertson, and freshman Glen Lee give balance.

WHEELING, under Ken Carter, had won five out of eight duals going into this week, beating Prospect but losing to Maine and Forest View in the MSL. The Wildcats have good balance, with Paul Fiegan, Bill Lytle and Doug Steinman alternately claiming the top places. But strong fourth and fifth man performances will be needed.

Prospect, at 2-5, is the only MSL team that didn't have a winning record overall in the action through last Saturday. The Knights' Dick Calisch has been hampered by graduation and a poor turnout. His chief hope is with Jack Pollard, the team's top man now coming back from injuries.

Prospect could make up for a poor varsity showing by ruling the frosh-soph running. The young Knights and Palatine seem headed for a showdown, with Forest View as an outside choice. In various freshman and sophomore competition, Prospect is unbeaten in nine outings. Palatine has strung 13 victories after two losses, with the Class B title at Janesville in the total. Both hold convincing victories over league foes, including Maine West. Forest View has lost twice, won five, and was fourth at Janesville in Class B.

Eagles, Cards Hold Unbeaten Standards

The Eagles and Cardinals maintained their unbeaten records Saturday in the Arlington Heights Boys Football program.

In Junior League activity the Cardinals blanked the Colts 6-0 for their fourth victory. The Cards will battle the Packers (3-1-1) Saturday at Miner Jr. High and a Packer victory would throw the league into a first place tie.

In Senior League play the 49ers and Rams remained in a first place deadlock with effortless victories.

The Eagles clinched the Varsity League championship with their 13-0 win over the Steelers. They now own a two-game lead over the Vikings with only one game remaining.

Tom Sayre tallied two touchdowns for the Giants on a 40-yard pass play from Bob Williams and 50 yard run with a fumble. Williams scored the extra point.

In Junior League play the Cardinals scored in the first period and held on for their 6-0 win over the Colts. Ken Peters tallied on a 30-yard end sweep.

MARK WEBER, Gary Lehnert, Mark Carroll, Jim Glueckert, Brett Warrington, Mark Prafke and Mike Geddis sparkled on defense for the Colts.

Rick Clemens scored the only touchdown on an eight-yard scamper as the Packers tripped up the Bears 6-2. The safety came in the final period.

Offensive stnadouts were John Gibble, Bob Broderick, Craig Noland, Rich Coarkin, and Clemens. Defensive stars were Marty Friel, Jeff Sieler, Doug Everhart, Jim Stull, Gary Lockwood, and John Brinkworth.

IN SENIOR League action the Rams blanked the Redskins 22-0, scoring in each of the first three periods.

Chuck Norton opened the scoring with a 45-yard dash, and John Manning crashed over from the seven for the second touchdown. Tom Cannon tackled a Redskin back in the end zone for a safety and two more points, and Steve Aylward took in a 30-yard pass from Norton for the final touchdown.

Offensive leaders were George Lilly, Norton, Craig Hutchison, Mike Weber, Rick Parkin, Loeffel, Tim McGrath, Aylward, Manning and Tom O'Hagen.

PACING THE defensive unit were Tom Perry, Dan Grant, Don Spry, Hutchison, McGrath, Cannon, Manning, Peter Dunke, Mike Gasey, Bill Hay, and Dave Griener.

Barry Monschein scored two touchdowns to lead the 49ers past the Lions, 21-0. Barry counted on runs of 30 and 40 yards.

Dennis Foreman added the third touchdown on a 20-yard sweep around end.

Offensive standouts were Dan Selleck, Bob Massey, Chuck Kenny, Gene O'Hara, and Dan Kulahan. On defense the coaches praised Gary Winslow, Rick Rang, and John Shanley.

JUST DOGS

By Dave Terrill

Teens Take Note . . .

Teenagers, particularly girls, are "dogs best friends" according to Gaines Dog Research Center, New York. A tabulation of responses to a questionnaire sent out by the teen publication, Seventeen magazine, showed that in nearly six million homes where there are both teenagers and pets, it was the girls who wanted the animals.

This was true in seven out of 10 dog-owning families. In half of these families, the teenage girl is the dog's owner, the person most attached to the dog and who looks after him. As a passing thought, in addition to dogs and cats, which head the list of pets, teeners also own birds, fish, rabbits, mice, hamsters, horses and turtles, in that order of popularity.

Like their youthful owners, it was found out that dogs are "snackers." That's not the best way to feed a dog, but what can they do when in company with the snack-eating crowd. Fortunately, the dogs' diets are found to be generally varied and they are given a good commercial dog food as the main meal.

South Side Obedience . . .

This Sunday, Oct. 24, South Side Obedience Dog Training Club will hold its annual obedience trial in the International Amphitheatre, Chicago. This is one of the largest all-breed obedience trials held in the country and will have a number of entries from this area. It will be an all-day affair, so if you want to take in an obedience trial, here's your chance to see a big one.

New Officers . . .

At the annual meeting of the Northwest Obedience Dog Training Club, held Friday evening, the following new officers for the year were elected: President, Coy Wooldrige, Prospect Heights; vice president, Robert Kleiner, Arlington Heights; secretary, Mrs. Kenneth Stiert, Arlington Heights; treasurer, Mrs. Edwin Murphy, Hoffman Estates. The new director of training will be Leo Smolinski of Bartlett.

Two new directors were also elected for two-year terms: Mrs. Ann Ward of Arlington Heights and Walter Ross of Palatine.

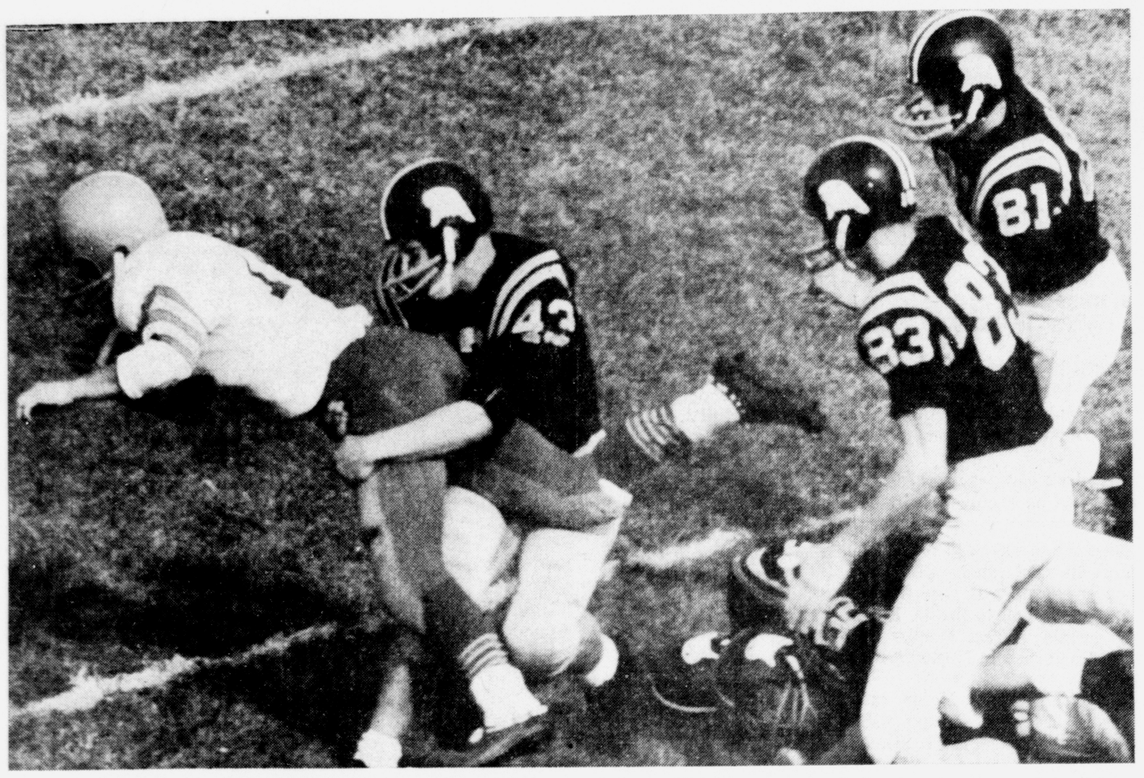
The club holds training sessions every Wednesday evening starting at 8 p.m., in the basement of the old Jewel Tea building, on North Brockway in Palatine. Visitors are always welcome to attend. A graduation night for the present beginning class will be held Wednesday, October 27, at 8 p.m.

Unusual Breed . . .

There will, no doubt, be an article on a rather unusual breed of dog in the near future. It was brought to the attention of this writer that at least one Bouvier des Flandres, of which there are about 117 in the United States, resides in the area.

Barks & Bays . . .

A safey minded dog owner, Henry La Sala of Newark, N.J., has designed seat belts for both the front and rear seats of his car for his dog, "Cleo."



CAUGHT BY FOREST VIEW'S Spencer Dreischarf is Wheeling runner Mark Newman. In last Saturday's grid struggle won by FV 28-6 Newman was thrown for total losses of 34 yards as he tried to pass from his quarterback position. Watching the action are Dreischarf's teammates Scott MacDonald (83) and Bob Erlander (81) as another Falcon Jerry Adams (52) takes a lower view. (Staff photo)

FV Varsity Runners Top Prospect 17-38

Two different strings were kept alive in Prospect-Forest View cross country action Tuesday evening.

The Falcons varsity won its sixth straight dual meet 17-38. But, at the frosh-soph level, the Knights continued unbeaten through eight meets 23-38.

TWO PERSONAL streaks were also lengthened. Craig Brown, winning the varsity race for FV, won his ninth race of the year. Among the F-S entries, Prospect Steve Holmes won his fourth.

Behind Brown for the winning Forest View varsity were Ken GaNung in third and Ted Lambert, fourth. Dick Appleton and Cliff Kuhnlohe were seventh and ninth for coach Bob Rees runners now 7-1 for the season.

For Prospect the leading runner was Dennis Breen. He ended sixth. Jack Pollard, tenth; Rich Braunschweig, twelfth; John Jacobsen, sixteenth and Dave Render, twenty-third, completed the field for coach Dick Calisch's varsity now 2-6 in '65.

At the frosh-soph level Joe Mohlman in fifth trailed winner Holmes. Bruce Oswald, Dave Baker and Owen MacBride in sixth, seventh and eighth completed the field for the triumphant F-S team.

FOR THE Falcons lower level runners the leader was Jerry Branka in second. He was followed closely by Oscar Pequeno in third. In eleventh, twelfth and thirteenth were Tom Vaughn, Dick Bruns and Brian Finch.The FV younger harriers record is now 5-3.

The meet was a double dual affair over the Falcons' course. The third team was Barrington.

At the varsity level Barrington beat Prospect 22-37 but lost to Forest View 22-37. In frosh-soph action the Knights whipped Barrington 19-44 as did the Falcons, 18-43.

Arlington Cops 14-12 Thriller

Cardinals Shock Red Devils On Allen's Pass to Hubbard

by BOB FRISK

There's something special about beating Hinsdale in football.

The Hinsdale name is syonymous with power in schoolboy ranks. Through the years the Red Devils have featured some of the strongest prep elevens in Illinois.

You're bucking a tradition when you tangle with Hinsdale. Those youngsters aren't familiar with losing.

Hinsdale found out how to lose Friday evening at Arlington High School. They lost with only 1:42 remaining. They lost on a 60-yard pass play. They lost sole possession of first place in the West Suburban Conference.

Steve Allen and Bruce Hubbard, one of the most successful passing combinations in prep football this fall, clicked again for the dramatic touchdown that gave Arlington a 14-12 victory before a packed house.

IT SHOULDN'T have been a big surprise to Hinsdale that Allen and Hubbard would collaborate for the decisive six points. They had teamed up with only 57 seconds remaining to give Arlington a 27-20 victory over Barrington in the season opener. They had teamed up on 20 previous occasions for pass plays covering 360 yards.

The payoff strike that covered 60 yards gave Hubbard a new school record in total yardage for pass plays. Bruce now has pulled in 21 passes for 420 yards this fall. Gene Dahlquist held the previous yardage record of 389 set in the 1959 season. Gene still has the school mark of 28 grabs over an eight-game card.

The 14-12 victory, Arlington's fourth in history over the Red Devils, pushed coach Al Allen's outfit into a four-way tie for first place with Hinsdale, York, and LaGrange. Each club shows a 3-1 record in the hectic West Suburban title chase.

LAST FRIDAY'S battle at Arlington matched the Cardinal aerial show with the Red Devil ground attack.

Allen completed 10 passes in 17 attempts for 184 yards. The Cards collected only 29 yards on the ground.

Hinsdale penetrated for 241 yards on the ground but only six through the air.

The payoff touchdown came after Arlington had checked a Red Devil advance at the Cardinal 40 yard line with 1:54 remaining.

HINSDALE HAD marched from its own 38 yard line to the Cardinal 33 in nine plays, but Bill Sayre nailed Pete Malin for a seven yard loss on a fourth and two situation.

Allen missed on a first down pass to set up the thrilling pitch to Hubbard.

The 6-3 junior was faced with a determined Red Devil rush on the second down play, but he eluded the defenders, stepped forward a few yards, and then uncorked a perfect strike to Hubbard.

STEVE ALLEN

BRUCE HUBBARD
. . . and Catcher

Hubbard was all alone as he gathered in the Allen pass and he covered the final 35 yards unmolested. Only 1:42 showed on the clock.

ALLEN THEN kicked his second straight conversion to give the Cards a 14-12 lead.

Hinsdale went to the air in the final seconds with little success. Dave Lockwood pilfered a Malin pass and returned 50 yards, but the play was nullified by a double foul.

With 1:08 left Tom LeStarge stepped in to grab a Malin pass and return to the Arlington 41. It was all over two plays later.

THE CARDS GAVE Hinsdale its first touchdown when they fumbled at the Card 30 early in the opening period. The Devils struck in four plays with sophomore standout Ken Koranda crashing over from the two.

The attempted conversion by John Imrie was off the mark, and this proved disastrous for Hinsdale.

Arlington fought back with Allen engineering an 80-yard scoring drive just before the first quarter ended.

A pass interference rap got the Cardinals started, and the big play was a 38-yard flip from Allen to Lockwood with the 180-pound junior end making a spectacular grab.

Lockwood's catch put Arlington on the Hinsdale 22 and on a third and seven play Allen hit junior Jim Donchess, a 6-6, 195-pounder who got a starting nod at end, for a first down at the 11.

LeSTARGE DROVE for three yards to the eight and after an incomplete pass Allen hit Lockwood at the one. Steve carried in for the Cardinal touchdown and then added the extra point.

Hinsdale drove 68 yards for the go-ahead touchdown with Koranda smashing over from the four with 4:35 left before halftime. Koranda, who carried 28 times for 117 yards in the contest, was used eight times in this advance.

Imrie again missed the extra point, and the visitors carried a 12-7 lead into the dressing room.

HINSDALE threatened in the third period, but Guy Pasvogel picked off a Malin pass at the Cardinal seven.

The fourth stanza was uneventful until the Devils mounted their drive in the closing minutes. And then came the fireworks.

The Hinsdale attack bogged down, Arlington took over, and Allen and Hubbard went to work.

St. Viator Captures First Victory, 27-12

by FRED BOEDEKER

"If at first you don't succeed . . . " Ben Franklin said it originally but not with the conviction and satisfaction that was present in the voices of St. Viator's football followers as they emerged from Chicago's Rockne Stadium last Sunday afternoon.

The Lions, who have been on the threshold of victory in each of their first four games only to have the door slammed in their faces in the closing minutes of play, claimed their first victory of the season—a convincing 27-12 rout of St. Mel.

Joe Gliwa's boys combined a consistent, hard-hitting offense with their usual fine defensive play to even their C.P.L. record at 1-1.

St. Mel opened the scoring in the first quarter when Glen Reed plunged over from two yards out to climax a 65 yard drive that was highlighted by a 52 yard pass from Greg Heffernan to Jim Miller.

AS THE QUARTER was drawing to a close, a short St. Mel punt gave the Lions the ball on St. Mel's 40 yard line. Larry Snyder skirted right end for 17 yards and a first down. Fullback Bob Rogowski netted 15 yards on two carries to give the Lions a first and goal situation on the eight. But four plays later the locals had advanced the ball only two yards and St. Mel took over on their own six as the first quarter ended.

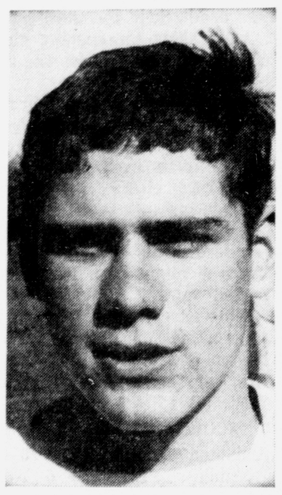
On the opening play of the second stanza, Viator linebacker Mike Laird broke through to tackle Miller in the end zone for a safety. Although St. Viator dominated play in this quarter, they were unable to do any more scoring. The half ended with St. Mel leading 6-2.

On the first play from scrimmage in the second half, Lion halfback Denny Wilkinson took a pass from Bob Stevens and outran the Knights' secondary to go 69 yards for a touchdown. Bill Aylward added the extra point to give St. Viator a 9-6 lead.

AFTER AN exchange of punts, St. Mel's guard Bill Whalen intercepted a short Lion pass and returned it to the Viator 22. Four plays later Glen Reed got his second T.D. of the game on a one yard plunge. The extra point attempt failed and the Knights had a 12-9 lead.

After the ensuing kickoff, two incomplete passes and a short gain on a running play forced the Lions to punt. Bob Stevens got off a booming kick and Reed tried to make an over the shoulder catch. But the ball hit off his arm and bounded to the two yard line where St. Viator end Paul Rocca fell on it. Snyder took a Steven's handoff and burst off tackle for the score that put the Lions ahead to stay 15-12 as the third quarter ended.

Snyder scored twice in the final period to effect the final 27-12 score. His first came on a 28 yard burst off tackle and the second on a 36 yard scamper around end. The latter was set up by a fine run with an intercepted pass by Kevin Laird, who was celebrating his return to the lineup after a week's layoff caused by a hip injury.



LARRY SNYDER
Explosive

SNYDER HAD his finest day on offense amassing over 100 yards rushing and scoring three touchdowns. Larry had ample assistance from quarterback Stevens and halfback Rogowski as well as tackles Denny Forston and John Helmer in the line.

Forston and Helmer were also the mainstays of the defensive squad which seems to be getting better each week. Mike and Kevin Laird, Denny Wilkinson, and Dave McGee also played fine defensive games for the visitors.

St. Viator Falls To St. Francis, Tops St. Joseph

St. Francis of Wheaton landed five of the top six positions Monday afternoon and posted a 19-40 varsity cross country victory over a St. Viator squad depleted by grade ineligibility.

Bob Nemec was the first Lion runner across the line in second place.

Also scoring for St. Viator were Greg Peterhans in seventh, Louis Peterhans in eighth, Don Rich in 11th, and Mike Tremblay in 12th.

On a frosh-soph level St. Francis registered a 20-43 victory although the Lions' Bill Balaz was the individual winner.

St. Viator turned back St. Joseph last week, 19-48, with Nemec turning in his finest effort of the season. Nemec covered the Lion course in a season best of 9:27.

Greg Peterhans, Fred Booth, Jim Spears, and Ric finished 3-4-5-6 for the locals.

The frosh-soph meet ended in a 28-28 deadlock.

In other recent action the Lion frosh-sophs tied Maine South for second in a triangular with the Hawks and Holy Cross, but the varsity finished a distant third.

Holy Cross won the frosh-soph meet with 30 points. Maine South and St. Viator had 45 each.

Maine South won the varsity action with 28 points and was followed by Holy Cross with 39 and Viator with 71.

Scoring for the Lion varsity were Nemec in fifth, Greg Peterhans in 13th, Booth in 15th, Spears in 18th, and Jouis Peterhans in 20th.

St. Viator toppled Carmel of Mundelein, 19-46, with Nemec the individual winner with a 9:40 clocking over 1.8 miles. St. Viator also won the frosh-soph meet 15-68 with Tom Mulcahy taking top honors.

The Chicagoland Prep league harrier meets are set for next Wednesday, Oct. 27 (varsity) and Friday, Oct. 29 (frosh-soph).

Card Frosh Win Again

Arlington's explosive frosh 'A' football team topped 30 points for the fourth straight Saturday as it rocked host Hinsdale, 33-12.

In three previous outings coach Ted Wissen's 'As' had rolled up 40 points against Glenbard West, 43 against Riverside - Brookfield, and 34 against York.

Dennis Meacham continued to impress as he ran for three touchdowns on runs of 51, 50, and 25 yards. The 50-yard jaunt came with a punt.

Wilber Heinemann dashed 49 yards for a touchdown, and Jim Baumgartner covered 70 yards in the fourth quarter.

Meacham and Dean Schmelzer added the extra points.

"Our line did a great job on both offense and defense," Wissen praised.

Arlington also won the frosh 'B' contest, 12-7.

The Cards will host Maine East this Saturday at 9:30 a.m. The 'As' now stand 5-0 and the 'Bs' 2-1-2.

Maine West Thunders Past Prospect 40-7

by MICHAEL HESS

Let it be recorded: Prospect's blackest football hour came at 3:49 p.m. on October 16, 1965.

Darkness last Saturday was partially caused by record-breaking defeat. The Knights had fallen before Maine West 40-7.

A quartet of Prospect pigskin records were set in the one-sided affair. For losing coach Don Williams' eleven they are marks to be forgotten.

Never before in Knights' history had an opponent scored six touchdowns or 40 points. Never before had an enemy won by 33 points. Never before had an opposition gained 418 yards. Maine West did all four.

EVEN SUCH crushing defeat however does not alone produce total gloom. That dimness was deepened by what came before.

The MW game was the fifth straight winless outing for Prospect. Headman Williams crew now holds overall '65 totals of 0 - 3 - 2 and a Mid - Suburban League standard of 0 - 1 - 1.

Against the Maine onslaught last weekend the lone bright spot for the Knights was their offense. Shut out for 15 straight quarters Prospect offense men finally picked up their second TD of the season. Their attack also rolled up 212 yards, a high for present season activity.

The Knights started their only productive drive of the day with 10 minutes left in the game and MW ahead 33-0.

Prospect's Bob Grady received a Maine kick and returned it 20 yards to his own 42. There junior quarterback Tom Lundstedt, in his initial varsity appearance, took over the push.

LUNDSTEDT tossed to end J.D. Thorne for 21 yards and the Knights were at Maine's 37. A one yard run by Lundstedt was erased by an illegal procedure penalty putting Prospect back to the 41. Lundstedt faded back for another pass.

The 6-3 signal caller spotted end Tom Beard all alone at the 15. Beard had out-raced MW defenders and he took Lundstedt's aerial in full stride. He crossed the goal line untouched. Bill Dax booted a perfect PAT for the Knight's seven points.

Scoring for Maine didn't start until the second quarter. The Warriors started a push from their 30.

Ken Mandelky ran for 15 yards, Carl Martin raced for four and Bob Banger added nine on two carries for a first down at the Knights' 42. Romps of 27 and 11 yards by Steve Ryden put the ball close and quarterback Jim Kautz carried to paydirt.

Though the score was 6-0 when the extra point kick was missed, Maine upped its margin with two more tallies in the next seven minutes. Pass interceptions led to both.

AN INTERCEPTION gave the Warriors ownership on Prospect's 35. Mandelky ran for five and Rich Manny for two before Kautz passed complete to Paul Moehling who fumbled out of bounds at the two. Kautz counted again and again the kicking PAT try was missed.

Another interception gave Maine the pigskin at Prospect's 47. A 10 yard run by Jeff Pabich and Kautz's 11 yard scamper put the ball to the 26. Banger passed to Ken Mueller at the 18 and then to Moehling for the TD.

Switching tactics Maine ran for the PAT and Banger was successful making the halftime score 19-0.

Using long runs by Kautz, Ryden, Mandelky and Manny the Warriors registered one third period TD, by Kautz, and another early in the last quarter, by Mandelky. The Knights put theirs over and then came the record breaker.

Taking Prospect's kick, Maine moved from its 32 to the enemy seven in nine plays. Junior Ernie Fulbright gained 30 of those yards and also burst the final seven across the goal line.

BANGER ran right end for the last PAT and MW's 40th point.

Strangely enough, three of the old records against Prospect were also held by Maine. In 1963 the Warriors made five TD's, 34 points and a 20 point margin with a 34-14 victory. North Chicago set the old yardage mark at 402 yards gained during the same year.

After Maine's final touchdown the Knights moved from their 30 to the MW 26 on 11, 24 and 17 yard passes from alternating quarterbacks Lundstedt, Bob Mutert and Gary Guerin. Final play of the game found a Mutert pass being picked off by a defender at the goal line.

When the ending-gun sounded the clock read 3:49 p.m.

Tops Wheeling, 28-6

Forest View Trails In Statistics But . . .

by MARV PRELLBERG, JR.

Forest View earned a 28-6 Fall Festival football win over Wheeling High last Saturday afternoon in a contest in which Wheeling dominated most of the statistics but the Falcons the scoring.

Coach Bob Scott's Falcons were outgained in total yards from scrimmage by the visiting Wildcats, but his charges came up with a couple of big plays that spelled the difference in this Mid-Suburban League tussle.

Forest View's first score came via a 45 yard sustained march, which was considerably helped by three straight off-side penalties against Wheeling.

THE SECOND Falcon tally came after Mike Holstrom had returned a Wheeling punt 65 yards and gave his mates position for another scoring drive.

The third TD was an electrifying 85 yard sprint by Falcon back Pat Dunnigan on an intercepted pass, and the final touchdown drive was kept alive by an 11 yard dash by Chuck Boesenberg, after a field goal attempt was fumbled.

There was no doubt that Scott, the Falcon head mentor, was worried bout this game, for the Falcons' 6-0 win over Conant High the previous week had proved to be costly in terms of injuries to key personnel.

Tough defensive end Pete Phillips and 230 pound tackle Bob Chudik were not available for action, and all-state halfback candidate Dunnigan was troubled with a groin injury.

DUNNIGAN, WHO is the key offensive back and also more than just adequately fills in at a defensive backfield position, was not in the Forest View starting line-up. However, when the 180 pound senior was called into action early in the first quarter, he made his presence known in spite of the hampering injury.

Dunnigan's longest run from scrimmage was a five yarder, but when the afternoon's grid festivities were over, the hard working halfback-fullback had scored three touchdowns and had been in on numerous key defensive plays.

The Wheeling eleven had trouble once again in showing much scoring punch. The deepest penetration for the Wildcats in the first half was down to Forest View's 40 yard line. In the second half Coach Bill Daletski's gridders were somewhat more effective.

The Wildcats, primarily due to a 35 yard Mark Newman to Jim Bowker aerial, moved down to the Falcon 19, only to have Dunnigan pick off a Newman third down pass and race 85 yards down the sideline for a Forest View TD. Finally in the fourth quarter Wheeling put together a scoring march that measured 66 yards in length and placed its only score of the day on the scoreboard.

THE FIRST SCORE of the game came midway in the opening period. The Falcons had gained possession of the ball after Wheeling had been forced to punt. Steve Mueller and Holstrom moved the Falcons from the Wheeling 45 to the 29, and, then, three straight off-side penalties against the Wildcats gave Forest View possession on the 15.

Dunnigan in three running plays moved the pigskin to the ten. On second down he took a pitch-out and threw a running pass to big end Jim Baumgardt, who made a leaping grab of the pass in the end zone and hung on for the TD.

Boesenberg then kicked the first of four successful conversion attempts to give the Falcons a 7-0 lead, a lead which they never relinquished.

FOREST VIEW'S next counter came in the third quarter after Holstrum had rambled 65 yards on a punt return maneuver before being tackled from behind by Wheeling's Bill Surmin on the Wildcat 20 yard stripe. A two yard run by Spencer Dreischarf and a 16 yard Boesenberg to Howard Brasch pass play put the Falcons on the two yard line. Dunnigan smashed in from there for the score.

Before the third quarter ended Forest View took a 21-0 lead when Dunnigan stopped a Wheeling drive by picking off that Newman aerial on his own 15 and, aided by a key block by Brasch, ran untouched down the sideline for an 85 yard touchdown.

Wheeling came right back to score its only tally of the fracas, moving in a series of running plays by Rick Haddock, Tom Manderscheid, and Jon Hittman from its own 34 yard line into paydirt. The scoring march was culminated by Hittman's one yard plunge for the six points.

Forest View put the finishing touches on its victory with a touchdown late in the final quarter, when Dunnigan smashed in from the one yard line and Boesenberg again converted for the 28-6 final count.

The win kept the Falcons in a tie for the Mid Suburban title chase with a 2-0 record and a 4-1 standard for the season. Wheeling's varsity now sports a 1-3-1 season record.

FV's Grid Sophs Top 'Cats 13-7

Soph gridders of Forest View rallied in the second half last Saturday to whip Wheeling 13-7.

Trailing 7-0 at the half, FV came back on third and fourth period scores. A pass from Mike Otto to Tony Lanzaratta covering 10 yards got the first score. Frank Wasilewski's 80 yard pass interception brought the fourth period clincher.

Winning FV coach Keith North credited Mike Casey, Paul Lloyd and Jeff Nordlun with fine games on defense. "I was proud of the way our team came from behind," said North.

Next game for Forest View, now 4-0-1, will be this Saturday at Hinsdale South at 9:30 a.m. Wheeling will try to better its 3-2-1 record on Saturday at Palatine at 9:30 a.m.

Yeazel Sets Mark In Harrier Win; Conference Next

Bob Yeazel shattered the course record Friday afternoon as Arlington's varsity cross country team toppled Hinsdale 20-39 in West Suburban competition.

Yeazel covered the Pioneer Park course in 10:08 in leading coach Bruce Samoore's Cards to their second conference victory in five outings.

Arlington took a 2-3 league slate into action yesterday (Wednesday) against Maine East.

The conference finals are set for this Saturday at La Grange with a 10 a.m. starting time.

In the win over Hinsdale Yeazel, Greg Busch, and Dave Schimpf finished 1-2-3. Also scoring for the Arlington varsity were Tom Thornton in sixth and Dave Dieters in eighth.

John Wilson was the first Hinsdale runner across in fourth place.

On a frosh-soph level Hinsdale coasted, 21-36, taking the 1-3-4-5 positions.

Jim Bergstrom was Arlington's top man with a second. Other scorers were Al McKay in sixth, Jim Pamp in seventh, Brian Marcussen in ninth, and Steve Coy in 12th.

Following the conference meet this weekend in which York is heavily favored, Arlington will be idle until Wednesday, Oct. 28, when it meets Downers Grove.

The district is set for Saturday, Oct. 30.

Hinsdale's Sophs Top Cards, 13-6

Fullback Larry Grandy scored two touchdowns in the second half Friday evening to lead Hinsdale to a 13-6 victory over Arlington High School in frosh-soph football action.

Grandy covered 45 yards for the first touchdown and raced 20 yards for the final six-pointer.

Hinsdale broke a scoreless deadlock in the third quarter by taking the opening kickoff and marching in for the tally.

Arlington tied the score in the third quarter when Bob Graham hit John Theroux from 10 yards out. A pitch from Graham to Paul Douglas had set up the touchdown.

Arlington moved into Hinsdale territory in the closing minutes, but a Graham pass was intercepted to kill the drive.

The victory was the fourth in five outings for Hinsdale. Arlington now stands 0-3-2 with a road trip coming up to Maine East.

Falcons' Jayvees Post 43-0 Victory

Coach Paul Jordan's Forest View JV football squad ran roughshod over the visiting Wheeling eleven last Saturday afternoon, as it rolled to a 43-0 triumph in a preliminary contest.

Five Falcons had a hand in tallying the six Forest View touchdowns. Henry Tasche scored on a one yard plunge in the first quarter, and Dan Smith and Dennis Lynch each went across once in the second period.

Smith's score came via a pass from quarterback Rich Gillespie, a play which covered 20 yards. Lynch hit paydirt on a 35 yard run.

The Falcons had a 22-0 lead going into the second half and continued to add to the margin in the last two quarters.

Jeff Jacoby and Lynch scored on runs of 25 and five yards respectively, and a 15 yard pass from Frank Calvello to Tom Browne completed the drubbing.

Forest View also recorded a safety in the second quarter, and added five extra points during the game, four on kicks by Ray Livi and one on a pass from Livi to Browne to bring the final count to 43-0.

End Candidate

Gregg Garlisch of Elk Grove Village, a graduate of Forest View High School, is an end candidate on the Illinois Wesleyan varsity football team.

Garlisch is a 6-2, 195-pound sophomore at the Bloomington, Ill., school.

St. Viator Sophs Win 4th, 27–0

St. Viator scored in every period Monday afternoon and rolled to a 27-0 sophomore football victory over St. Mel.

Coach Tom Hansen's outfit was handicapped by injuries and ineligibilities but still wrapped up its fourth victory of the season.

Frank Bianca tackled a St. Mel ball carrier in the end zone for a first period safety, and Mike Miller picked up a fumble and ran 15 yards for a touchdown. Miller's kick gave the Lions a 9-0 first period lead.

In the second quarter Ken Sophie raced 20 yards around left end for the second touchdown, and Kevin Coulter took in a 20-yard pass from Brian Rooney for the next score.

Sophie ran five yards for the final touchdown in the fourth period.

"Under the circumstances, I though the boys played very well," Hansen said. "Dennis Palubicki, our regular quarterback, is out for the year with a separated shoulder and now we've lost Sophie with a broken wrist."

St. Viator will travel to St. Patrick next Monday afternoon.

Another Whitewash

Lattof Handles Striking Lanes

Spurting ahead of the field like a Stingray in a pack of compacts, the ladies of Lattof Chevrolet poured it on again Saturday night.

They recorded their second straight shutout, blanking Striking Lanes 4-0 to widen their lead to seven points in the Paddock Women's Classic Traveling League.

Steve's Restaurant rebounded from the loss of the week before, handling Rolling Meadows Bowl 3-1 to nudge back into second. Morton Pontiac was shocked 4-0 by River Rand Bowl, as the two teams settled into a tie for third place.

MARGE LINDENBERG

The Lattof women now have recorded 21 points of a possible 24 in league play, with Joanne Christensen again leading the victorious effort. In a fairly low-scoring match, Joanne had 177-169-188—534 to pace her team. Peggy Harris had 524 and Vi Douglas 512.

Striking had considerable difficulty, with only Judy Anderson over 500. She ended at 520.

STEVE'S LOST only the third game in disposing of Rolling Meadows Bowl. Bonnie Kuhn came up with one of the better series of the evening to lead the triumph, rolling 170-176-208—554. Steve's also got a 539 series from Louise Lass and a compilation of 521 from An Neumann.

Rolling Meadows Bowl, with Jean Ladd at 500 even and Esther Hugo at 519, was hurting, with three scores in the 400s.

The best assault of the evening was staged by River Rand Bowl, which jumped up from fifth place to the tie for third. Four women were over 500 for the winners, and Marge Lindenberg was the best in all the PWCTL for the night, totaling 186-193-202—581, and keying the Morton defeat.

GLORIA LUCCHESI had a 555 series, which included the best single game of the evening, a 213. Ethel Juenger was at 520 and Emily Honickel at 515 as River Rand put on a team series of 2632, also tops for the night.

The best score for Morton was the 552 entered for the absent Nancy Dietz. Ruth Baurhyte had a 544 and Joan Lindahl a 505, but the remaining individual scores were too low to salvage anything.

Morton will get another stiff test in this Saturday's bowling at River Rand Bowl, facing the speeding Lattof Chevrolet. Steve's will get a chance to close in by meeting Striking Lanes, and River Rand Bowl will see if it can keep the shutout touch against Rolling Meadows Bowl.

Schell Paces Card JVs in 34-14 Win

Bill Schell ran for three touchdowns and one extra point Monday afternoon to power Arlington's junior-varsity football team to a 34-14 rout of Hinsdale.

Schell scored on runs of 47, 60, and 22 yards with his first two touchdowns coming in the opening quarter.

Arlington had Hinsdale down 21-0 after one period and coasted in with the victory.

Herb Irlbacker opened the scoring with a two-yard plunge. Ron Horcher concluded the offensive fireworks with a payoff jaunt in the final period.

Horcher added two extra points and Dave Fondrie one.

Coaches Brendan Flynn and Bill Myers praised the blocking of Jim Swanezy on end sweeps and the running of Schell and Horcher.

Starting on offense for Arlington were Fondrie and Scott Guilfoil at the ends, Bob Mothershead and George Bergstrom at tackles, Charlie Krueger and Guy Davis at guards, and Brad Philo at center.

Irlbacker, Swanezy, Paul Parish, and Schell opened in the backfield.

Arlington, boasting a 4-0-1 season mark, will journey to Maine East next Monday afternoon.

Sports Chalet Moves Up

PCTL Tightens Up; Pioneer Loses 7-0

The script underwent some dramatic revisions in the Paddock Classic Traveling League presentation Saturday night.

Two Saturdays ago, Brim's Pioneer Lanes and Bill Cook Buick seemed almost frantic in their efforts to race away from the pack. The bowlers in the league were similarly frantic, crashing pins at a rate so awesome that there were 13 series of better than 600 and three more within three pins.

This past Saturday, Brim's and Buick seemed just as determined to burrow into the pack, and the pin-crashing fever subsided to the point of only four 600 series.

Brim's took the biggest shocking—7-0 from Concourse Sports Chalet — as the standings again tightened up. Bill Cook Buick could get only two in its match with Karlsen Pharmacy, but it was enough to pull even with Pioneer for first. The Brass Rail shot up with a 7-0 job on Morton Pontiac, and Jeffery Lanes made it past City Welding Sales and Service 4-3 to complete a cluster of six teams separated by five points.

Sports Chalet was no respecter at all of the home alley advantage, compiling its whitewash at Pioneer Lanes. Two of the evening's four 600 series were claimed by Sports Chalet, and Bob Gill had the best.

GILL LED THE way with a strong 199-235-202 — 636, his peak effort for the season. He was amply aided by Ray Neumann, who started fast with 242 and tailed off with 178 and 187 for a 607 total. Chalet's total pinfall of 2858 was best for the night in the PCTL.

George Schmidt continued his resurgence for Pioneer, totaling 191-210-226 — 627 to lead his squad. But the next closest was Pat Peterson's 559, which included the only other 200 game for Pioneer. The win put Sports Chalet only two points back of Pioneer and the Buick men in the standings.

The Buick team won its first game at Striking Lanes, but Karlsen Pharmacy came back with a rush to wrap up match honors. The difference was made by Jim Runkle and Ed Freihage. Runkle led his team by starting with a 225 game and ending with a 597 series. Freihage had a disastrous 139 to start, but came back with a 190 and a 247, best single game of the evening. Bill Cook Buick had no man higher than 549.

CONSISTENCY was the nature of the game as Brass Rail blanked Morton. Both teams had it, but the Railers had it on a slightly more inflated level and made it good for all seven points.

Morton had four men close to 550 and The Brass Rail had three at that plane. But Ed Krismanich, with 599, and Ted Zimmerman, with 598, were just shy of the class circle for the Restaurant quintet, and that settled it.

City Welding came close again, but again not close enough, falling 4-3 to Jeffery Lanes at Jeffery. Welding had the best team game of the night, 1009, and took the point for total pins. But Jeffery had too much in the first and third games.

The Welders had one man — Lobby Lobinsky — at 606, and another — Bob Hurwitz — at 593. But Jeffery, with four men between 562 and 581, had the better balance and it was decisive.

This Saturday, Pioneer will meet City Welding at Thunderbird Bowl, with both teams anxious to win. Bill Cook Buick will seek to rebound by hosting Morton at Rolling Meadows Bowl; Sports Chalet will try to continue its momentum in meeting Jeffery at Gunnell's Lanes; and The Brass Rail will run into Karlsen Pharmacy at Striking Lanes.

Wheeling Harriers Beaten by Pirates

Overall balance defeated individual brilliance on Tuesday as Palatine whipped Wheeling in cross country.

The Wildcats Paul Fiegen finished first with a new course record in the meet. However, the Pirates "middle men" were too strong for the 'Cats.

Top runner for Palatine was Mike Ferguson in second while teammate Bill Bahnfleth was third. Sixth went to Bill Hoffman and seventh and eighth to Rodger Lawrence and Keith Wojtas.

A time of 10:02 was good enough to break the old record by four seconds for Fiegen. Wheeling teammates Bill Lytle and Doug Steinman were in fourth and fifth. Sophomores Lenny Eaton and Andy Black were 11th and 12th.

At the frosh-soph level the Pirates scored a 15-47 shutout.

In first through fifth for Palatine were Mark Aggerbeck, Mark Visk, Dave Kehe, Noel Eggebraaten and Mike Anderson. Placing for Wheeling were Phil Smith, sixth; Bill Martin, seventh; Steve Mukytiuk, ninth; Scott Poklen, 11th; and Larry Ault, 12th.

Prospect Harriers Lose to Maine West

A defeat was handed Prospect's varsity harrier team last Saturday but the Knights frosh-soph entry won its seventh straight meet.

The varsity of coach Dick Calisch was downed by Maine West in the Saturday action. The final tally was 20-37 and Prospect's varsity record fell to 2-5.

FOR THE lower level Knights there was a 21-35 success. That put their season's mark at 7-0 under coach Joe Wanner.

Dennis Breen topped the losing varsity. He came in third. Rich Braunschweig was sixth while Jack Pollard, John Jacobson and Leroy Ratieke were in sixth, ninth and twelfth.

Lee LaBadie took first place on the varsity level for Maine West. His winning time was 9:36.

A new frosh-soph course record was set by Prospect's individual winner Steve Holmes. He covered the home course in 10:18 to take first for the F-S team.

IN THIRD for the Knights was Bruce Oswald while Owen Mac Bride was fourth. In sixth and seventh were Dave Baker and Doug Bach.

Next action for Prospect is this Friday. The Knights travel to Conant for the Mid-Suburban League conference meet. Coach Calisch's crew is 0-3 in the M-SL while the frosh-soph runners are just the reverse at 3-0.

Lions' Frosh Stop St. Mel

St. Viator's frosh football Lions posted their third straight victory Saturday with a 14-0 conquest of St. Mel.

Mark Walinski scored on a four-yard run in the first period, and Kevin Daily recovered a fumble in the end zone for the second touchdown.

Ken Preski passed to Rick O'Connell and Mike Cooper for the extra points.

Defensive standouts for the winners were Martin Wendall and Walinski.

Coach John Zid's Lions will host St. Patrick this Saturday morning at 10 o'clock.

Anti-Crime Duties Of Citizens Cited

Crime—and your responsibility regarding it—is the subject of a "Bill of Citizen Responsibilities" listed as recommended reading by Arlington Heights Police Chief L. W. Calderwood.

"I wholeheartedly endorse this and recommend every citizen of Arlington Heights become familiar with it." The 10-point Bill of Responsibilities was drafted by the Chicago Crime Commission to help citizens understand their role in crime prevention.

1) Report possible crimes. Report suspicious persons or happenings. Give police the address and circumstances; describe individuals, the scene and any automobiles involved.

2) Help the policeman. In a traffic offense, don't try to bribe or threaten the officer. In a disturbance, don't heckle or vilify the officer. In a serious crime, help if you can, if only with moral support.

3) Be a willing witness. Give your name and address when the occasion arises and testify if called to do so. The right not to incriminate oneself should not be read as a privilege to defy law enforcement by withholding all information.

4) Be a willing juror. Take your turn on jury duty cheerfully and render your best judgment in accordance with the court's instructions.

5) Help the police help you. Reduce the opportunity for crime by being vigilant in protecting yourself, your family, your home, your business and your car. Take precautions which will discourage crimes against persons and property; don't invite trouble.

6) Refuse to support organized crime. Withhold any patronage of illegal gambling and traffic in liquor, narcotics or vice. Report offenses, make affidavits for search warrants, testify in court if called.

7) Be wary of suspicious "deals." Guard against the possibility of purchasing stolen goods by refusing offers at ridiculously low prices. Report such offers to police.

8) Teach children respect for law and order. By example and instruction, instill a regard for law enforcement and those charged with law enforcement in the young. Watch for symptoms of delinquency. Protect children by informing them of the dangers of their own acts and the dangers they may face from others.

9) Support men of integrity in public office. Besides casting your own vote, work toward influencing others to support good candidates and withholding their support from corrupt men. Let your representatives know your view.

10) Support groups which stand for honest law enforcement. Be a citizen of influence by working for and contributing to organizations dedicated to fighting crime. (A

10 School Districts Plan 'Prestige' Service Center

by HELENE BRISTOL
Education Editor

A "prestige" educational and service center for the 10 elementary and high school districts of Palatine, Elk Grove, Schaumburg and Wheeling Townships is on the way—maybe.

The 10 school district superintendents have developed plans for a cooperative demonstration "service center" to be housed temporarily for a two-year period in the new Elk Grove High School.

Funds for the center would come until Title III of the new federal education act, aimed at providing demonstration centers or exemplary programs to improve state and local educational standards.

THE LOCAL schools would be competing with schools in several suburban areas. Some areas known to be preparing demonstration or service center programs are New Trier-Deerfield (Wilmette - Winnetka), Evanston, Proviso (Maywood area) and York-Willowbrook (Elmhurst, Addison, Villa Park).

The local four-township service center would provide for a wide variety of materials, personnel and services to all 10 cooperating school districts and to students attending non-public schools. The area includes an estimated 75,000 students, the number recommended by the state for a sufficiently strong program.

Final proposals would be tailored to the amount of funds made available. According to Supt. H. L. Slichenmyer of High School District 214, all of the proposals for the service center are "objectives" which local schools would have eventually.

THE TWO specific areas of present educational strength are the production of instructional materials other than textbooks at District 214, and the quality, variety and effective in-service training programs in all 10 school districts. This was the comment by Dr. Donald Thomas, principal of the Elk Grove High School, who is developing the general Title III proposal.

The in-service training programs of Elk Grove Elementary District 59 are particularly good, Thomas noted.

The proposed service center would have a wide variety of special personnel for use as requested in the 10 districts. These experts would provide consultation services, develop in-service training programs or assist in special programs at the district or school level.

Such experts probably would include a reading specialist, an audio-visual specialist, a psychologist, psychometrist or test analysis specialist.

A SECOND service would be production of all types of instructional materials including film strips, overhead projection materials, other types of audio-visual materials, unusual or non-commercial models, pictures, films, taped instructional TV films or taped audio lesson units.

An instructional materials library, perhaps eventually the largest in the state or region, would include the latest publications on educational subjects, teaching and administration. The library would also have instructional models, commercial materials and textbooks, with samples to be furnished by publishers and manufacturers.

The library staff would also be available for cataloging for all school districts. This would provide a central cataloging service for books, textbooks, film strips and other materials purchased by individual districts.

The final service presently proposed would be a research development section. This would provide personnel for research techniques at the individual districts and in general educational research desired by the area schools.

FUTURE EXPANSION of the service center would provide a data processing center. This would enable local schools to develop statistical records, tests of what children do showing the low and high spots, results of attendance procedures, pupil registration and other similar programs where speedy data development would be of major help.

Another proposal for the future would be a reading or learning clinic. This would provide personnel and facilities for testing individual students with learning problems and mapping out a program which would enable the child to succeed in school.

Thomas stressed the entire service center program would be tailored to fit whatever funds might be made available and to provide what the various districts want.

THE GENERAL service center proposal was to be studied by the 10 school superintendents and desired changes made. Then all 10 superintendents, if possible, would take the preliminary report to Springfield for discussion and recommendations from state-level specialists working with Title III. With these comments, a final proposal would be prepared and submitted to individual school boards for approval. The proposal would then be sent to the state for approval and transmission on to the federal government for consideration.

Rumsfeld Proposes Food Study Group

Cong. Donald Rumsfeld (R-13th) has introduced a bill in the House to establish a U.S. world food study and coordinating commission to play the future U. S. role in the approaching world food crisis.

In presenting his billl in cooperation with other members of Congress, Rumsfeld said: "If we plan wisely, the commission could very well prove to be the catalytic agent that would help bring food to the hungry mouths of the world."

"The commission would also assist in bringing a new health and economic vitality to U. S. agriculture."

The bill sets up a 15-point program for the commission to study such things as world food needs and population trends, U. S. agricultural production potential, and coordination of foreign assistance programs.

THE PROPOSED 18-member commission would have eight members of Congress and 10 members appointed by the President. A report of the commission would be due by Jan. 2, 1967.

"The idea is to tap the best minds in this field, putting them together in a concentrated bipartisan effort to develop sound, workable recommendations," Rumsfeld explained. (B-10

Subdivision Action Postponed by Board

Action on Minardi's resubdivision, a 15-lot subdivision on the West side of Waterman between Euclid and Miner streets, has been postponed to Nov. 1 by the Arlington Heights Village Board.

A realtor who sold the property to Minardi was told by village trustees Monday they could not accept him as Minardi's representative under rules of the board. He apparently was not empowered to make committments on Minardi's behalf.

THE DEVELOPER was out of town Monday and could not attend the session. Trustees asked the village manager to encourage the developer and several abutting property owners to attend the Nov. 1 session.

They have been encouraged to join Minardi in the extension of Waterman through a private contract; in the absence of such an arrangement, the village would begin special assessment proceedings.

The subdivision is formerly known as Wolff's resubdivision.

Cyclists Get Tips For Traffic Safety

Fall weather, with darkness arriving earlier in the evening, makes it doubly important for bicycle riders to remember the rules of bike safety, says Lt. Ray Jahnke, head of the traffic division of Arlington Heights police department.

HERE ARE some rules bike riders should keep in mind, according to Jahnke:

Stay to the right while riding in the street.

Limit your stunt riding to a field or your back yard. Motorists may become confused by wobbling and weaving and uncertain of your intentions.

Carry bundles in a basket so you can have your bike under control at all times.

Give hand signals before turning.

Check for pedestrians and motor vehicles before riding on to a street.

Don't park your bike on a roadway.

Avoid streets with heavy motor vehicle traffic.

Icy and rain-slicked streets are especially dangerous for bicyclists. Exercise caution on wet leaves. (A

Metro Distribution Of Funds Explained

How funds contributed to the new Metropolitan Crusade of Mercy will be distributed to participating suburban community chests, and what happens to funds raised locally is explained in a statement issued this week by Herbert P. Heath of Western Springs, chairman of Metro's suburban campaigns division.

"Funds contributed locally to any one of the 55 suburban community chests and united funds participating in the Metropolitan Crusade are retained in each suburb. The money is banked there, and constitutes the initial amount that the suburban chest will receive to meet its needs," said Heath.

"FUNDS RAISED centrally by the Metropolitan Crusade are forwarded immediately on receipt by campaign headquarters to the three partner groups: Community Chest Council, which distributes funds to the 55 participating suburban chests; the Mid-America Chapter of the Red Cross; and the Community Fund of Chicago, which distributes funds to its 137 agencies.

"Metropolitan Crusade headquarters retains campaign contributions only long enough to process them through usual accounting procedures and then sends them at once to the three partners for distribution.

"Part of every contribution to the Metropolitan Crusade — corporate and individual —goes to the suburbs," Heath reminded participating chests and funds.

Praising the progress of volunteers throughout the metropolitan area who are conducting the local phases of Metro, Heath commented, "Virtually every one of the 55 suburban chests participating in Metro is in high gear this week. Volunteers are soliciting local retail establishments, professional people and those individuals not solicited at work by Metro."

Mr. Heath reported that the Metropolitan Crusade received 25 per cent — or $5,234,250 — of its $20,937,000 goal in th first 13 days of the campaign.

Interest in Puppets Leads to TV Career

Quiet Suburb Life Appeals to Couple

by PAT ADAM
Staff Writer

A live television show that can hold its own against the stream of cartoons that vie for children's attention Saturday morning must have something.

Such a show is "The Mulqueens," which ran 2½ years on WGN-TV, and the something it has is Jack Mulqueen, teacher, puppeteer, entertainer, producer and shrewd businessman, and his vivacious, attractive blonde wife, Elaine.

The Mulqueens make their home in a bi-level townhouse at 206 N. Brockway, Palatine. City dwellers all their lives until their move to the suburbs about two years ago, they find the slower pace of suburban living a welcome contrast to the hustle and bustle of their professional lives.

The Mulqueens got into the entertainment business by way of Jack's interest in puppetry, which dates to high school days. But it was an Army buddy who really launched his career. Intrigued with Jack's puppets when he came home on furlough with Mulqueen from Camp Carson, Colo., the Army pal hauled the puppets back to camp and persuaded Jack to entertain the soldiers. From soldier's shows he graduated to a 15-minute children's television show three days a week over KKTV in Colorado Springs.

OUT OF THE Army, Mulqueen resumed his education, attending Eastern Illinois, and after graduation joined the recreation department of the Chicago Park District. In this job he taught youngsters and adults all about puppetry, appeared on Channel 11 educational shows, toured the Chicago parks giving shows in the summertime and made other appearances.

He moved into television by way of store promotions, the first with Elsie's Puppet Carnival for the Borden Company.

An important figure with Jack's shows almost from the beginning has been the girl clown, Pandora. Several girls played that role while he was doing his store promotions. Once when he found himself without a Pandora for an appearance, Elaine, a secretary for United Air Lines at the time and by then his wife, volunteered. She did so well, she's been Pandora since.

The Mulqueens describe their show as a "live cartoon." Attuned to what's wanted by their young audience, they've modified the original show, stressing more slapstick with Jack himself in the act as Mr. Hands. But their viewers still are delighted by the antics of such life-size characters as Count No Account, usually the villain; Stagedoor the Horse and Marvin the Lion. A paw that creeps over the side of the stage, a tail that flicks occasionally add to the illusion of live characters. Jack and Elaine admit they are Mr. Hands and Pandora when they perform.

Jack knows every facet of his business, including all the shows currently on television. Although he no longer does everything himself, he's still the puppet expert. A woman sews the puppets and their costumes, but he and Elaine apply the finishing touches. Jack hires a writer but he knows what he wants said. Unlike many similar shows, "The Mulqueens" is completely "scripted."

The only independent producer in Chicago television, Jack is agent for himself and Elaine as well. Besides their show, he produces industrial films and commercials, and Elaine now is doing some commercial work by herself, such as the recent Columbus Day parade in Chicago.

On Oct. 30 they begin a new association with ABC, airing their Saturday morning show on WBKB, and in January Jack expects to open up a loop office. Now he operates out of their home.

It's a hectic and often unpredictable life for the Mulqueens at this point, one reason they appreciate the quiet of their suburban home. For relaxation they like to dine out or get together with their townhouse neighbors.

Jack enjoys rifle shooting but has yet to realize his dream of a deer hunting expedition.

"I've gotten as far as target shooting in the Fox River Valley," he laughs.

Also an astronomy buff, he occasionally can be found star gazing through his high-powered telescope into the wee hours of the morning.

For Elaine, a favorite way to relax is by browsing through antique shops in Old Town or on the near north side of Chicago.

"I haven't done anything about collecting antiques, but I love to wander around the shops," she admits.

Sharing their tastefully furnished townhouse is Phoebe the cat, a fugitive from the Animal Kingdom pet shop. Phoebe appeared on a show with the Mulqueens, and Elaine persuaded Jack they should adopt her. Jack would prefer a dog, but their only experience as dog owners was a sad one. The Afghan hound they bought couldn't adjust to being alone so much and nearly tore the house apart, so they reluctantly had to give up the animal.

One of the things the Mulqueens like best about their professional life is the contact with children. During their 2½-year stint on WGN-TV, they averaged 200 visitors every Saturday morning, rain or shine, says Elaine.

This past summer they tried something different; taking a break from television, they did live shows around the area.

"It was quite a thrill to have young fans lined up at the stagedoor for autographs," says Elaine. "People used to tease us about trying to bring back vaudeville."

While they look forward to the day they'll own their own home, they know their future lies in network television which would probably take them elsewhere so they are quite content with their townhouse.

"It's got plenty of room to store all the props we've been accumulating," they explain.

INVITATIONS

Jack Frost will pinch your nose.
We're going to pick pumpkins,
Fun for you and me.
The pumpkin will be happy cause
A pie it will not be.

State time, place and be sure to tell mothers about transportation, as you will undoubtedly want the children picked up or you may wish to drop them off. Keep the party small if you intend to actually carve the pumpkin, but this should only be done with older children who can safely handle cutting tools-and this is a messy deal.

If the party is early in October, you will not want to cut the pumpkin, as it will rot before Halloween.

DECORATIONS

Set the table with a paper or plastic Halloween cloth. If you use a plain orange percale length, pinked at the edges, each child may trace around his paper plate, draw a face with black crayon, sign his name and it can be a family keepsake for the host. After the party, iron the tablecloth pumpkins, placing the crayon side on wax paper and use a warm, not hot iron.

At each place, have a trick or treat bag to use for toting home birthday loot, and later they can be used for Halloween.

At each place, have a jack-o-lantern cupcake. After cupcakes are cool, wrap a quarter in foil and insert in each cupcake before frosting in orange. This will be for the purchase of the pumpkin.

For the centerpiece, use the birthday cake which is a round, orange pumpkin. You may achieve this by baking your mix in a very heavily greased and floured round mixing bowl. Two cake mixes can be used for the cake, filling the bowl one-half full and using the best for cupcakes. Frost in orange and decorate with licorice features, candles, too.

Use orange plastic spoon and fork and weave the napkin through the tines of the fork. Place cards may be tiny candy pumpkins, at each place, placed on a green paper leaf. You may wish to blow up round orange balloons, tying the bottoms and interesting each in a slit of a green cardboard pumpkin leaf. Put each child's name on the leaf and a face on the balloon.

Peach halves on cottage cheese or cheese melted over hamburgers make pumpkin-type faces for decorating with candy for the salad, olives for the hamburger. Add potato chips, carrot curls and orange pop, and you have a nice lunch.

ENTERTAINMENT

Scout out a nearby stand that has pumpkins for sale and tell the owner you will be out with some guests. Then locate the 25 cent pumpkins.

On "B" day, take the children out and let them choose their own pumpkins after the opening of the birthday child's gifts. You may wish to drop the children off or if time permits bring them back to your home and let them use felt markers, bits of crepe paper, ribbons, etc. to design the faces.

Prizes won't be necessary as the pumpkins are prizes in themselves.

So go make a face-on a pumpkin, and call him Jack-it will be a birthday to remember-especially on Halloween. (S PRACTICAL FOR HALLOWEEN or playtime are these cotton flannelette pajamas that double as costumes. By Sterncraft, they have wipe-clean plastic feet and come in tiger, zebra or leopard prints. They're machine-washable.

A Woman's View

He's Different—That's All

by BETTY AINSLIE

A woman wants things done right away. She lives with a disordered basement, untrimmed hedge or a crowded garage, and she's anxious to see neatness in her domain. But "he" is blind to the disarray and deaf to the immediate necessity of getting this homework done.

She can cry over a book, a TV play or a touching movie. Her criteria for enjoyment are her emotions — how many handkerchiefs did she use? "He" dislikes tears and never lets his emotions dictate to his pleasure.

In an argument "he" wants facts — logical and unemotional. She will usually dissolve into tears if her form of logic fails.

"HE" BUYS A suit from the first store if it fits and is the right color. She shops around for a bargain and often changes her mind on color or style if the price is really something special.

"He" watches football, baseball and hockey games, tennis and golf matches, reruns of the plays and repeats of the entire game. For those hours "he" sees and hears only what is on the TV set in front of him. She can carry on a conversation with the children, correct homework, read a book, fix her nails or set her hair and ask "him" questions which are never answered — all while the TV shouts its sports message. But let "Peyton Place," "Dr. Casey" or a TV drama unfold, and she's deaf to the demands of the household.

"He" can't part with any suit or hat — while "he" constantly criticizes her for keeping all that "junk" in her closet.

SHE KEEPS A new dress for a week or two before springing the surprise on him so she can say she's "had it for weeks." "He" can't wait to show her his latest purchase.

"He" plans to fix appliances, children's toys and that three-legged chair. She just reminds him of the things that are broken, waits patiently and calls a repair man.

She wants the house redecorated, furniture rearranged or new drapes. "He" thinks the place looks just fine the way it is.

She likes to eat out. "He" prefers her cooking.

SHE FEELS BEING a housewife is fine —is eager to trade her eight-to-five job for an apron. "He" wouldn't exchange his business life for her life of pots, pans and diapers.

"He" feels his wife did the proposing. She feels he swept her off her feet.

She thinks it's okay for her relatives to drop in unannounced for dinner. But "his" relatives should be invited.

"He" feels his marriage is important — right next to his job. She feels her marriage is the most important — her only job.

Things that are perfectly clear to her are unexplainable to "him." "He" takes refuge in silence when the arguments run hot.

And aren't we gals glad "he's" different — that's all.

Grandmother Plays Violin At Powell-Brewer Wedding

Guests at the wedding of Marsha Lynn Powell and Charles Howland Brewer were privileged to hear an international concert violinist when they attended the couple's Sept. 10 wedding in South Church, Mount Prospect. The violinist was the groom's grandmother, Mrs. Nelson C. Brewer Sr., who rendered several selections before the nuptials took place.

Still another unique musical touch to the wedding was the serenade to the bride during the reception when the groom's Sigma Chi Fraternity brothers and the bride's Pi Phi Sorority sisters sang "The Sigma Chi Sweetheart Song."

The bride is the former Marsha Lynn Powell, daughter of the William E. Powells, 300 N. Russell, Mount Prospect, and the groom is the son of Mrs. Elizabeth Howland Brewer of Batavia.

THE NEW MRS. Brewer, a graduate of Prospect High School, and her groom are now making their home in Peoria where both are completing their senior year at Bradley University. The bride is majoring in psychology and the groom in business administration.

Rev. Edwin I. Stevens officiated at the 8 p.m., double ring service in a setting of white glads, chartreuse spider mums and ferns. Greens and bows decorated the aisle candelabras.

For her marriage the bride wore a gown of off-white dull satin with lace trim and chapel train. Her chapel veil, worn several years ago by her sister, Mrs. Edward Bogdajewicz of Des Plaines, was held in place with a pearl and rhinestone crown and she carried a garland assortment of glamellias, stephanotis and ivy. She was given in marriage by her parents.

Mrs. Bogdajewicz served as her sister's matron of honor, and bridesmaids were the bride's sorority sisters, Miss Connie Crookshank of Miami, Fla., Miss Diane Friend of Milwaukee and Miss Camille Berg of Niles.

All wore identical gowns of avocado green chiffon over silk with flowing chiffon back panel. Their flowers were crescents of chartreuse spider mums with ivy.

THE GROOM'S uncle, Charles R. Howland of Wilmette, served as best man and ushers were the groom's fraternity brothers, Dan Clark of Alton, Ill., Paul Macaluso of Northbrook and Bruce Black of Peoria, and a friend, Tom Moxley of Batavia.

The reception was held in Old Orchard Country Club where 200 guests greeted the bridal couple. Mrs. Powell received in a beige and white brocade floor-length gown with sleeveless jacket. Her flowers were a green cymbidium on her purse. The groom's mother chose a floor-length white and gold brocade with jacket and a bronze cymbidium purse corsage.

The newlyweds honeymooned in Fort Lauderdale, Fla., for a week before taking up residence at 900 W. Moss in Peoria.

Palatine Club Sets Mardi Gras Dance

At this year's charity dance sponsored by Palatine Junior Woman's Club, the theme will feature a "Casino D'Orleans." This eighth annual event takes place Nov. 6 at Chevy Chase Country Club.

Mardi Gras decorations are in charge of Mrs. Stephen Duncan and Mrs. Richard Storm. Chairman of the dance is Mrs. Roland Dudeck, who is in charge of the club's ways and means committee.

SEVERAL YEARS ago the Palatine Juniors decided to make their annual dance the sole moneymaking project each year. Popularity of the affair has more than tripled, according to Mrs. Dudek, so that she now has 21 members on her planning committee.

Proceeds will go to local charities and organizations, the total allocations to be announced in early spring.

Tickets for this year's dance are in charge of Mrs. Frank Kozlicki, 358-2780, and Mrs. John Dove, 358-0959. Mrs. Richard Kobus is planning refreshments, and Mrs. George Truckenmiller is doing the publicity.

Arlington Newlyweds Make Home in the East

Newlyweds, Mr. and Mrs. William Gruenes, are making their first home in Norwalk, Conn. following their Sept. 18 wedding and a 10-day honeymoon in Colorado. The groom, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Gruenes, 637 W. Wing St., Arlington Heights, is on a 3-month training program with Perkin-Elmer Corp. On completing the course, he and his bride, the former Janiece Kramer, daughter of Mrs. Paul Hergenreder, 1716 W. Grove St., Arlington Heights, and Malvern Kramer of Chicago, will reside in Downers Grove where the groom will be employed as field service engineer with Perkin-Elmer.

Married in a double ring ceremony at 5 p.m. in St. Paul Lutheran Church, Mount Prospect, the couple repeated their vows before Rev. Edgar H. Behrens in a setting of white glads and carnations.

THE BRIDE'S GOWN was of silk organza over taffeta fashioned with scoop neckline trimmed with alencon lace inserts. The lace inserts also trimmed the skirt and chapel train. Her bouffant veil was in three tiers of nylon net, and was held in place by a crown of seed pearls. White carnations and lily of the valley, centered with a white orchid, made up her bouquet. The bride was given in marriage by her father.

The groom's sister, Judy Gruenes, served as the bride's maid of honor and Karen Osborn of Arlington Heights was bridesmaid. They wore floor-length gowns of Copen blue silk organza over taffeta with back action trains, and carried colonial bouquets of white carnations and blue forget-me-nots with blue ribbon streamers.

The bride's 4½-year-old sister, Beth Hergenreder, wore a blue, floor-length, high-waisted gown for her role as flower girl. Her bouquet was of white carnations and forget-me-nots.

KENNETH GRUENES, brother of the groom, served as best man and his cousin, John Mau of Oak Forest and Thomas VanBladel of Arlington Heights served as ushers.

The reception was held in Mueller Hall of the church where Mrs. Hergenreder greeted the 150 guests in a kelly green and royal blue brocade gown with royal accessories and a white orchid corsage. Mrs. Gruenes chose a peau de soie gown in French blue, accented with Italian lace. She wore matching blue accessories and also had a white orchid corsage.

The bride, a graduate of Arlington High School, was employed at Illinois Bell until her marriage. The groom was graduated from Luther North High School and the DeVry Technical Institute, both in Chicago. He is also in the Navy Reserve, submarine Service. (S

Schulte-Dresmal Rite Unites Local Couple

An Arlington Heights couple, both graduates of Arlington High School, were married Sept. 11 in the local First Presbyterian Church and are now living in Evanston. The bride is the former Laurie Jean Schulte, daughter of the senior Robert L. Schultes of 913 S. Dryden Place, and the groom is James E. Dresmal, son of Mrs. E. J. Dresmal who resides in Lafayette, Ind., after recently moving from Arlington Heights. The groom has been making his home at 1106 W. Wing St.

The 6 o'clock ceremony was performed by Rev. Roger E. Kellogg by candlelight, after the bride came down the aisle of pews marked with greens tied in gold ribbon. The altar was decorated with white mums.

CYMBIDIUMS AND ivy formed the bride's bouquet, which complemented her ivory satin floor-length dress with chapel train. The elbow-length sleeves and empire waistline were overlaid in lace, and the same lace formed a cap headpiece to hold her triple veil in place.

Soloist for the double ring rites was the bride's great-uncle, George Harris, who came from Denver with his family for the event.

THREE FRIENDS of the bride and the groom's sister, Mrs. Arleen Blewitt, attended her, and 7-year-old Deborah Halvorsen of Chicago was flower girl.

Maid of honor was Ruth Schilling of Hartford, Conn., and bridesmaids were Mrs. Blewitt, Daryl D. Boyd of Palatine and Susan Smith of Elk Grove Village.

The four adult attendants were gowned alike in empire styled sheath dresses of gold crepe and velvet. The autumn gold crepe skirts were attached to deeper gold velvet bodices which were trimmed with matching velvet braid at the waist and on the sleeves. The girls wore matching gold shoes and pillbox hats with net veiling and carried cascades of fall flowers.

The flower girl came down the aisle in a woodland green faille dress and a hat of net and velvet rosettes.

LAWRENCE SMITH of Elk Grove Village served as best man, and groomsmen were the bride's brother, Robert Schulte Jr., and two Arlington Heights friends, Spencer Ewing and William Frost Jr.

Seating the guests were Anthony Thomas of Arlington Heights and Dennis Blewitt of Park Ridge.

The bride's mother entered the sanctuary wearing a moss green crepe and lace dress with matching lace coat and green accessories. Her purse corsage was of yellow tearoses and stephanotis. The groom's mother chose an old rose lace dress with matching accessories and had a pink tearose corsage.

ALSO SEATED IN the front pews were the bride's grandmother, Mrs. C. Quintillio, and the groom's grandmother, Mrs. M. Drymalski, both of Chicago.

After the ceremony, 140 guests greeted the couple at a dinner reception at Arlington Carousel, with dancing later.

The couple honeymooned for a week at Estes Park, Colo., and are now back at their respective positions, the bride as secretary to the export manager at Paslode, division of Signode Steel in Skokie, and the groom at Washington National Insurance Co. in Evanston. He is a University of Illinois graduate. (S

Elk Grove Juniors Aid Village Projects

Since the gay 90's, "Unity in Diversity" has been the slogan for the General Federation of Women's Clubs. In 1890, the woman's place was strictly at home in the kitchen.

Pasties Are Easy But Hearty for Chilly Days

THE PHOTOGRAPHER may have momentarily captured Judy, Gregory and Freddie Haun's interest, but when it comes to eating their eyes really light up when they see their mother's Pasties. Mrs. Frederick P. Haun makes these hearty meat and vegetable-filled pastries often during the cold winter months because they are nourishing as well as a definite family favorite.

Cook Makes Own Salad Dressing

By LOIS SEILER

A hearty meal that will hit the spot on chilly autumn and winter days is Mrs. Frederick P. Haun's delicious Pasties.

Pronounced with a short "a," the pasti recipe was given to Mrs. Haun by her mother-in-law.

Easily made, they consist of a flakey pastry filled with ground beef, diced potatoes, onions, carrots and seasoning.

Mrs. Haun simply uses a prepared pastry stick for each pasti, rolls it out, puts on the filling, folds it over and seals the edges.

"None of the ingredients need be pre-cooked; all are used raw and will cook inside the pastry," Mrs. Haun said.

The pasties, baked for approximately 1½ hours, will have a brown and crispy crust and a nourishing, flavorful filling.

"MY CHILDREN love these and enjoy them served with baked beans," Eileen Haun commented.

A salad topped with Mrs. Huan's original French dressing is also an appetizing accompaniment for the pastries.

The base for the dressing consists of oil, vinegar, sugar and catsup with paprika, celery seed, liquid garlic and lemon juice for seasoning. Finely-diced onion gives additional flavor and texture.

"The ingredients can be mixed together in a mixmaster or a blender," explained Mrs. Haun. "If made in a blender, the ingredients won't separate."

This recipe makes three pints of dressing and will keep well stored in the refrigerator. It is delicious served over a tossed salad or plain salad greens.

IN ADDITION to her culinary interests, Mrs. Haun is president of the Women's Evening Bowling League at St. Thomas of Villanova and also belongs to St. Thomas' Canasta Club.

The Haun family lives at 1836 N. Fernandez in Arlington Heights. They have three children: Freddie, 5½, who is in first grade at Wilson School; Gregory, 4, and Judy, 2½.

Mix all of the remaining ingredients together. Place ¼ of the meat-vegetable mixture on one side of each pasti. Top with 1 teaspoon butter. Fold the other side of the dough over the top and seal the edges together. Slit the top of each pasti to allow steam to escape.

Press Togs For Storing

Time to pack away those summer clothes again! Here are some tips for keeping them in shape for next year:

Press everything before packing. Pressed clothes take less space to pack than wrinkled ones. And, they'll require only a touch-up with an iron next spring.

Stuff sleeves with paper towels to help them keep their shape and prevent creases.

PACK FLAT double-layer paper towels between layers of clothing to discourage wrinkles.

When a box is filled, loosely stuff the air spaces with crumpled paper towels to prevent clothes from shifting when the box is carried around or stored.

These precautions will pay off for you next spring when you remove your clothes from storage and wear them after just a touch-up with the iron.

Hearty Cole Slaw

It's the season of the year when you can get both red and green cabbage to make a colorful slaw. To make that slaw filling enough for lunch, it's easy to cut 1 can, 12 ounces) of luncheon meat into ½-inch cubes and mix with the cabbage and dressing.

Prepare House Now For Winter's Siege

When Old Man Winter comes knocking, will he find easy access to your house?

Now's the time to winterize your home. A weathertight, well-insulated house is the best safeguard against winter's onslaughts. Here are some of the things you should check and attend to before the blustery days blow in.

Caulking — Caulk all cracks or open seams between foundations and sidewalls, between board paneling, around door and window frames, and along trim. Replace putty on windows where needed.

Weatherstripping — Apply snugly around inside window and door frames to keep heat in. Replace weatherstripping that is worn or packed down or has lost its resiliency. Loose-fitting windows can be replaced with modern stock units of ponderosa pine that are factory-weatherstripped and preservative-treated.

Gutters and drains — Clear out all leaves and debris. Jammed gutters cause water to overflow and seep under the eaves where it can cause damage. Leaders and drains should be cleared so water flows freely.

Roof — Check for damp spots on attic rafters, for daylight showing through the undersurface of the roof and for water spots on walls and ceilings and above fireplace mantels. You may have leaks in the roofing and flashing. If the roof is worn and needs replacement, a new roof of heavyweight asphalt shingles, guaranteed, bonded or warranted up to 25 years, can be applied directly over the old roofing and will provide additional insulation.

Insulation — A home that's poorly insulated will run up high heating bills. If your home falls into this category, plan to have it insulated before winter sets in. It'll pay in the long run.

Chimneys and furnaces — Make sure these are in good working order before it's time to use them. Otherwise, the first cold day may be very cold, indeed. (SH

Donald Lee Ahmer, Stewardess Wed in California Sept. 11th

Stewardess Judith Lana Strobridge took a busman's holiday when she flew home to California for her marriage Sept. 11 to Donald Lee Ahmer, son of the Edward J. Ahmers of Arlington Heights. Judith, daughter of the James H. Strobridges of Los Altos, was with the United Airlines and living in Mount Prospect until marriage grounded her.

The wedding took place in Los Altos' Methodist Community Church with Rev. Charles W. Cox officiating. Tall candelabras trimmed with white glads, stock and mums decorated the altar for the double ring service and pale green spider mums centered in white satin bows marked the pews.

The couple honeymooned for four days at Lake Tahoe, Calif. and are now back in Mount Prospect where they reside at 1105 Cottonwood Lane.

FOR HER marriage the bride chose a pale ivory gown of peau de soie fashioned with empire bodice of re-embroidered Chantilly lace with seed pearls. Short sleeves, an A-line skirt with wide border of Chantilly and a chapel train with inserts of Chantilly were other features of her gown. Her elbow-length silk illusion veil was held in place with Chantilly lace rose petals outlined with seed pearls and she carried butterfly orchids, stephanotis and lilies of the valley.

Mr. Strobridge gave his daughter in marriage.

Miss Dianne White of Denver served as maid of honor and bridesmaids were Arlene D'Arcy of Menlo Park, Calif. and Judy Shahinian and Mrs. Cornelis Ploeg of Los Altos. All wore floor-length sleeveless gowns fashioned with moss green velvet empire bodices and pistachio green silk crepe skirts. They wore circlet headpieces of moss green velvet with veils of moss green illusion and carried pale green spider mums tied with moss green velvet ribbons.

Dr. Charles R. Neumann of Arlington Heights served as the groom's best man and ushers were Jack O'Neil, uncle of the bride from Los Angeles, Larry Schutten of Piedmont, Calif., and Cornelis Ploeg and Lee Lourdeaux, both of Los Altos.

THE RECEPTION for 100 guests was held at the University Club of Palo Alto where Mrs. Strobridge received in a rose-mauve dress with matching accessories and Mrs. Ahmer in a beige lace jacket dress with matching accessories. Both mothers chose orchid corsages.

The new Mrs. Ahmer attended Colorado Woman's College and was graduated from San Jose State College where she became affiliated with Chi Omega Sorority. Mr. Ahmer, a graduate of Arlington High School, studied at the University of Wisconsin and is a member of Sigma Alpha Epsilon Fraternity. He is currently attending Illinois Institute of Technology and is employed by Plaza Excavating Contractors in Arlington Heights. (S

Sept. 11 Bride Wears Grandmother's Crown

The crown of wax orange blossoms and buds which Norma Jean Wick of Palatine wore on her wedding day were from her grandmother's bridal attire 66 years ago. To complement the delicate headpiece, the bride's mother, Mrs. Allen J. Wick, made her wedding gown of white satin and lace. The bodice of the gown was of lace, and the lace was repeated in the train which fell from the back waistline.

Attached to the bride's crown was a nylon veiling which was shoulder-length anl bouffant.

THE BRIDE and her groom, Leonard Meehan of Prospect Heights, exchanged vows and rings in St. Theresa Catholic Church, Palatine, on Sept. 11 at 10 a.m. Rev. Raymond Sullivan officiated.

Mom and Dad 'Rock' On Bethel Program

A "typical" mom and dad seated in comfortable rocking chairs carried out the homey theme for Bethel 103's Moms' and Dads' Night Oct. 13. Chosen for the honors were Mrs. James R. Nolan and Len B. Mitchell, both of Arlington Heights, who rocked against a backdrop of a framed picture of a mom and dad and the words, "Y'all Come, Maw 'n Paw."

Sponsored by Job's Daughters, Arlington Heights, the program was preceded by a baked ham and potluck dinner at which moms and dads were introduced and presented a novelty candle holder decorated in fall colors. Also on the program was the reading of an appropriate poem by Miss Marva Jean Huizenga of Arlington Heights, honored queen.

IN CHARGE of dinner arrangements was Miss Alice Thompson of Mount Prospect while Miss Pat Roberts of Palatine was in charge of decorations. The stage backdrop was made by Miss Janet Olsen of Mount Prospect.

Wednesday, Oct. 27, has been scheduled as Choir Night and Proficiency Test. Miss Debbie Douglas of Rolling Meadows, having earned the highest number of points, will serve as acting honored queen, and Miss Bonnie Birch of Arlington Heights, junior past honored queen, will conduct the proficiency test. Viator Moms Plan Fall Fashion Show

Each word in "Fall Fashion Fantasy," the fashion showing to be presented Friday, Nov. 5, has a special meaning to the sponsors of the show, St. Viator's Booster Club. Fall, to the women, represents beautifully colored foliage and crispness in the air; fashion means the new fall ensembles to be modeled from Rothscilds; and fantasy is in viewing a "dream" wardrobe come to life as members model the fashions at 8:30 p.m. in the high school auditorium.

Models, all St. Viator mothers, will be Mrs. John Rogowski, Mrs. Robert Schultek, Mrs. Charles Paveza, Mrs. Daniel Polich, Mrs. Henry Vanderbergh, Mrs. Philip Hoss, Mrs. John J.lab, CL 5-3525. (S

Moran, Mrs. Clifford Helmer, Mrs. Lawrence Smith and Mrs. Stanley Iciek.

FROM SACRED Heart of Mary School will come the girl models, Miss Mary Pat O'Brien and Miss Sue Brune. St. Viator boy models will be James Moran and Joseph Smith.

Commentator will be Jenese Busch of the Randhurst Corporation, and a St. Viator student, John Neimet, will supply the organ background music.

Tickets may be obtained from the ticket and program chairmen, Mrs. Bruno Preski, CL 5-1453, and Mrs. Edward J. Go-

Treat Your Goblins Before They Trick

Before your goblins march off to play "trick or treat" on the neighbors, you'll want to make sure they have a hearty meal under those sheets and masks.

Here are several sandwich suggestions that are hot and nourishing. The "trick and treat" of these sandwiches is that they have a delightful Chinese appeal. The "crunch" of bean sprouts and water chestnuts makes these sandwiches especially attractive to junior ghosts and goblins.

EGG FOO YOUNGWICH
(Serves 6)

½ cup chopped green onion
½ cup bean sprouts, rinsed and drained
½ cup cooked shrimp or meat, chopped
½ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon pepper
pinch of sugar
6 eggs, slightly beaten
6 hamburger buns
butter

Mix thoroughly the onion, bean sprouts, shrimp, salt, pepper and sugar. Add eggs and mix lightly. Pour ½ cup of mixture into frying pan containing small amount of hot butter. Reduce heat and cook until well set and brown on one side (abou 5 minutes). Turn carefully and brown on other side. Serve on buttered hamburger buns. Serve with soy sauce.

ORIENTAL HOT DOGS

Split hot dogs lengthwise, insert sliced water chestnuts, sprinkle with soy sauce. Wrap bacon slices around hot dogs. Broil until bacon is done. Serve in heated hot dog buns with Sweet and Sour Sauce as topping and a side dish of chow mein noodles.

CHINESE DIP SANDWICH
(Makes 6)

1 cup beef gravy — canned or homemade

1 tablespoon soy sauce
½ cup bean sprouts, rinsed and drained
12 slices beef, thinly sliced
6 Kaiser rolls or French bread

Heat gravy with soy sauce and bean sprouts. Place 2 slices of beef on each roll. Top with gravy mixture. Serve with additional soy sauce. (SH

Taffy Apple Project Fun for Children

Here's a project to keep the children occupied on fall rainy days. Cook up a batch of taffy and let them make their own "Happy Apples." The kids will enjoy making clever designs and faces on the apples.

This recipe for "Happy Apples" will coat 8 to 10 apples. A double recipe will provide nice trick or treats for Halloween funsters.

After the apples have been washed thoroughly, insert wooden skewers into the stem end of the apples. Coat the apples with the taffy mixture by dipping the apple into it and then twirling the apple until it is coated evenly. Drain the apples on waxed paper.

GUM DROPS FOR FACES

Make up the faces with gum drops, tiny marshmallows or any other small candies. Make ears with pecans, cookies or more candy. For curly hair, use shredded coconut. Hats and collars can be made with large flat cookies.

When the enjoyment of making the apples is over, the children will have even more fun eating them, decorations and all.

HAPPY APPLES
(Enough for 8-10 apples)

2 cups sugar
1 cup brown sugar, firmly packed
2/3 cup white corn syrup
2/3 cup butter
1 cup cream
1 teaspoon salt
2 teaspoons vanilla
Assorted candies, nuts, cookies and coconut

Mix ingredients in a double boiler. Cook to 246 degrees, stirring constantly. Remove from heat. Cool until mixture thickens. Quickly dip apples into taffy and twist until the apples are coated evenly. Drain on waxed paper. Make up faces with candies, nuts and cookies.

Coffee Cake Fits Into Dessert Class

Some homemade yeast coffee cakes are so delicate and moist they often fit into the dessert class rather than with breakfast breads. You may find this true of the following fruit-filled coffee cake.

This delectable coffee cake will be just the thing to have on hand when the girls drop in for coffee, to serve at home demonstration meetings or for church socials.

The basis of the coffee ring is standard sweet yeast dough. The filling, however, is an intriguing combination of spicy, chopped apples and pungent American blue cheese. Serve it fresh from the oven.

BLUE CHEESE APPLE COFFEE RING
(1 large cake)

¾ cup scalded milk
1/3 cup soft butter
¼ cup sugar
½ teaspoon salt
2 eggs, well beaten
½ teaspoon vanilla
1 ounce yeast cake
1 tablespoon sugar
About 3½ cups sifted bread flour
Filling:
1½ cups crumbled American blue cheese (about 8 ounces)
2 apples, pared, finely chopped
2 tablespoons cinnamon
1 cup sugar
2 tablespoons flour
Confectioner's Sugar Icing
Maraschino cherries

Pour scalded milk over butter, sugar and salt. When butter is melted, add eggs and vanilla. When mixture is lukewarm, crumble yeast into 1 tablespoon of sugar and mix with fork until liquefied, then stir the dissolved yeast into the milk-egg mixture. Mix well. Add flour gradually, adding only enough to make a dough that is soft and easy to handle. Knead it gently until smooth and elastic about 5 to 8 minutes. Round dough up into a ball and place in a greased bowl, turning once to bring greased side up. Cover with a damp cloth and let rise in warm spot until doubled in bulk, about 1½ hours. Punch down with fist, pull edges of dough into center and turn dough. Cover and again let rise until doubled in size, 30 to 45 minutes.

When ready to shape dough, gently pat and roll the dough into a rectangle about 12 by 20 inches. Brush with melted butter. Spread with blue cheese-apple filling which is made by blending ingredients together on mixer. Roll dough like jelly roll. Place sealed edge down forming a ring on lightly greased baking sheet. Join ends of ring and seal them. With sharp knife or scissors, make cuts 2/3 of the way through ring at 1 inch intervals, turning each section on its side to show filling. Cover and let rise a third time until light, about 40 minutes. Bake at 350 degrees about 25 minutes. Frost with a thin confectioners' sugar and milk icing. Decorate with sliced maraschino cherries. Youth Will Go for Chili Go-Go Sandwich

Young rock 'n' rollers love lustily seasoned foods such as chili con carne, hero sandwiches, pizza and other well-spiced snacks.

This fast growing youth market is credited with the increased popularity of chili powder. During the fall months when there is so much entertaining by youthful hosts, remember that a bit of chili powder gives appetizing aroma to all kinds of imaginative sandwiches, such as this Chili Go-Go Sandwich.

CHILI GO-GO SANDWICH

2 loaves Italian bread, each about 13 inches long
6 tablespoons catsup
3 cups Refried Beans
½ cup mayonnaise
½ teaspoon chili powder
¼ teaspoon ground black pepper
1 small head chicory, cut in pieces
12 slices sharp cheddar cheese
12 slices cooked ham
12 slices chicken or turkey
12 slices chicken or turkey
3 large tomatoes, cut in thick slices
12 slices Monterey Jack cheese
12 strips crisp bacon
12 stuffed olives
1/3 cup softened butter or margarine
½ teaspoon chili powder

Cut off top third of each loaf. Scoop out centers of bottom parts of bread to make a well. Spread catsup over well surface and fill with Refried Beans. Blend together next 3 ingredients; set aside for later use. On top of beans arrange in layers, chicory, cheddar cheese, ham, 2 tablespoons chili-mayonnaise, chicken or turkey, another 2 tablespoons chili-mayonnaise, more chicory, tomatoes and Monterey Jack cheese. Garnish with bacon and olives. Blend butter or margarine with the ½ teaspoon chili powder. Spread tops of bread with chili-butter and cover sandwiches. Before serving cut in diagonal slices.

REFRIED BEANS:

4 teaspoons instant minced onion
2 tablespoons water
2 cans (1 lb. 4 oz. each) red kidney beans
¼ cup olive oil or bacon fat
4 teaspoons chili powder
1 teaspoon salt
1/8 teaspoon instant garlic powder

Combine instant minced onion and water; let stand 10 minutes. Drain kidney beans and mash. In a skillet heat oil or bacon fat. Add mashed beans and remaining ingredients. Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly, until thickened, about 5 minutes. Cool. Yield: 6 servings. (SH

The Way We See It

Informed Debate Is Service to Voters

Quite often people active in politics complain about widespread public apathy toward political affairs.

They are right in expressing concern that so many persons find time for trivial things but don't find time to take part in the workings of representative government.

However, the politicians themselves must share the blame. Far too often they conduct local political organizations so that the activities lack appeal for their fellow citizens.

At a typical monthly meeting of a local political group, more often than not the members know exactly what the speaker is going to say. And the speaker usually is the sort who won't disappoint his audience. He knows what he's expected to say and he says it. He is more of a cheerleader than a bona fide commentator on public affairs.

Although this program may make the members of the inner circle feel good, it has no attraction for the average intelligent citizen; so he stays home.

Some political groups are different. One of these is the Wheeling Township Young Republicans who have a history of picking controversial topics and inviting speakers who don't always agree with the official GOP view, if there is such a thing.

Last week the Wheeling Township Young GOP sponsored a discussion on the federal Economic Opportunity Program as it pertains to the northwest suburbs.

Speakers were Frederick McLendon, executive director of the Cook County Office of Economic Opportunity, representing one point of view, and Floyd Fulle, Republican county commissioner, representing another viewpoint.

With two points of view represented by knowledgeable speakers, the debate was founded more on the facts of the matter and less on the prejudices of speakers and audience. A stimulating evening resulted, with those attending going home better informed.

For some political organizations, patronage and jobs still means lots more than knowledge and ideas.

However, in the suburbs, where there is a high general level of education and alertness, this should not be the case.

We need more stimulating political discussion, not based on party dogmas, but keyed to the intellectual level of our communities.

Such programs make good political sense, because they are the kind that will attract the interest and attention of the uncommitted voters.

Justice for the Aged

The Illinois Department of Public Aid has been unjustly criticized for its decision to withhold Social Security increases from aged relief recipients.

Last July, Congress authorized a 7 per cent increase in Social Security benefits, which would mean an increase ranging from $4 to $7 a month for recipients.

The public aid department decided to deduct the increase from relief checks on the grounds that standards of relief in Illinois already provide 100 per cent of a recipient's needs for minimum "decency and health."

For example, a woman over 65, living alone in Chicago and paying a rental of $75 per month, would have basic needs according to department standards (excluding medical which is paid in addition) of $122.65. These needs may have been met by $70 per month from Social Security and $52.65 from public aid. If she receives a $5 increase in Social Security, she will be expected to meet $75 of her basic needs, and public aid will provide $47.65.

The current issue is not whether the payments are adequate, for few persons would agree that they are. The issue is whether the decision is sound under existing law. We believe it is.

The department already deducts from relief allotments money received from outside sources, such as teachers pensions, railroad workers pensions and contributions from relatives.

The department is correct in believing there is no reason to make an exception for Social Security payments. Justice demands that all public aid recipients be treated equally and get comparable benefits from the limited aid funds.

To consider increased benefits for 22,000 Social Security recipients as income is fairer to the other 32,500 aged reliefers who depend upon taxpayer funds to be divided equally.

If Illinois is to change policy to permit an exemption of unearned income which will apply to all kinds of unearned income and to all categories of public aid, such a decision must come from the legislature, not the public aid director.

If welfare allowances for aged persons are inadequate, responsibility for remedy rests with legislators, not public aid officials.

If it was the intent of Congress to vote a $5 bonus to all persons on Social Security who receive public aid, ignoring the thousands who are ineligible, then this should be made clear by Congress.

The criticism of the public aid department is misplaced. Under law and existing state policy, it had no alternative. The criticism should be properly directed to Congress, to the legislature and ultimately, to the taxpayer.

Limelight on Youth

H. C. Paddock always insisted his aim in life was "To Fear God, Tell the Truth, and Make Money." Thirty years have passed since Mr. Paddock moved his desk and eye shade "upstairs," but the editors continue to honor H. C.'s goal in business life. They have also added "Serving the Community" to the slogan.

Part of that service is focusing the limelight on the youth of the community in the knowledge that the things they learn as teenagers can benefit them the rest of their lives. That is the reason the publishers are cooperating in the Junior Miss pageant.

It's a national program with local winners going on to compete for state scholarships, then higher honors, like many other programs for youth. This one, though, is not a beauty contest. It is designed to salute alertness, poise, physical fitness, character and scholastic achievement among high school senior girls.

We're pleased to have a part in this effort, and appreciate the cooperation of the many individuals who will be serving as judges Oct. 31.

Simple Cold Remedy Best

by LEE SECHLER
Staff Writer

Home cures for treatment of man's oldest problem—the common cold—are varied, make little sense, are deeply ingrained in our society, and make for interesting reading.

Having come from the days when a piece of camphor in a bag was as much a part of winter dress as gloves and boots, it is interesting to discover that few suburban residents talked with remembered any of the good ones.

Clutching a note pad, and pencil in one hand and a large handkerchief in the other, a Paddock Publications reporter approached suburban residents to learn of their pet remedies for the common cold.

"I keep it until it goes away," said Ann McKenlie, of 4007 Wren Lane, Rolling Meadows.

SAID BETTIE Dahme, of 1560 N. Evergreen, Arlington Heights: "I take a hot stiff drink, go to bed and stay there."

"We've not had colds in our family for some time. So we really don't have a pet remedy to get rid of a cold," explained Dale Rodenhauser, of 239 W. Army Trail Rd., Addison.

He went on to explain that if he felt like he might be coming down with a cold he would take two aspirin and go to bed early.

"If you do that you won't get a cold," he stated.

Palatine resident Mary Jane Lyon thought for a minute and said she used aspirin and rest to help fight off the cold.

Also, she stressed, it was important to be alert for the early signs of a cold.

A SWITCH IN remedy from the norm was expressed by Dolores Brausch, 107 Maple, Mount Prospect.

"My pet remedy for a cold is a hot toddy and a big night on the town," she said.

A toddy-and-bed is the pet cure of Lee Koeneman, of 908 N. Fernandez, Arlington Heights. She also says no phone calls are an important part of her home cure.

Eleanor Black, of Schaumburg, said she knew of no home cure that worked, but explained she got as much rest as possible when it became apparent a cold was on the way.

One of the most interesting remedies was voiced by Mrs. David Wallace, who was born in Scotland. Mrs. Wallace, who is in the area visiting her daughter, was questioned in Randhurst.

"MUSTARD," she explained, was used in different ways to cure colds when she was a young girl in Scotland.

"We used to soak our feet in mustard if we got them wet. And then there was always the mustard poultice," she said without a smile.

No resident mentioned the use of red flannel, which runs deep and was next to the skin of many Americans not long ago.

Apparently suburban residents have thrown off the folk medicine remedies of years past and settled on booze, aspirin, and rest.

Our Debt to Ad Genius

By DAN BAUMANN
Staff Writer

Americans don't realize what a debt they owe the advertising industry.

The genius of advertising has made life over for us. All dreams can be satisfied because of it, both for the rich and the poor.

The reason most people don't give advertising enough credit is because they feel its purpose is to inform them of products available and encourage them to buy. Not so. Advertising is as important in the manufacture of a product as is welding.

BAUMANN

The annual flood of fall announcements about new car models makes that clear.

Used to be, car dealers would hang up signs like, "Buy our sturdy, comfortable car."

FOR CONTRAST, what are the Fall, 1965, offerings?

Anything you want from a motor vehicle: sex, snobbery, thrills, mystery, outer space adventure. You name it. It's been made available through the wonder of advertising.

A common car name is the name of a far away, sophisticated place: Monterey, Riviera, New Yorker, Continental, Caliente. Ever hear of a "Jersey City," "Gary," or "Milwaukee?"

Car buyers with less demand for pretense can pick a car that sounds like a middle class subdivision: Colony Park, Fairlane.

A wagon, of course, is a Suburbanite. No "Near-North Side Wagon" or "Inner Core Car."

IF YOU LIKE far out places, there's a Galaxie in your cosmos. Or a Rocket, Comet, Jetstar, Starfire, Satellite.

For the challenge of a struggle against nature, a perfect description of the suburban commuter's daily ordeal, there are the Fury and the Toronado. Even my four-cylinder cough-and-sputter is called Tempest.

Daring-do's will find life more risky with Caprice, Cutlass, Rogue, Rebel, Skylark, Wildcat.

For you fishermen, there's a car with a long trunk — presumably for carrying cane poles. The style, similar to the old "torpedo shaped rear end," is known as fastback. Depending on your taste in seafood, there's the Barracuda or the Marlin.

LATEST OF OUR wants—uncovered by ad geniuses in the public reaction to agent 007, is mystery. Letter and number combinations, taken from foreign tongues or from the thin air, fill this significant vacuum: DPL, SS, XL50, GS, F85, GT, GTO, GT/A.

(For the man with a variety of needs, there's the Mercury Comet Cyclone GT, just offered.)

So you're unhappy with life but don't want to: 1) grow a beard, 2) carry a sign or 3) march. Your problem is solved by The Dodge Rebellion.

Are you worried that the car you buy will have everything it needs to get you to and from the Loop safely? To make sure you know, American Motors advertising poses a significant question, one which probably has been bothering you: "Do Rogues really come with rally stripes?" (They don't, so watch yourself on the Kennedy.)

ANOTHER QUESTION has been raised by Pontiac, though the results of the firm's straw poll have not been announced. "Is the world ready for 40 new tigers?" it asks.

You don't like tiger roars? Try Chevrolet jets. Chevs evidently have abandoned the internal combustion engine this year, through the miracle of advertising. You'll find advanced new Turbo-Fire, Turbo-Jet, Turbo-Powered, Turbo-Charged machines.

One model this year is "tuned," another "reinvented."

Even though it is a leader in the field, the auto industry has a few laggards who refuse to accept modern advertising techniques. It should be noted, however, that Volkswagen and Volvo are foreign companies and probably a bunch of subversives anyway.

BOTH IMPLY the beautiful sweeps of metal you see this year will look awkward in Fall, 1966. Volvo boasts that its cars last a long time. Nasty gimmick.

Manufacturers in other fields are trying to match the auto industry's contribution to mankind, so all credit must not go to Detroit.

The agitator in Frigidaire's washer goes up and down like a plunger. Hence, Jet Action.

DP37 is offered for athlete's foot sufferers.

Preparation H is made for you-know-what. (Points have to be deducted from this firm's score, however. To make sure everyone knows what you-know-what is, PH ads explain: "Stops Itch — Relieves Pain.")

THERE ARE THE new wonders of AT7, Ammonia D, Vi-trol D, 6-12 and P7. Which one is the super new GE range?

Who wants soap when you have: 1) A Dove in Your Kitchen, 2) White Tornado, 3) Sunshine in Your Washer, 4) A Washer 10 Feet Tall, 5) Storm in Your Sink, 6) bluclorin, 7) Bucket of Power, 8) a White Knight, a Witch or a muscular maid named Handy Andy.

"Savings" is old fashioned. Check with the Continental Bank. There you can put your money in a special "Spending Account."

The Big Lie has been made over into coquettish intrigue by Warner's "Little Fibber fiberfill bra."

IT MUST BE lamented that outside Detroit many American industrial firms insist on using advertising as though it were a selling technique rather than a creator of marvelous new products.

Ivory, for example, is still labeled "Gentle White Detergent." How much better, "There's an elephant tusk in your pantry."

Mark my word. In the future, Hershey's Baking Chocolate will become Hershey's Africa Import No. 1. Jeep Wagoneer will become Manor Car 009. Campbell's Soup will become Formula C.

Drano will become Action-D. AC Spark Plugs will become AC 4,6,8. And Parker Jotter will become Spacelog Marker Z-200.

When that great and marvelous day arrives, one firm would do well to keep its generic name for the sake of easy identification. People will turn increasingly to Seagram Whiskey.

Mother Thankful For Assistance

On behalf of my husband, myself and our eight children, I would like to thank all of our friends and neighbors in Brickman North and South for their get well wishes, prayers, gifts and the help they have been to my family these past four weeks that I have been in St. Anne Hospital, Chicago.

I would especially like to thank the Frank Kaysers of Highland Avenue, who cared for the three-year-old, the Robert Colfers of Ironwood Drive, who are keeping 16-month-old Danny and to Pat Kirchling of Eastman and Mary Cox of Highland, who drove the first and second graders to and from school.

There have been so many over such a long period of time who have also baked pies and cakes and sent in meals (names too numerous to mention).

Sincerely and from the bottom of my heart I say thank you. I also hope that this, my fifth trip to the hospital in 15 months, was the last for years to come.

Drive-Ins Gear for Chills

by BOB CUMMINS
Staff Writer

When autumn leaves begin to change color and the air gets nippy, drive-in theatre owners have to worry about attendance.

In recent years, it seems to me, one of the most popular attendance - keeping tactics has been scheduling horror movies. Just why movie-goers might like horror in cold weather, I do not know. Nevertheless, the drive-in theatres that were showing "Mary Poppins" in July will be showing "The Curse of the Vampire" in October.

CUMMINS

Naturally, as more theatres show more movies of this sort, it becomes more difficult to horrify the customers.

It is not enough to promise that a certain film will make the audience shudder and shriek. Who's going to drive 10 or 15 miles just to shudder and shriek? To justify driving that far, one has to risk at least a severe mental breakdown.

SOME THEATRE admen have issued this admonition: "If you are the parent or the guardian of an impressionable adolescent — do not bring him or permit him to see this motion picture."

This warning has sharply increased attendance by impressionable adolescents, but is still not enough.

One of the oldest techniques is to pledge to the prospective audience that a registered nurse will be in attendance at all performances. The promise implies that the film being shown will probably impair the mental or physical health of some patrons so badly that they can't be saved by ordinary Red Cross first aid techniques.

I suspect that the registered nurses who attend such performances attract more than enough extra patrons to pay for their fees.

IN FACT, IT would be a smart coup for some drive-in theatre operator to promise that a noted heart surgeon would be in attendance. Film fans would come from many miles around to watch "The Strangler of the Swamp" out of one eye, while watching open heart surgery out of the other eye.

One serious mistake some movie producers have been making is to pit one great horror character against another. Thus, we get films like "Dr. Jekyll Among the Spider People" or "Dracula vs. Frankenstein."

The flaw in these plots is that, although the things the leading characters do are horrible — often unspeakably so — they are doing them to horrible creatures, so the audience isn't too badly upset. The registered nurse has too easy a night at such movies.

MY ADVICE is to schedule films like "King Kong Visits Anne of Green Gables" or "Lassie and the Werewolf."

But I still can't understand why people would rather see them in cold weather.

Reader Gives Ideas on What Village Library Should Be

Lest some of your readers start debating personalities, I suggest we debate issues. Here are my ideas of what a village library should be.

First, a library should allow for growth of its users. It does this in appealing to each age in every possible phase—books, records, magazines. It contributes to the user's cultural advancement. A home to all, a library should present as pleasant and beautiful a home as the town can afford without sacrificing contents.

Second, a library should be functional. It should be used. The librarian knows its uses and potential uses. The local school and village libraries can pool their resources to a greater extent, as varied suburban libraries are attempting to do.

Third, a library should live. We know that fiction can survive a hundred years, but not much does. Among our most creative writers today are the nonfiction writers—travel, adventure, biography, history—you name it.

Also much literature over a few years old is useless, interesting only in a historical sense. Take, for example, a book on the study of the glands. Not only is the old material out of date, but it is written so that nobody can plow through it. Perhaps we need an "attic library" for the dusty, yellowed books that go unread. Here it is the job of a courageous, well-trained librarian, who knows where the library is going, to make the choices on discarding the old and buying the new.

Fourth, a library should be run by the librarian. He should be a courageous professional with a deep sense of humanity and a lot of common sense. He should, insofar as possible, read the books as well as the book reviews. Only he can see the picture as a whole—the budget against the value of the material.

P.S. Though I had not wanted to bring in personalities, I'd like to suggest that if Mr. Curley has a brother of similar talents, the same be appointed Postmaster General of the United States, or even of Palatine.

Feels Paper Neglectful on Winning Float

Do we have to become juvenile delinquents, or alcoholics, or do we have to smoke?

Which one is it, or is it any?

Last week was homecoming at Arlington High School Among the many activities were the coronation of king and queen, the football game with R.B., and a parade of floats. The event with the most significance to the student body and especially to the freshmen, since it is the one in which all can take an active part, is float construction.

WE FEEL THAT at least some recognition should be given to the fact that the winning float was entitled UNSINKABLE A.H.S. and built entirely by freshmen and sophomores. We think it disgraces this newspaper that no mention of this achievement was published.

Furthermore we unanimously feel that the Arlington Herald has neglected its duties to the community by failing to mention at least the name, if not a picture, of the winning float.

Choice of Words Is Regretted

In a letter to the Fence Post last week, I commented on the letter of Jean Hanlon of Oct. 7. I did not intend to imply that Mrs. Jean Hanlon damaged the reputation of any person. I retract the statement that Mrs. Jean Hanlon "carelessly slanders the housewives, priests and ministers, lawyers, engineers, accountants, a state legislator, and others who make up the membership of the Arlington Heights Human Relations Committee." I sincerely regret any ill feelings or confusion that may have been caused by my choice of words.

'Gentle Reader' See Danger in Adult Project

You are now presented with a "gentle reader" (to use Mr. T. William Swinford's expression) who will disagree with contentions he raised in his "Children Are Suburb Pawns."

Putting the matter of the planned adult community back into its proper perspective, I am most positive we will find that legitimate and deserved questions were raised, argued and debated precisely because we, as a community, do like children and have a child-oriented perspective. It would be most unusual if we did not as our ratio of children per family is at present 3.45 and going up all the time, I assure you.

Our first and basic concern as parents in a young suburb is to educate as well as possible the children in this community as it now stands.

WE ARE NOW facing a development with a 10-year projected population of 52,000 on approximately 3,400 acres of land. We now number 4,000 home-owning families on 2,800 acres of land; our own projected population over a 10-year period being 10,000.

Certainly no one but a fool would contend that this will be a balanced community; likewise that 52,000 people whose children are supposedly raised and educated will vote in accord with 10,000 who are trying to build schools and raise educational standards.

Mr. Swinford is very obviously new to this community and has done it a grave disservice. The man, perhaps well-intentioned but obviously misguided had better get his facts in order before attempting to comment or report (objectively or otherwise) and in this case I think it was otherwise, about the people of Hoffman Estates.

Non-Whites Will No Longer Accept Slums

Re: Mrs. Jean Hanlon's letter: Whether you care to admit it or not, we have forced the Negro, Oriental and other nonwhite citizens into filthy slums, given him little or no possibilities for education, deprived him of opportunities for employment and then accused him of being dirty, ignorant and lazy.

You must face the fact that they as American citizens are no longer going to confine themselves to the slums.

It is our duty in justice and charity as Americans to do what is within our power to see to it that they get these rights. It is quite obvious that these rights involve such areas as housing, education, employment, public accommodations and above all recognition as our equals, even in Arlington Heights.

Feels Traffic Lights Needed At Euclid-Dryden

Just how long is the village of Arlington Heights going to wait before they install stop lights on the corners of Euclid and Dryden?

I have seen more than one minor accident there involving just cars; what I dread to see is one of the many school children who use this crossing get run over.

There is no crossing guard many children from Miner, St. at this corner and there are so James and Viator schools who use this corner to cross.

These kids take their life in their hands every morning trying to get to school.

The driver who stops long enough to wave some of the children across is taking the risk of getting hit by a car coming from the opposite direction or turning or they themselves getting hit from the rear.

During racing season Arlington Heights puts a policeman at practically every intersection on Euclid — fine. But to my way of thinking it is more important that these children get to school safely, than people get to the track faster.

Mount Prospect installed lights at 83 and Gregory just recently and still maintains a crossing guard — good for them.

Are petitions necessary to make safe crossings for school children? Or does some child have to be hurt by a car before the authorities take steps to make such crossings less hazardous?

I am at that crossing every morning at about 8 a.m. and the thought of what could happen there scares me.

Thankful for Traffic Signs On Rohlwing Rd.

For the past three weeks my wife and I have been desperately calling everyone we know in an effort to have the speed limit signs and school crossing signs replaced on Rohlwing Road north of Palatine Road after the completion of the recent construction.

The appropriate information signs have now been replaced in strategic places and a very noticeable change in the traffic conditions has taken place, much to our complete satisfaction.

I don't know who of the many people my wife and I contacted is responsible for this action but I feel compelled to write to such a widely read publication as yours to extend our sincere and complete thanks.

There are many little children in this area and I would hate to think that one of them would be seriously hurt or killed for lack of proper area identification.

In closing, I can only say, once again "Thank you" for permitting me this opportunity to publicly state our gratitude.

The Importance Of Protecting Minority Rights

In the long letter from Mrs. Hanlon hitting the so-called "fanatical tactics" of human relations groups, I failed to see mentioned any real "fanatical tactic." If she means telephone surveys, they're made every day.

Many of these same human relation people were active in the old "Opportunity Council" and of course many of the old council members have moved away. The "Opportunity Council" was concerned about the Mexican migrant workers.

I am sure that the present group of people do not limit their interest to just one minority. Human relations covers a vast field of helping persons get along with each other regardless of race, creed or color.

Your area is fortunate to have people who are interested in the rights of minorities because in a free society only if the rights of minorities are protected will the rights of the majority be safe.

AFS Student Sends Thanks From Norway

As I am getting settled and re-adjusted to my Norwegian way of life again, thoughts of thanks and appreciation go to all you nice people in Itasca and the surrounding communities. It's so hard for me to find the right words to express this feeling because I feel greatly in debt to you all.

My stay in the United States has enrichened my life in so many ways. I got to know a lot of nice people, I picked up some of the language, and I became acquainted with many other aspects of the American culture. And I discovered what a tremendous lot there is to learn about this great country. Of course, I found things that I did not quite agree with, like I find with many things in Norway. And this is quite natural, as the utopian society has not yet seen the light of day.

IN ADDITION to my knowledge of America, I discovered very much new about my native Norway, aspects that I was never before aware of. And this is essential in international understanding. Only through learning can this understanding be successfully acquired.

I ask that you all nice people—having the above thoughts in mind—will accept my most sincere thanks and appreciation for a year that without your understanding and kind support would never have become a success.

Reporter Accused of Error In PTA-Extremism Article

Reference: "Suburb PTA's Alert to Right-wing Extremists" by Helene Bristol, Roselle Register, Thursday, September 30, 1965.

I am extremely disturbed by statements and opinions attributed to the Roselle PTA and me in the reference article, which resulted from a phone interview with the writer on a Friday night, Sept. 24.

The article contains erroneous information, is misleading as a result of information used out of context, uses both specifics derived from my general statements and generalizations from my specific statements, has drawn inaccurate conclusions, and is on the whole slanted to provide subtle sensationalistic overtones to an otherwise dull interview.

FOLLOWING ARE examples of excerpts from the article compared to the actual context of my conversation with the writer:

(1) "EICHSTEADT, VICE PRESIDENT & PROGRAM CHAIRMAN FOR THE ROSELLE PTA SAID THERE WAS NO PRESSURE TO HAVE ANY SPECIAL PROGRAMS. ."

That implies that the Roselle PTA has not been under pressure to have special programs. Her question was put to me in the first person, i.e., had I had any extremist pressure in the formation of programs, and my answer was that I, personally, had not, and that no one else had indicated to me that he had been approached.

This is simply inaccurate and lazy reporting. (Subsequent investigation indicates the reporter contacted no other member of our PTA Executive Board.)

(2) continuing the above (1) sentence, "ALTHOUGH THERE HAD BEEN A SUGGESTION BY SOME YOUNG REPUBLICANS AS INDIVIDUALS THAT A PARTICULAR SPEAKER ON COMMUNISM BE LISTED FOR A PROGRAM."

Again words have been subtly twisted, used out of context, and as a result hint at association of "Young Republicans" with the extremist theme of the article.

AS A RESULT of the writer's continued interrogation regarding our program as specifically related to the said extremist "infiltration" in the Wheaton PTA, I gave the following comments. I said no such movement was indicated here. I said that, of course, Roselle is a "Strong Conservative Republican Stronghold," and as such there are naturally desires on their part to bring to the people issues that they believe important. As an example, I stated, a reputedly excellent woman speaker, who had spoken on the subject of communism to Republican groups, was suggested by Young Republican members of our Board and were impressed with her ability.

(3) you further state, "EICHSTEADT SAID THIS HAD BEEN TURNED DOWN BECAUSE THE PTA PROGRAM IS THERE TO EDUCATE PEOPLE TOWARD EDUCATION — TO TREAT THE PROBLEMS OF CHILDREN AS THEY RELATE TO EDUCATION."

The actual context of my statement was that the suggestion invoked discussion because some of us felt that it did not specifically relate to this year's program and indirectly touched on politics, which we felt the PTA should avoid. I did not say it was turned down. I specifically stated that there was yet one open program and that the above suggested program had been tabled pending final decision.

I may have indicated my own disfavor for the program but the writer could not have interpreted that as the final decision. Such decisions are made by the Board as a whole.

Contrived sensationatistic reporting as described above is becoming the trademark of your newspaper. It will snowball, as the more we fear what distortion you will give the facts we have to offer, the less facts you will get. As a result your reporting will require even more prodigious imagination to fill the resultant white space.

"Making news" instead of reporting it reflects an incapacity of your staff to communicate intelligently in a straightforward interesting manner.

Students from Abroad Teach Understanding

You did a great service to the area high schools with the Oct. 7 Highlights issue devoted to informing the communities about the many fine foreign students living among us, and attending our schools.

Of particular significance was the reference to the lesson in understanding being brought about in these young lives. These fine young people are taking the important first steps toward eventual understanding of all people. We should be proud of them, and encourage American Field Service in the fine effort this organization is making.

Kids Will Like Own Halloween Party

If it's your turn to have the neighborhood Halloween party this year, you can make it a memorable one for all the little goblins on the guest list.

Begin by making your own invitations. The small fry in your family can help. Trace pumpkin shapes on the paper backing of orange adhesive covering—one for each guest. Peel off the backing, and attach the pumpkins to white note paper. Trim note paper to pumpkin shape and write your invitation on the paper.

FOR THE BIG night itself, make your front door into a giant skull, using white and black adhesive covering. Leave openings for eyes, nose and mouth. If your door has windows, your young guests will be able to peer through the skull into the party before they come in.

The view through the window will be fascinatingly frightening if you make the front hall a chamber of horrors. Cut out pumpkins, ghosts, witches and brooms, moons, and skeletons and skulls in various sizes, using orange and black adhesive covering. Arrange some of these spooky characters on the walls. (They will peel off after the party, leaving no marks.)

Put the rest of the figures back-to-back and hang them from the ceiling, low enough for the children to brush against them. Keep the hall lighting dim for the eerie effect.

ENTERTAIN the hobgoblins with a game of "Stick the Skull on the Skeleton." It's more fun if each one has an adhesive covering skull with his name on it to leave on the skeleton until the last person plays. Award the winner a toy skeleton.

Finish out game time with a treasure hunt around the yard and apple bobbing.

When it's time to feed your spooky gang, lead them blindfolded to a refreshment table. Doughnuts, cider served from a hollowed out pumpkin, and plenty of candy corn and licorice are tempting Halloween fare.

While they're eating, have the guests vote on who has the best, the scariest, and the prettiest costume. Award prizes to winners, but be sure everyone else gets a prize, too.

Browning Meat

Should one brown the meat before covering it with water, covering the cooking utensils and cooking slowly? That depends. If the meat cut is fresh beef brisket, beef cross-cut shanks or one of the fresh meat cuts, it's more flavorful if browned first.

Smoked beef tongue, corned beef brisket and other cured or cured and smoked cuts should simply be covered with water, then covered tightly and cooked slowly until done.

Vitamin-Rich

One cup, 228 grams, of cooked pumpkin provides one and a half times the recommended daily allowance of vitamin A.

Rosemary Thull Is Now Mrs. Laurence Schroeder

New Year's of '65 will be an important date in the lives of newlyweds, Mr. and Mrs. Laurence Schroeder, for the holiday marked the couple's first date. Four months later the pair became engaged and on Sept. 4 they repeated marriage vows in St. Emily's Catholic Church in Mount Prospect.

The bride is the former Rosemary Thull, daughter of the R. E. Thulls, 1101 Westgate Road, Mount Prospect, and the groom is the son of the W. Schroeders, 131 S. Kennicott, Arlington Heights. The couple met two years ago through the bride's best friend, Miss Sandy Schroeder, sister of the groom. Miss Schroeder served as maid of honor during the 10 o'clock nuptial mass which was performed by Fr. Cannon.

Bridesmaids for the wedding were the bride's sister, Miss Kathy Thull, Miss Judy Snyder and Miss Pat O'Neil, all of Mount Prospect. The attendants were in floor-length peau de soie gowns fashioned with scoop necklines and trains and they carried colonial bouquets of orchids and deep blue statice and asters with white carnations in the center.

FLOWER GIRL was the bride's 7-year-old sister, Christine, who was also dressed in aqua and carried a colonial bouquet of the same flowers. The groom's 5-year-old brother, Tommy, was ring bearer.

For her own gown, the bride chose white peau de soie fashioned with a cummerbund of lace and pearls, and with cathedral train. Her bouquet was of white orchids.

Mrs. Thull chose a blue silk jacket dress with corsage of blue flowers, while Mrs. Schroeder chose a gold silk sheath with matching coat. Her corsage also matched her ensemble.

Best man was Richard Vasy of Mount Prospect, and ushers were Don Bloomquist of Mount Prospect and Dick and Gary Brodnan of Arlington Heights, cousins of the groom.

A wedding breakfast was served in Old Orchard Country Club and a reception was held that evening in Arlington Heights VFW Hall.

The bride is a graduate of St. Patrick Academy and the groom of St. George High School. Mary McCaffrey, Bride Of Samuel Puccinelli

Matching gold bands were exchanged by Mary McCaffrey of Palatine and Samuel Puccinelli of Fox River Grove at their 11 a.m. nuptial mass Sept. 4 in St. Theresa Catholic Church, Palatine. The bride is the daughter of Mrs. John J McCaffrey of 156 N. Forest, and the groom's parents are the Renato Puccinellis.

An A-line ivory peau de soie gown was chosen by the bride, and complementing the dress she had a fingertip veil of ivory gathered in a juliet cap headpiece. The bodice of the gown was fashioned of alencon lace over the peau, with a scalloped neckline and short sleeves. A band of lace also trimmed the square-cut train which fell from the back waistline. Roses and stephanotis formed the bride's bouquet.

Rev. James Grace performed the ceremony after the bride's uncle, Joseph Lelakes of Chicago, escorted her to the altar. Her sister, Anne McCaffrey of Balboa Isle, Calif., was maid of honor, and best man was Gino Puccinelli, the groom's brother.

Three bridesmaids also attended her, Barbara Drasga of Palatine, Jerry Danek of Mount Prospect and the groom's sister, Rory Puccinelli. They and the maid of honor were gowned alike in turquoise and aqua floor-length gowns and carried turquoise tinted carnations. Their dresses had a turquoise brocaded bodice and train, and the skirts were of aqua crepe.

ALSO IN THE wedding party were 5-year-old Lynn LaPalermo of Fox River Grove, a cousin of the groom, as flower girl and the bride's cousin, 4-year - old Paul Tietz of Melrose Park, as bearer of the rings.

The flower girl wore an ivory crepe dress trimmed in turquoise and carried an ivory basket of turquoise carnations.

SEATING THE guests were Thomas LaPalermo of Fox River Grove, Thomas Geraghty of Palatine and John Mooney of Watertown, Wis., a Sigma Tau Gamma fraternity brother of the groom.

The two attended St Norbert College in W. DePere, Wis., the groom graduating this year. The bride is a Palatine High School graduate and also of Northwestern University.

FOR THE MORNING ceremony and luncheon immediately afterwards in Golden Acres Country Club, the bride's mother wore a powder blue 2-piece crepe dress and the groom's mother, a green and blue brocade dress. Each wore accessories to match her dress and had a white orchid corsage pinned to her shoulder.

A special guest was the bride's 96-year-old great-aunt, Honor Rice of Chicago.

The bride teaches journalism at Glenbrook North High School, and the groom works for Carson Pirie Scott & Co. in Chicago.

"CARDS FOR SCHOLARS" check is awarded to Linda Hosek by Mrs. Charles Innocentini, treasurer of the Arlington Heights Woman's Club. This year's benefit is slated for the evening of Nov. 10 at Prospect High School. Linda is attending the University of Illinois and is an Arlington High School graduate. Terry Schnur of Forest View and Joanne Basil of Prospect were also recipients of aid from last year's party.

Arlington Club Plans Luncheon Matinee Oct. 27

Arrangements have been completed for members of Arlington Heights Woman's Club to attend a luncheon-matinee at Pheasant Run Playhouse in St. Charles Wednesday, Oct. 27, according to Mrs. Laddie F. Poduska, literature chairman. Luncheon will be served at 1 p.m. and will be followed by a performance of "The Festival" starring Jan Sterling of stage, screen, and television.

The committee for this theatre day includes Mrs. Harry Balch, Mrs. Edward Fritz, Mrs. O. William Gappert, Mrs. Harold L. Lussow, Mrs. Basil Regione and Mrs. Joseph Svoboda. (S

Telephone Workers To Get Pay Boosts

Agreement on wage changes affecting some 11,000 telephone installers, repairmen and other plant department workers was reached Saturday, Oct. 9, by Illinois Bell Telephone and negotiators for System Council T-4, International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers (AFL-CIO).

This agreement represents an average increase of $5.09 a week or 12.7 cents an hour for the entire bargaining unit. Total cost to the company will be $3,710,000 annually, according to O. C. Novak, Roselle Wire Chief.

IN ADDITION, some 60 workers in the Illinois Distributing House in West Chicago will receive further increases as a result of reclassification of their jobs, Novak said.

The bargaining was conducted under wage reopener provisions of a general contract which has another year to run. Changes will become effective Oct. 10 if they are ratified by the union membership by Oct. 24.

Among the general provisions of the agreement are:

1. Basic increases ranging from $3 to $5.50 for each male employee.
2. Starting rates to males were increased by $5.
3. Wages paid to men in 52 towns served by Illinois Bell will be increased further by reclassification of the towns for wage purposes.
4. Basic increases of $3 a week for female clerical employees now at maximum rates.
5. Starting and progression rates increased for female clerical employees by as much as $7.
6. Wages paid to female clerical employees in 11 towns will be increased further as a result of reclassification of the towns.
7. Concurrent with ratification, the company will increase its present contribution to the cost of the basic hospital-medical-surgical plan, as negotiated in 1963. (15 BB

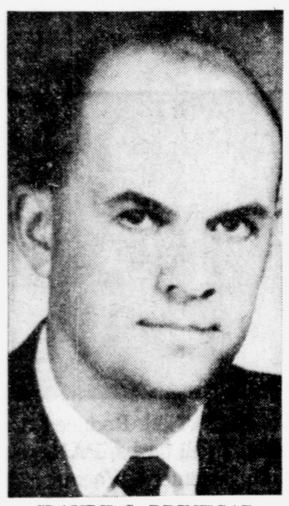
Brinegar Appointed Pure Oil President



CLAUDE S. BRINEGAR

Claude S. Brinegar, vice president of economics and corporate planning for Union Oil Co. of California, has been appointed president of the Pure Oil Co., a division of Union Oil.

Brinegar replaces Robert L. Milligan, who has reached the mandatory retirement age. Milligan has been appointed chairman of the Pure Oil Co. and will continue as a director of Union Oil.

Union Oil completed its merger with Pure Oil on July 16, 1965. Since that date Pure's exploration and production division and several of its subsidiaries have been transferred directly under Union Oil management. The Pure Oil Co. headed by Brinegar will consist of Pure's refining, transportation, marketing and petrochemical operations.

BRINEGAR'S headquarters will be at Pure's home office near Palatine.

Brinegar joined Union in 1953 as an economic analyst. He became manager of the company's economics department in 1961 after serving as a senior research economist. In the latter role he actively participated in Union's oil shale research and demonstration program.

In 1962 his responsibilities were broadened to include corporate planning and in April of this year he was made a vice president.

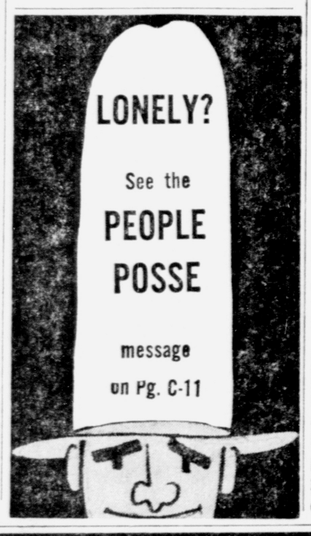
BRINEGAR, NOW 38, was graduated from Stanford in 1954 with a doctorate in economics.

Milligan joined Pure in 1929 as a member of the treasury department staff. He was made assistant secretary - assistant treasurer in 1933 and treasurer in 1947. He was elected vice president in 1949, executive vice president in 1951, and president in 1954. He was elected a director of Pure in 1952 and a director of Union Oil in 1965.

Classes Begin at New Flight School

American Airlines opened a new pilot training school at its facilities at O'Hare International Airport recently.

Capt. H. B. Benninghoff, the airline's Chicago manager of flight, said an estimated 300 future first officers and flight engineers will go through the 12-week training program during the next year.



The school, which will give pilots both company and Federal Aviation Agency ratings, will consist of nine weeks of ground school followed by three weeks of intensive light training. The initial schedule calls for 22 classes.

THE INSTRUCTION at Chicago, which also serves as primary training base for the airline's Convair 990 crews, will be enhanced by recently improved classrooms in American's O'Hare hangar.

Operating in addition to the airline's original flight school in Ft. Worth, Texas, the new program is designed to help fill American's need for additional air crews to augment its program of flight expansion on its routes and new aircraft purchases. (15BB

Palatine Executive Heads for Barcelona

Ronald P. Baptiste, 454 N. McArthur, Palatine, is the Diversey Corp's. man on the go.

Right now he's on the go to Barcelona, Spain, where he's stepping in as president of Diversey-Espanola S. A. — the newest subsidiary to be set up by his firm.

For the affable, tri-lingual Baptiste — he speaks English, Spanish and French — hopping aboard an airplane and jetting halfway around the globe is nothing new. He's done it over, and over and over again for Diversey, beginning back on June 4, 1954, when he joined the company as a technical development engineer through to his last assignment as manager of International Operations.

Sandwiched in between these two positions have been a string of assignments that have carried him as an organizer, trouble-shooter and liaison-man to most of the 35 countries served by Diversey products.

While crossing national borders is as common for Baptiste as crossing streets for some, all his international interests aren't confined to business.

He has still found time to be a director of the International Trade Club in Chicago, and he holds membership in the German-American Chamber of Commerce of Chicago and the British-American Chamber of Commerce of the Midwest.

Baptiste, who was born a Portuguse citizen in Shanghai, is a 1950 graduate of Duke University in Durham, N. C., where he majored in chemistry, mathematics and pre-medical studies. He worked at the Duke Medical Center following graduation, doing research there on renal hypertension until joining Diversey. (10 BB

SELF ANALYSIS QUIZ

How Do You Rate As A Teacher?

By Jane Sherrod Singer

It has generally been acknowledged that teaching is one of the most subtle arts because it is involved with dealing with the intangible mind and soul. It is not, nor cannot be, an exact science, yet research and observation give us some clues as to the characteristics of a good teacher. How would you answer the following questions?

	YES	NO
1. Are you prone to lecture to your classes telling them what is right and what is wrong?	( )	( )
2. Do you maintain high standards of dress and conduct for yourself?	( )	( )
3. Do you enjoy teaching?	( )	( )
4. Are you well-prepared for each class session? (Materials as well as your command of subject matter)	( )	( )
5. Have you devised ways of making your students want to learn?	( )	( )
6. Do you know your students physically, mentally and spiritually?	( )	( )
7. If you cannot answer a question, do you try to bluff your way out of the situation?	( )	( )
8. Do you encourage each child to compete with himself rather than with others?	( )	( )
9. Do you avoid putting a child or children in embarrassing situations?	( )	( )
10. Are your lessons primarily concerned with teaching facts?	( )	( )

DESIRABLE ANSWERS:

1. NO "Telling is not teaching." The truth must be arrived at by the learner through the guidance of the teacher.
2. YES: "Whatever you would have your children become, strive to exhibit in your own lives and conversations." (Lydia Sigourney)
3. YES: It is seldom that we do well what we dislike. If you do not enjoy teaching, try to make your contribution to society in another field of endeavor.
4. YES: "The secret of successful teaching is to teach accurately, thoroughly and earnestly; this will impart interest to instructions and awaken attention to them." (C. Simmons)
5. YES: "Do not train young people to learn by force and harshness; but direct them to it by what bemuses their minds, so that you may be better able to discover with accuracy the particular bent of the genius of each." (Plato) "To awaken interest and kindle enthusiasm is the sure way to teach easily and successfully." (Tyron Edwards)
6. YES: "Be understood in thy teaching, and instruct to the measure of capacity. Precepts and rules are repulsive to a child, but happy illustration wins him." (Tupper)
7. NO: A popular preacher once said, of his pulpit efforts: "I always roar when I have nothing to say." The statement, "I do not know, but let's find out together, works like a charm."
8. YES: When a student himself wishes to improve, half the battle of learning is accomplished.
9. YES: The use of sarcasm and ridicule are the lowest form of discipline and should NEVER be employed.
10. NO: "The aim of education should be to convert the mind into a living fountain, and not a reservoir." (John Mason)

Apartments Designed For Busy Executives

Designed with the busy executive in mind, Forest View Gardens consists of seven two-story apartment buildings in the 7800 block on Nordica Avenue in Niles. Each building houses 16 apartments and rents range from $160 to $205 a month.

Located between Edens and Tri-State Expressways, Forest View Gardens is also accessible to train and bus service and is close to two industrial areas.

DESPITE THE size of the complex of 112 apartments, Forest View Gardens has a suburban atmosphere. The buildings are spaced at least 90 feet apart.

One and two-bedroom apartments are available in the buildings in which the architectural firm of Miles and Perretti have given individuality to each apartment.

Colonial kitchens have wood cabinets lining the wall and built-in appliances allow more working space for the modern housewife.

The living rooms average 15 by 22 feet and each apartment has living space ranging from 1,000 to 1,300 square feet.

ONE AND A half baths are included in the larger apartments, with the baths off the kitchen or bedroom, depending upon the layout of the apartment. Ceramic tile covers the floor and the walls of these bathrooms.

Another feature is that all apartments are air conditioned. Also, off street parking is provided. (15 BB

Aim to Tell Story Of Free Enterprise

For the Brand Names Foundation, the coming year is known as "The Year of Free Competitive Enterprise."

The foundation's goal will be to increase economic understanding.

During the course of the year long promotion, a booklet will be made available explaining the "Free Choice of the Marketplace." It will be offered to customers and employes by manufacturers, banks, utilities and retailers. Special advertising will also be used by all of Chicago's marketing community.

RETAILERS WILL join in major events during the year including Brand Names Week, May 12-22, a Bi-Centennial celebration of free competitive enterprise in January, and "The Week of the Big Choice" next September.

The Chicago celebration is a pilot program to determine whether an all-out communications drive can affect consumer attitudes towards business by correcting important areas of ignorance and misinformation.

ACCORDING TO Albert H. Messer, president of Brand Names Foundation, the city was selected because of its vast size and industrial capacity of over 14,000 manufacturers.

It is also the center of a prosperous consumer marketing area in which about 3,000,000 are employed, and income is 28 per cent greater than the national average. Its geographical position makes it the heartland of America's industrial and agricultural might. (15BB

NATIONAL ASSOCIATION OF REAL ESTATE BOARDS — REALTORS ARE ACTIVE MEMBERS OF CONSTITUENT BOARDS

by Richard H. DeLano, Associate Farm Advisor

ALERT HOMEOWNERS DIAL DAILY 392-3060

The striking colors of autumn should be as vivid as ever in most areas of the county this year. Less fortunate are areas in central New England where the drought robbed trees of moisture. There colors may not be as spectacular this year.

What we need for brilliant autumn display are bright sunny days and moderately cool nights. If however, the days are overcast and rainy the yellows and browns, not the intense reds and purples, will be the dominant colors. Frost has nothing to do with painting fall colors. . . . . in fact, frost can dull autumn foliage.

Other factors, too, affect the fall colors. . . . . for instance, the species of tree. . .or its location. . . even soil condition. Within a species of tree, some individuals are more brilliant than others. Here's a rundown of which Cook County trees produce what colors.

WHEN YOU SEE a brilliant crimson to winey red tree, it's probably a red maple. Bright to brilliant scarlet would belong to the scarlet oak. Red oak produces dark red to russet foliage and Sassafras is orange to scarlet.

The really bright oranges come from one tree. . . the sugar maple. It's the most colorful tree of all, combining orange with clear yellows and rich crimson.

The golden hues could be radiating from the aspen, the tulip tree, the ironwood, or the lesser known yellowwood.

The yellows belong to the ginkos and redbuds—and the birch, which produces a soft, clear yellow.

THE MOUNTAIN ash and white ash add a touch of purple to the landscape and the pin oaks, and hickories give the entire scene a rich, burnished look with their browns and ambers.

All trees and shrubs that mature their wood early can be planted in the fall. This includes oaks and maples. You can plant larch in the fall too. . since it starts growth early in the spring.

The best time to plant is while the soil is still warm. Some new growth will have a chance to start before the weather gets too cold.

The most important thing to remember when planting trees in the fall is to give them plenty of water. It takes a lot of water to be certain you'll get good plant establishment. (15 BB

Furniture Retailer Back from Seminar

Joseph Schneller of Schneller Furniture Co., Arlington Heights has just returned from a manufacturing and merchandising seminar at two of the Ethan Allen American Traditional furniture factories in Vermont.

A small, and select group ot retailers from all over the country made a thorough study of the manufacture of furniture starting with the selection of woods in the forest and going from the sawmill through every stop of the manufacturing process. The seminar dealt with the selection of woods, preparation before machining, finishing processes and quality control.

IN ADDITION Schneller had an opportunity to meet with some of the outstanding retailers in the country to get ideas on display, advertising and services for the consumer.

Schneller, on his return said, "This was one of the most stimulating and helpful trips I have ever made. The ideas will be reflected in our services and displays in the immediate future." (10BB

More TV's Than Tubs, Study Shows

More American families have television sets than have bathtubs or showers.

The latest census found 6.9 million housing units without access to a tub or shower, compared to 6.7 million without a TV set.

Despite this apparent preference for soap opera over soap suds, the standard of housing in the United States is improving, according to Aetna Life Insurance Company, which has $1.5 million invested in private housing.

The company's economists say the long-term increase in building is helping to upgrade housing standards in two ways:

FIRST, IT replaces many substandard buildings. Forty per cent of the 1.5 million housing starts expected in 1965 replaces units lost to renewal projects, commercial expansion, fires, and other factors that frequently affect substandard housing areas. By 1975, Aetna Life predicts 2.3 million housing starts, half of which will replace older buildings.

Second, today's new housing places more emphasis on comfort and convenience than in the past, and usually provides more living space per housing unit than older buildings do. (25BB

Men Outshine Women In 'Desperate Hours'

by JOAN LORENSON
Staff Writer

The Guild Players are keeping their place in the major leagues of northwest suburban community theatre.

"The Desperate Hours" presented Friday and Saturday nights as the group's first production of the season showed good over-all direction and acting.

The melodrama is simple. Three escaped convicts invade the home of a family of four, giving them "desperate hours." The ringleader of the group is plotting revenge against a deputy sheriff responsible for his imprisonment.

Art Blackaller as Glenn Griffin, the convict ringleader, turned in the dominant performance of the evening. New to the Hoffman Estates' group, he has had stock company experience and comes from a "theatre family."

BLACKALLER swaggered and built a credible character of an arrogant, erratic man who loses control when his brother, another convict, rejects him and abandons the trio. In several of his scenes of fury, Blackaller negated some of the impact by sloppy enunciation, but he lived up to the demand of his role.

Dan Hilliard, the husband and father in the hostage family, attracted audience sympathy through Joe McAuliffe's competent acting. His gestures went a long way in showing a common man caught in an uncommon situation. His weakness proved to be overplaying the tense confrontations between the convicts and himself.

HOWARD Risberg's Robish, the stupid convict, was executed with the necessary dull, heavy handed actions. He overcame some of the trite lines that were his. His drunken scene was convincing.

Dan McNally making his debut onstage as Hank Griffin, the ringleader's brother, needs seasoning. However, the playbill noted he had prepared for his role in two weeks. This would indicate he has promise in future plays.

Dennis O'Brien as Chuck Wright, the Hilliard daughter's boy friend, cannot be excused for his woodenness. One wondered what Cindy had seen in this young man.

FEMALES TEND to dominate little theatre, forcing many companies to struggle to find adequate male talent. In this play the two young women proved much weaker than the major actors.

Eleanor Hilliard reacts emotionally to the crisis overtaking her household. Jeanne Fulton failed to convey the emotionalism convincingly. Obviously director Vic Simone had convinced her on the actions necessary to convey alarm, terror and uncertainty, but she didn't seem to make them her own. They did not seem to grow out of the character of an Eleanor Hilliard. In a tender bedroom scene, her voice was almost lost to the audience.

Cindy Hilliard, played by Kathleen McNaughton never caught any spark. Her insolence seemed incongruous for a 20-year-old sophisticate, and her presence on the stage often seemed extraneous. Kathleen, however, is a high school senior with time to acquire better stage presence.

THE DEPUTY sheriff and the FBI agent were adequate in their roles. Bill Koppari as Tom Winston, the deputy sheriff, was far better in the matter of factness of a police officer than he was in emoting anger.

George Cadotte in his first appearance as the FBI agent Harry Carson improved as the play progressed.

John Boehler was the youngest member of the cast and managed the often difficult role of a youngster, Ralphie Hilliard, with adequacy. His most challenging scene was when he was called upon to cry.

THIS IS THE first time the Guild Players have performed on a stage. Lake Park High School's auditorium was a vast improvement over the multi-purpose room the group has used in the past in Roselle's Parkside School.

Unfortunately the set did not live up to its new quarters. It never conveyed the luxurious quality the convicts mentioned. It looked like it had been painted in quick fashion and another coat of paint would not have hurt. The attic of the last scene could have been more effective.

Lighting in several instances was off-cue enough to be noticeable.

SIMONE'S direction showed in the placement of actors in contra-action of characters. The lagging of the initial act was cured in the last two.

The play, none too strong a vehicle, could be improved if the playwright had pared it, but this weakness cannot be attributed to the actors.

The opening night audience reacted appreciatively to the suspense tale and this can be credited to the overall good performance. Any suspense melodrama is competing with the image people have of their favorite television "whodunit."

LESLIE CARON is the war-displaced daughter of a French consular official in the South Sea islands in charge of seven girl students in the Universal romantic adventure "Father Goose." It is co-featured, starting tomorrow (Friday) at the Catlow Theatre with "McHale's Navy Joins the Air Force." (Bill

Officers Named to Guide MOS

Officers have been elected to guide Music on Stage through its 10th year.

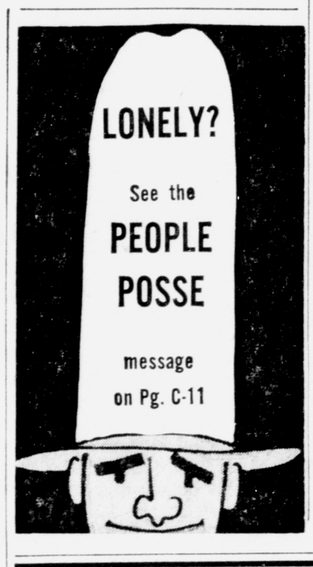
Heading the slate as president is Jack Wassmer of Palatine, with the following persons to assist him: first vice president, Mrs. Ray Dietrich, Prospect Heights; second vice president, Harold Daniels, Des Plaines, secretary, Mrs. Harold Daniels, Des Plaines, and treasurer, Mrs. John Lea, Palatine.

These officers, plus the past president, Henry Vandenboom of Wheeling, constitute the group's board of directors which sets policies.

MOS HAS CHOSEN for its 1966 musical the fast-paced "Wildcat," which Lucille Ball made memorable on the New York stage. It will be presented next April.

MOS invites new members. It encompasses the area bounded on the north by Mundelein, on the south by Elmhurst, on the east by Des Plaines and on the West by Barrington, including most communities in between. Stage workers are needed as well as performers.

The next meeting is next Monday at 8 p.m. in the Civic Center of Mount Prospect Shopping Plaza, Rand and Central Roads.



St. James Group Selects Play Cast

The St. James Theatre Group of Arlington Heights will present "The Man Who Came to Dinner" by Moss Hart and George S. Kaufman Dec. 3, 4 and 5 at Prospect High Little Theatre.

Roy Quid of Arlington Heights will direct. He has had prior experience with three theatre groups and directed last season's production of "Third Best Sport" which received a favorable review in Paddock's Billboard section.

The group also has engaged the services of Edward Sauer of Park Ridge as a professional consultant. Sauer, with an extensive background in both professional and amateur theatre, is currently a director for the Des Plaines Theatre Guild and casting director and vice president of Twilight Ridge Playhouse in Crystal Lake.

THERE ARE 37 in the unusually large cast, and a partial listing follows:

Dr. Richard Treanor plays Sheridan Whiteside, recreating the role made famous by Monty Woolley. Shirley Walters plays the secretary Maggie Cutler; Frank Kirchberg is Dr. Bradley; Cliff Harmon is Bert Jefferson, the reporter.

Barbara Kurp plays Lorraine Sheldon, the movie star; John Kavanagh is Beverly Carlton, the writer, Tom Ptak is Richard Stanley, and Karen Dailey plays his sister June. Their mother and father in the play are Pat Wells and Charley Willwerth.

RAY SCHMEISER plays "Banjo"; the nurse is Rosemary Splitt; the two servants are Roger Alm and Angie Kessinger. The mysterious Harriet is played by Evelyn Guttenberger; Jim Kelly plays Westcott; Ronnie Kavanagh is cast as Mrs. Dexter, Barbara Willwerth is Michaelson, the butcher shop murderess; Thad Ostrowski is the expressman, and Carlos Thut is Professor Metz.

This is the fourth production for this young theatre group. Quid considers the play the group's most challenging effort to date. For information on the play, call Roy Quid, CL 3-3905.

The reason: roles like Mei Li, Dr. Lu Fong, Wang Chi-Yang, Liu Ma.

The BOB production is "Flower Drum Song," and it is slated for the stage of the Barrington High School auditorium Nov. 19 and 20 and 26 and 27.

In the cast of 40-plus ersatz Chinese will be redheads from Rolling Meadows, blondes from Barrington, platinums from Mount Prospect, auburns from Arlington Heights and the make-up magic of BOB.

In this sparkling Rodgers and Hammerstein musical set in San Francisco's Chinatown, the authors have sharply divided the Chinese cast into three groups: Those with old country culture, those possessing a fine blend of both old and new customs, and the strictly Americanized version. The latter group stars Marge Collins, 432 S. Stuart, Palatine, and Ted Weiss, 435 Birchwood, Elk Grove Village.

MRS. COLLINS, as Linda Low, will add more continental flair to previous leads of Nellie Forbush, the Arkansas nurse of "South Pacific," and Ninotchka, the Russian lovely of "Silk Stockings." Mrs. Collins will portray the Pat Suzuki role which features the musical hit "I Enjoy Being a Girl," the lilting "Sunday," and the raucous "Grant Avenue."

Ted Weiss, as Sammy Fong, adds this lead to his list of feature roles in "Kiss Me Kate" (First Gunman), "Guys and Dolls" (Rusty Charlie) and "Wonderful Town" (The Guide). As wheeler-dealer Sammy, Weiss sings "Don't Marry me" and joins Mrs. Collins in the duet, "Sunday."

The lively singing and dancing chorus includes many residents of Paddockland. From Arlington Heights are Carmela Gabl, 1421 Maude; Beckey Sue Hackbarth, 218 S. Illinois; Jeanette Kapus, 115 N. Horner; Kathleen Landwehr, 417 W. Campbell; Phyllis Locker, 2225 Champlain, and Charmaine Sayre, 610 S. Kaspar.

MOUNT PROSPECT participants include Helen Buck, 1611 Greenwood; Steven Buck, 918 Ironwood Place; William Cody, 625 Oriole Lane; Connie Lewis, 103 Can-Dota; Peter Piper, 1205 Greenwood; Judith Rozhon, 207 N. Elmhurst; Jim Scott, 615 S. Can-Dota; Darrel Shaw, 1716 Basswood; Jeanette Tomiello, 403 S. Main, and Jeanna Tucker, 1006 Wheeling Road.

Completing the roster are Venus Miller, 401 N. Tomah, Prospect Heights; Betty Jane Martin, 78 Kendal, Elk Grove Village; Carole Vassmer, 133 Mohawk, Hoffman Estates; Katie Lauing, 209 Forest, and Jerry Padon, 19W755 Devon, both of Itasca; Carole Lemke, 519 S. Milwaukee, Wheeling; Carol Siers, 2005 W. Grove, Rolling Meadows, and Vera Karst, 132 S. Ashland, and Harry Brown, 354 Lytle, both of Palatine.

MUSICAL DIRECTOR for "Flower Drum Song" is John Shaw, 1716 Basswood, Mount Prospect. Shaw, who teaches music in the schools of Wheeling, previously directed the music for "Guys and Dolls," "Oklahoma" and "Kiss Me Kate" for the BOB Players.

Ticket reservations for "Flower Drum Song" may be placed with Lynn Jessen, 392-3190.

TED WEISS OF Elk Grove Village and Marge Collins of Palatine will play leading roles in the forthcoming Best-Off-Broadway musical, "Flower Drum Song." Weiss will enact the role of Sammy Fong, and Mrs. Collins is cast as Linda Low in the Rodgers and Hammerstein musical set in San Francisco's Chinatown.

Symphony Club Will Sponsor Music Contest

For the second consecutive year, the Women's Committee of the Chicago Symphony Orchestra will sponsor a competition for student soloists, composers and conductors.

Winners will be presented with the orchestra at the youth concerts of Nov. 23, 30 and Dec. 7, and Jan. 18, 25 and Feb. 1.

Auditions will be held on Friday, Nov. 12, at Orchestra Hall. Application forms are available through the symphony office, 220 S. Michigan (phone 427-0362). Solo contestants will be asked to perform at least one movement of a standard concerto. They will supply their own scores and accompanists.

Any student still under 17 by January, 1966, is eligible to enter the contest. Winners will be chosen by a panel of noted Chicago musicians. (Bill

Two Sacred Music Concerts Scheduled

An Orchestra Hall evening concert and a Sunday afternoon chorale concert will be two of the principal events of the 1965 Lutheran Fine Arts Festival scheduled for the week of Oct. 31 through Nov. 7 and sponsored by St. Paul Lutheran Church of Mount Prospect, and the more than 550 Lutheran congregations in the Chicagoland area.

The Orchestra Hall concert will feature a choir of outstanding voices selected from throughout the Chicagoland area, supported by a full orchestra made up of Chicago Symphony members and led by Prof. Victor Hildner of Concordia Teachers College, River Forest. It is scheduled for Tuesday, Nov. 2, at 8:15 p.m.

The final event of the festival week will be the chorale concert at the Lutheran Church of Saint Luke, 1500 W. Belmont Ave., Chicago, Sunday, Nov. 7, at 3:30 p.m. It will feature the children's choir of Saint Luke and the adult choir of the Church of the Ascension, Northfield, with organ and instrumental accompaniment. Grigg Fountain, professor of organ at Northwestern University and director of music at the Alice S. Millar Memorial Chapel on the Northwestern campus, will conduct.

PETER O'TOOLE as Lord Jim battles jungle raiders in "Lord Jim," a film by Richard Brooks based on the Joseph Conrad novel. It will start tomorrow (Friday) at the Mount Prospect Cinema. On the same bill is "Joy in the Morning," with Richard Chamberlain and Yvette Mimieux. Both features are in color.

Lyric Chapter to Hear Two Operas

Northwest Chapter of Lyric Opera will review at a meeting today (Thursday) two operas being billed together for the first time during this season of the Lyric Opera in Chicago. Ravel's "L'Heure Espagnole" and Orff's "Carmina Burana."

The program will begin at 1:15 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Spencer Moseley on West County Line Road in Barrington. Mrs. Stanley Gross and Mrs. F. Wyley Orr are co-hostesses.

Mimi Sutton and Winifred Nelson, both of whom are charter members of the local chapter, will present the operalogue. Mrs. Sutton, the narrator, is educational and special events chairman for the chapter.

MRS. NELSON IS one of the performing artists in the organization, who is best remembered for her role as Mimi in "La Boheme." She did her graduate work at Northwestern University Opera Workshop.

Helen Shockley, who has transcribed the operatic music for the piano many times for previous productions, will be the pianist.

"Carmina Burana" was first performed in 1937, and unlike most operas, it is based on a collection of medieval poems which were preserved on a manuscript in a Bavarian monastary and brought to light in the early nineteenth century. The authorship is attributed to the goliards, who were traveling scholars and as famous for their riotous living as for their erudition.

RAVEL'S "L'HEURE Espagnole" is also a relatively new opera and one of the few which can be considered as an opera buffa. It is based on the humorous situation which arises out of the confusion created when a young woman finds it necessary to hide her suitors in several clocks. (Bill

KNITTERS

We will have the beautiful Norcraft Scandinavian sweaters and the Spinnerin collection on dsplay through Saturday. If you haven't been in yet we think you'll enjoy dropping in—having a cup of coffee—and seeing such pretty finished garments.
Don't think for a minute, though, that all the handsome knits come from the yarn companies. A "young married" woman brought in her almost finished suit of Mohair boucle'. It was gorgeous. She'd used the watermelon shade, lined the jacket with pink material with watermelon dots. The companies send us nothing prettier.
While in—look at the three types of rugs you can make. Rya-hooked (with the egg-beater) and latch hook.
We also have some brand new pieces of needlepoint from Denmark. They've not been imported before. They're a "First."
